The Eiffel Tower A Centenary Celebration:

Murder on the Eiffel Tower Claude Izner, 2008-09-02 The brand new shiny Eiffel Tower is the pride and glory of the 1889 World Exposition But one sunny afternoon as visitors are crowding the viewing platforms a woman collapses and dies on this great Paris landmark Can a bee sting really be the cause of death Or is there a more sinister explanation Enter young bookseller Victor Legris Present on the tower at the time of the incident and appalled by the media coverage of the occurrence he is determined to find out what actually happened In this dazzling evocation of late nineteenth century Paris we follow Victor as his investigation takes him all over the city and he suspects an ever changing list of possible perpetrators Could mysterious Kenji Mori his surrogate father and business partner at the bookstore Legris operates be involved in the crime Why are beautiful Russian illustrator Tasha and her colleagues at the newly launched sensationalist newspaper Passepartout always up to date in their reporting And what will Legris do when the deaths begin to multiply and he is caught in a race against time Commemorating Muslims in the First World War Centenary Meghan Tinsley, 2021-11-22 Commemorating Muslims in the First World War Centenary engages with the explosion of public commemorations in Britain and France in the wake of the First World War centenary alongside the hyper visibility of British and French Muslims in political and popular discourse Bringing these two phenomena together it draws on national commemorations of the First World War centenary in Britain and France alongside eleven local field sites that foregrounded Muslims to make sense of how national memory changes when it seeks to include a previously excluded group Through an identification of three distinct narratives which correspond to three ways of situating Muslims in relation to the nation mourning mobilisation and melancholia it intervenes in debates surrounding memory nationhood and belonging to make sense of the centenary as an extended exercise in nation building at a moment when the borders of British and French national identity were openly and violently contested With particular attention to sites of melancholia the author shows how certain sites disrupt national memory and refrain from producing any cohesive narrative to repair that which has been fractured An exploration of the ways in which commemoration pushes nations to grapple with their past and present without prescribing any tidy solution this book will appeal to scholars of sociology and anthropology with interests in memory studies nationalism and postcolonial studies Constantine's Sword James Carroll, 2002 The author once a Catholic priest maps the profoundly troubling two thousand year course of the Church's battle against Judaism Jacket The Encyclopedia of the Industrial Revolution in World History Kenneth E.
