Epstein,2023-07-18 In this brief but highly engaging book Joseph Epstein argues for the primacy of fiction and specifically of the novel among all intellectual endeavors that seek to describe the behavior of human beings Reading superior fiction he holds arouses the mind in a way that nothing else quite does He shows how the novel at its best operates above the level of ideas in favor of taking up the truths of the heart No other form probes so deeply into that eternal mystery of mysteries human nature than does the novel Along the way Epstein recounts how we read fiction differently than much else we read He sets out how memory works differently in the reading of fiction than in that of other works He notes that certain novels are best read at certain ages and suggests that novels like movies might do well to carry ratings with some novels best read no later than one s early twenties others not to be read before the age of forty The knowledge one acquires from reading novels differs from all other kinds of knowledge for the subject of all superior fiction is human existence itself in all its variousness and often humbling confusion The spirit of the novel entails questioning much that others consider home truths This is demonstrated by the fact that so many important philosophers social scientists jurists and other intellectuals have been devoted readers of fiction among them Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr Michael Oakeshott Edward Shils and Clifford Geertz The Novel Who Needs It takes up those current elements in the culture that militate against the production of first rate fiction Prominent among them are the rise of online reading the expansion of creative writing programs the artistically discouraging effects of political correctness and the pervasiveness of therapeutic thinking throughout contemporary culture As for the title The Novel Who Needs It Joseph Epstein s answer is that we all do Advanced Writing Wells Earl Draughon,2003 Reader and audience appeal global constraints large scale desiderata dynamics consummation scenes characters relationships structure embodiment voice the line level Developing and testing a theory of writing Discusses such topics as originality credibility contrivance crudeness monotony repetition Story appeal story impact Threat hope need to know tension and pace Character realization character identification character appeal repellant characters character change character and dynamics a group as a character The reality of relationships the identity of relationships the appeal of relationships relationships and dynamics Architecture design types of structure sequential structuring story steps the set up openings endings Embodiment scene appeal scene impact Micro dynamics Point of view Voice Showing telling and doing Setting Titles Comedy Structure, Evidence, and Heuristic Armin W. Schulz,2020-04-22 This book is the first systematic treatment of the philosophy of science underlying evolutionary economics It does not advocate an evolutionary approach towards economics but rather assesses the epistemic value of appealing to evolutionary biology in economics more generally The author divides work in evolutionary economics into three distinct albeit related forms a structural form an evidential form and a heuristic form He then analyzes five examples of work in evolutionary economics falling under these three forms For the structural form he examines the parallelism between natural selection and economic decision making and the parallelism between natural selection and market competition For the evidential form he looks at the relationship between animal and human economic decision making and the evolutionary explanation of diversity in human economic decision making Finally for the heuristic form he focuses on the plausibility of equilibrium modeling in evolutionary ecology and economics In this way he shows that linking evolutionary biology and economics can make for a powerful methodological tool that can enable progress in our understanding of various economics questions Structure Evidence and Heuristic will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in philosophy of science philosophy of social science evolutionary biology and economics

The Technological Unconscious in German Modernist Literature Larson Powell, 2008 Even after the end of modernism and postmodernism the grandiose fantasies of artifice and self reference that have informed so much modernist literature still resonate in the social constructivism of current literary and cultural theory in the idea that we can perform or construct identities or social roles without external constraint as if we had consumer choice of self Larson Powell's book posits nature as a limit to such fantasies redefining aesthetic modernity's conception of and relation to nature and therefore its relation to reality He shows how nature no longer the idealized maternally coded Utopia of the Romantics becomes the trace of specific political sexual and technological traumas The book's four chapters center on the representation of nature in German prose and especially poetry by Rainer Maria Rilke Gottfried Benn Bertolt Brecht and Alfred Döblin from the years 1900 to 1945 while making reference to other literatures as well Powell's term the Technological Unconscious refers to a point of intersection between psychoanalysis and social and scientific theories of modernism and also to the philosophical mediation between history and nature a motif important from Kant to Adorno Powell critiques the tendency toward jargon of an often merely rhetorical theory while continuing to develop the philosophical and conceptual inheritance of Continental traditions He analyzes in connection with the works treated the conceptions of subject and system in the theories of Adorno Luhmann and Lacan and their relation to their complement nature The Technological Unconscious is thus an important polemical intervention both in the debates over interdisciplinarity and in those between eclectic culturalist theories such as New Historicism and postcolonialism on the one hand and systems theory and psychoanalysis on the other Book Jacket

The Lesbian History Sourcebook Alison Oram, Annmarie Turnbull, 2013-10-18 This groundbreaking critical anthology gathers together a wide range of primary source material on lesbian lives in the past The material here is drawn from a diverse range of sources including court records newspaper reports literary sources writings on lesbianism from psychologists doctors anthropologists as well as personal letters and journals The sources are arranged into thematic chapters covering topics such as archetypes of lesbians cross dressing women and romantic friends the making of lesbianism in culture professional discourse on lesbians public perceptions of lesbianism and women's own experiences This book will be a milestone in the publishing of lesbian history and is set to provoke the impetus for fresh research Kundera and Modernity Liisa Steinby, 2013-02-28 While a large amount of scholarship about Milan Kundera's work exists in Liisa Steinby's opinion his work has not been studied within the context of European modernity as a sociohistorical and a cultural concept

Of course he is considered to be a modernist writer some call him even a postmodernist but what the broader concept of modernity intellectually historically socially and culturally means for him and how this is expressed in his texts has not been thoroughly examined Steinby's book fills this vacuum by analyzing Kundera's novels from the viewpoint of his understanding of the existential problems in the culture of modernity In addition his relation to those modernist novelists from the first half of the twentieth century who are most important for him is scrutinized in detail Steinby's Kundera and Modernity is intended for students of modernism in literary and comparative cultural studies as well as those interested in European and Central European studies

Mystery fiction and modern life, The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-09-05 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume's 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others

Reading Still Matters Catherine Sheldrick Ross, Lynne (E.F.) McKechnie, Paulette M. Rothbauer, 2018-03-01 Drawing on scholarly research findings this book presents a cogent case that librarians can use to work towards prioritization of reading in libraries and in schools Reading is more important than it has ever been recent research on reading such as PEW reports and Scholastic's Kids and Family Reading Report proves that fact This new edition of Reading Matters provides powerful evidence that can be used to justify the establishment maintenance and growth of pleasure reading collections both fiction and nonfiction and of readers advisory services The authors assert that reading should be woven into the majority of library activities reference collection building provision of leisure materials readers advisory services storytelling and story time programs adult literacy programs and more This edition also addresses emergent areas of interest such as e reading e writing and e publishing multiple literacies visual texts the ascendancy of young adult fiction and fan fiction A new chapter addresses special communities of YA readers The book will help library administrators and personnel convey the importance of reading to grant funding agencies stakeholders and the public at large LIS faculty who wish to establish and maintain courses in readers advisory will find it of particular interest
