The Bible in Arabic Sidney H. Griffith, 2015-10-27 From the first centuries of Islam to well into the Middle Ages Jews and Christians produced hundreds of manuscripts containing portions of the Bible in Arabic Until recently however these translations remained largely neglected by Biblical scholars and historians In telling the story of the Bible in Arabic this book casts light on a crucial transition in the cultural and religious life of Jews and Christians in Arabic speaking lands In pre Islamic times Jewish and Christian scriptures circulated orally in the Arabic speaking milieu After the rise of Islam and the Qur'an's appearance as a scripture in its own right Jews and Christians translated the Hebrew Bible and the Greek New Testament into Arabic for their own use and as a response to the Qur'an's retelling of Biblical narratives From the ninth century onward a steady stream of Jewish and Christian translations of the Hebrew Bible and New Testament crossed communal borders to influence the Islamic world The Bible in Arabic offers a new frame of reference for the pivotal place of Arabic Bible translations in the religious and cultural interactions between Jews Christians and Muslims

The Coptic Martyrdom of John of Phanijoit Jason R. Zaborowski, 2004-11-01 This study applies sociological and philological analysis to the extraordinary thirteenth century Coptic Martyrdom of John of Phanijoit Zaborowski's research explains the identity shaping function behind this text's portrayal of an Egyptian Christian's conversion to Islam and subsequent struggle to publicly reconvert to Christianity The heart of this book is its edition and facing English translation of the only extant manuscript of the martyrdom Interpretive chapters include 1 a sociological inquiry into the narrative's depiction of Muslims 2 a philological analysis of the Coptic language of the manuscript and 3 an historical contextualization of the manuscript within the wider conflict between the Ayyubids and Western Crusaders This book makes John of Phanijoit accessible to all scholars interested in the sociology of conversion offering new evidence for understanding Christian Muslim relations in Medieval Egypt

Conversion to Islam in the Premodern Age Nimrod Hurvitz, Christian C. Sahner, Uriel Simonsohn, Luke Yarbrough, 2020-12-15 Conversion to Islam is a phenomenon of immense significance in human history At the outset of Islamic rule in the seventh century Muslims constituted a tiny minority in most areas under their control But by the beginning of the modern period they formed the majority in most territories from North Africa to Southeast Asia Across such diverse lands peoples and time periods conversion was a complex varied phenomenon Converts lived in a world of overlapping and competing religious cultural social and familial affiliations and the effects of turning to Islam played out in every aspect of life Conversion therefore provides a critical lens for world history magnifying the constantly evolving array of beliefs practices and outlooks that constitute Islam around the globe This groundbreaking collection of texts translated from sources in a dozen languages from the seventh to the eighteenth centuries presents the historical process of conversion to Islam in all its variety and unruly detail through the eyes of both Muslim and non Muslim observers The Facts on File Companion to the World Novel Michael Sollars,Arbolina Llamas Jennings,2008 The Mediterranean Question Iain Chambers,Marta Cariello,2025-09-04 Whose Mediterranean are we talking about What languages are most appropriate to its reception and understanding With two thirds constituted by the histories and cultures of its African and Asian shorelines and hinterlands and its principal spoken language in all its variants and dialects being Arabic then the Mediterranean clearly exceeds the Western frame of explanation Without pretending to speak for or in the name of these ignored and repressed dimensions The Mediterranean Question explores the gap between the Mediterranean reduced to a European and Western mirror by listening and attending to some of those other histories cultures and lives How to puncture prevalent European understandings of the Mediterranean The colonizing impulse inscribed in Western historiography cannot be undone simply by adding previously repressed and unacknowledged histories Instead a re examination of the premises and procedures that produced such exclusions leads to a valuable change in coordinates An order of knowledge that creates subaltern objects of study to reconfirm European centrality and subjectivity is interrogated Insisting on a politics of registration and listening further critical incentives drawn from the trans local dissemination of literature music cinema and the visual arts can be deployed to query existing representations In this more ragged and open series of maps there lies no complete picture but rather a challenge to the violence of existing explanations Insisting that present day knowledge is sustained in asymmetrical relations of power The Mediterranean Question promotes a reconfiguration of historical archives and cultural ties casting a critical light on the deeper histories that have made the Mediterranean Europe and Western modernity Proposing a series of intersecting analyses that underline the colonial constitution of the present and its mobile and creolized formation Chambers and Cariello seek to establish new coordinates for thinking and practicing the possibilities of another Mediterranean

