The Animal Contract Desmond Morris, 1994

The Animal Contract International Society for Anthrozoology. Symposium, 1996 Ecocriticism, Ecology, and the Cultures of Antiquity Christopher Schliephake, 2016-12-07 Although current environmental debates lay the focus on the Industrial Revolution as a sociopolitical development that has led to the current environmental crisis many ecocritical projects have avoided historicizing their concepts or have been characterized by approaches that were either pre historic or post historic while the environmental movement has harbored the dream of restoring nature to a state untouched by human hands there is also the pessimistic vision of a post apocalyptic world exhausted by humanity's consumption of natural resources Against this background the decline of nature has become a narrative template quite common among the public environmental discourse and environmental scientists alike The volume revisits Antiquity as an epoch which witnessed similar environmental problems and came up with its own interpretations and solutions in dealing with them This decidedly historical perspective is not only supposed to fill in a blank in ecocritical discourse but also to question problematize and inform our contemporary debates with a completely different take on nature and humanity's place in the world Thereby a productive dialogue between contemporary ecocritical theories and the classical tradition is established that highlights similarities as well as differences This volume is the first book to bring ecocriticism and the classical tradition into a comprehensive dialogue It assembles recognized experts in the field and advanced scholars as well as young and aspiring ecocritics In order to ensure a dialogic exchange between the contributions the volume includes four response essays by established ecocritics which embed the sections within a larger theoretical and practical ecocritical framework and discuss the potential of including the pre modern world into our environmental debates The Animal Catalyst Patricia MacCormack, 2014-06-19 The Animal Catalyst deals with the question of what is an animal and also in some instances what is a human It pushes critical animal studies in important new directions it re examines basic assumptions suggests new paradigms for how we can live and function ecologically in a world that is not simply ours It argues that it is not enough to recognise the ethical demands placed upon us by our encounters with animals or to critique our often murderous treatment of them this simply reinforces human exceptionalism Featuring contributions from leading academics lawyers artists and activists the book examines key issues such as How compassion for animals reinforces ideas of what distinguishes human beings from other animals How speciesism and human centrality are built into the legal system How individualist subjectivity works in relation to animals who may not think of themselves in the same way How any consideration of animal others must involve a radical deconstruction of our very notion of the human How art philosophy and literature can both avoid speciesism and deliver the human from subjectivity This volume is a unique project which stands at the cutting edge of both animal rights philosophies and posthuman artistic abstract philosophies of identity It will be of great interest to undergraduates and of Contract and of Agency in Its Relation to Contract Sir William Reynell Anson, Maurice Linford Gwyer, 1923 The Animal Kingdom: The Mollusca and Radiata Georges baron Cuvier, Edward Griffith, Charles Hamilton Smith, Edward Pidgeon, John Edward Gray, George Robert Gray, 1834 The Animal Kingdom Arranged in Conformity with Its Organization Georges baron Cuvier, 1831 Animals as specific objects of obligations under Polish and German law Małgorzata Lubelska-Sazanów, 2021-01-18

Defining where the needs of contracting parties end and where the mistreatment of animals begins is especially difficult in contract law where protecting animals is not a basic premise. Thus although animal law is a widely discussed topic the position of animals under civil law has not been discussed comprehensively before. The first chapters of the book set the background for subsequent civil law considerations given that the object of a contractual obligation is an animal and the impact this has on the conclusion performance and consequences of non performance of a contract. It constitutes a unique interdisciplinary and comparative work focused mainly on animals in contractual relations e.g. sale donation lease tenancy commission agency safe keeping training contracts.

Animal Control Management Stephen Aronson, 2010. This book is the first of its kind to discuss in detail the actual management of local animal control programs as opposed to the care of the animals. It covers financial personnel legal health and safety issues that animal control directors and management staff need to know in providing direction and oversight of animal control programs. Chapters examine selected topics in which the author assesses strengths and weaknesses and offers new insights and strategies for more effective management. For example the two chapters on contracting discuss the steps in the process strategies and suggested provisions in the written agreement to make the program more effective. The animal law chapters explain the basis for the laws and highlight those provisions that if enacted into law can strengthen enforcement options. In addition the author discusses and assesses interacting with the public and the media liability issues wildlife problems and the politics of animal control.
