Sequel to Suburbia Nicholas A. Phelps, 2015-11-20 How the decentralized automobile oriented and fuel consuming model of American suburban development might change In the years after World War II a distinctly American model for suburban development emerged The expansive rings of outer suburbs that formed around major cities were decentralized and automobile oriented an embodiment of America's postwar mass production mass consumption economy But alternate models for suburbia including transit oriented development smart growth and New Urbanism have inspired critiques of suburbanization and experiments in post suburban ways of living In Sequel to Suburbia Nicholas Phelps considers the possible post suburban future offering historical and theoretical context as well as case studies of transforming communities Phelps first locates these outer suburban rings within wider metropolitan spaces describes the suburbs as a spatial fix for the postwar capitalist economy and examines the political and governmental obstacles to reworking suburban space He then presents three glimpses of post suburban America looking at Kendall Dadeland in Miami Dade County Florida Tysons Corner in Fairfax County Virginia and Schaumburg Illinois near Chicago He shows Kendall Dadeland to be an isolated New Urbanism success describes the re planning of Tysons Corner to include a retrofitted central downtown area and examines Schaumburg's position as a regional capital for Chicago's northwest suburbs As these cases show the reworking of suburban space and the accompanying political process will not be left to a small group of architects planners and politicians Post suburban politics will have to command the approval of the residents of suburbia

Prodigals and Pilgrims Jay Fliegelman, 1982 The author traces a constellation of intimately related ideas about the nature of parental authority and filial rights of moral obligation of Scripture of the growth of the mind and the nature of historical progress from their most important English and continental expressions in a variety of literary and theological texts to their transmission reception and application in Revolutionary America and in the early national period of American culture with crucial questions about representations of healthcare systems both formal and informal in children's media. The volume focuses on systems of healthcare rather than individual narratives of illness. It examines how children are socialized into knowledge about healthcare. Essays explore critiques of existing systems embedded in children's literature, analyze how children's books might be used for health literacy education, and examine children's film and television for visions of alternative systems and solutions to ethical dilemmas. Contributors in Healthcare in Children's Media draw upon interdisciplinary approaches including disability studies, gender studies, public health, bibliotherapy, and posthumanism. Essays examine care systems in the US, the UK, Germany, India, and Iran, and also offer a breadth of historical perspective ranging from the turn of the twentieth century through our present times and into projections of future bioethical and posthuman dilemmas. This volume adds fresh works to archives of health literacy books with analytic perspectives on race and disability that medical writers might not consider.

Healthcare in Children's Media Naomi Lesley, Sarah Layzell, 2025-04-21 Contributions by Anna Bugajska Dayna Campbell Dallas Ducar Sudeshna Shome Ghosh Melanie Goss Joseph Holloway Jeremy Johnston Manjushri Karthikeyan Jenise Katalina Sarah Layzell Naomi Lesley Anna Macdonald Vanessa E Mart nez Renuncio Nichole Mayweather Banks Madison Miner Dawn Sardella Ayres Farriba Schulz Carrie Spencer Antje Tannen Valerie A Ubbes and B J Woodstein Healthcare in Children's Media edited by Naomi Lesley and Sarah Layzell is a collection of essays and interviews from scholars activists and practitioners grappling

African Identities Kadiatu Kanneh, 2002-01-04. This fascinating and well researched study explores the meaning generated by Africa and Blackness throughout the century. Using literary texts, autobiography, ethnography, and historical documents, African Identities discusses how ideas of Africa as an origin, as a cultural whole, or as a complicated political problematic emerge as signifiers for analysis of modernity, nationhood, and racial difference. Kanneh provides detailed readings of a range of literary texts, including novels by Toni Morrison, Alice Walker, Gloria Naylor, Ngugi Wa Thiong'o, Chinua Achebe, and V.S. Naipaul. For anyone interested in literature, history, anthropology, political writing, feminist, or cultural analysis, this book opens up new areas of thought across disciplines.