Seeing Islam as Others Saw It: A Survey and Evaluation of Christian, Jewish and Zoroastrian Writings on Early Islam Robert G. Hoyland,2014-01-10 This book offers a new approach to the vexing question of how to write the early history of Islam The first part discusses the nature of the Muslim and non Muslim source material for the seventh and eighth century Middle East and argues that by lessening the divide between these two traditions which has largely been erected by modern scholarship we can come to a better appreciation of this crucial period The second part gives a detailed survey of sources and an analysis of some 120 non Muslim texts all of which provide information about the first century and a half of Islam roughly A D 620 780 The third part furnishes examples according to the approach suggested in the first part and with the material presented in the second part how one might write the history of this time The fourth part takes the form of excurses on various topics such as the process of Islamization the phenomenon of conversion to Islam the development of techniques for determining the direction of prayer and the conquest of Egypt Because this work views Islamic history with the aid of non Muslim texts and assesses the latter in the light of Muslim writings it will be essential reading for historians of Islam Christianity Judaism or Zoroastrianism indeed for all those with an interest in cultures of the eastern Mediterranean in its traditional phase from Late Antiquity to medieval times Native Tongue, Stranger Talk Michelle Hartman, 2014-06-30 Can a reality lived in Arabic be expressed in French Can a French language literary work speak Arabic In Native Tongue Stranger Talk Hartman shows how Lebanese women authors use spoken Arabic to disrupt literary French with sometimes surprising results Challenging the common claim that these writers express a Francophile or colonized consciousness this book demonstrates how Lebanese women writers actively question the political and cultural meaning of writing in French in Lebanon Hartman argues that their innovative language inscribes messages about society into their novels by disrupting class status hierarchies narrow ethno religious identities and rigid gender roles Because the languages of these texts reflect the crucial issues of their times Native Tongue Stranger Talk guides the reader through three key periods of Lebanese history the French Mandate and Early Independence the Civil War and the postwar period Three novels are discussed in each time period exposing the contours of how the authors write Arabic in French to invent new literary languages Critically Mediterranean yasser elhariry, Edwige Tamalet Talbayev, 2018-03-06 Traversed by masses of migrants and wracked by environmental and economic change the Mediterranean has come to connote crisis In this context Critically Mediterranean asks how the theories and methodologies of Mediterranean studies may be brought to bear upon the modern and contemporary periods Contributors explore how the Mediterranean informs philosophy phenomenology the poetics of time and space and literary theory Ranging from some of the earliest twentieth century material on the Mediterranean to Edmond Amran El Maleh Christoforos Savva Orhan Pamuk and Etel Adnan the essays ask how modern and contemporary Mediterraneans may be deployed in political cultural artistic and literary practice The critical Mediterranean that emerges is plural and performative a medium through which subjects may negotiate imagined relations with the world around them Vibrant and deeply interdisciplinary Critically Mediterranean offers timely interventions for a sea in crisis The Serpent and the Fire Jerome Rothenberg, Javier Taboada, 2024 Jerome Rothenberg's final anthology an experiment in omnipoetics with Javier Taboada reaches into the deepest origins of the Americas north and south to redefine America and its poetries The Serpent and the Fire breaks out of deeply entrenched models that limit American literature to work written in English within the present boundaries of the United States Editors Jerome Rothenberg and Javier Taboada gather vital pieces from all parts of the Western Hemisphere and the breadth of European and Indigenous languages within a unique range of cultures and languages going back several millennia an experiment in what the editors call an American omnipoetics The Serpent and the Fire is divided into four chronological sections from early pre Columbian times to the immediately contemporary and five thematic sections that move freely across languages and shifting geographical boundaries to underscore the complexities conflicts contradictions and continuities of the poetry of the Americas The book also boasts contextualizing commentaries to connect the poets and poems in dialogue across time and space
