Hinote,2013-05-15 In 1983 anthropologist Richard Pace began his fieldwork in the Amazonian community of Gurup one year after the first few television sets arrived On a nightly basis as the community s electricity was turned on he observed crowds of people lining up outside open windows or doors of the few homes possessing TV sets intent on catching a glimpse of this fascinating novelty Stoic mute and completely absorbed they stood for hours contemplating every message and image presented So begins the cultural turning point that is the basis of Amazon Town TV a rich analysis of Gurup in the decades during and following the spread of television Pace worked with sociologist Brian Hinote to explore the sociocultural implications of television s introduction in this community long isolated by geographic and communication barriers They explore how viewers change their daily routines to watch the medium how viewers accept miss ignore negotiate and resist media messages and how television s influence works within the local cultural context to modify social identities consumption patterns and worldviews Masters of the Lost Land Heriberto Araujo,2022-08 Masters of the Lost Land Heriberto Araujo,2023-01-17 In the tradition of Killers of a Flower Moon a haunting murder mystery that reveals one of the great crimes of our time the ruthless destruction of the Amazon rainforest and anyone who stands in the way The city of Rondon do Par a remote but fast growing outpost deep in the heart of the Amazon lived for decades under the control of Jos lio de Barros one of Brazil s most notorious land barons Jos lio had cut a grisly path to success he arrived in the jungle with a shady past quickly making a name for himself as an invincible thug who grabbed up massive tracts of public land razing and burning the jungle in the process falsified private title deeds summarily executed family farmers who refused to sell their plots and kept migrant workers in conditions of modern day slavery The government s support of these practices has led directly to the devastating superfires we ve seen in the past few years extracting all value to be gotten from the land at any cost Enter Jos Dutra da Costa nicknamed Dezinho the leader of Rondon s small but robust farm workers union who had been fighting back against these land grabs ecological destruction and blatant human rights abuses for decades When Dezinho was killed in a shocking cold blooded assassination some 2 000 people turned out for his funeral and the city of Rondon held its breath Would Jos lio whom everyone knew had ordered the hit finally be brought to account Or would authorities look the other way as they had hundreds of times before Dezinho s widow Dona Joelma was not about to let that happen After his murder she stepped into the spotlight orchestrating a huge push to bring national media attention to the injustice happening in the Amazon Against great odds and at extreme personal risk she succeeded in expanding the campaign Dezinho had started and since his death has helped thousands of people through her agrarian reform and redistribution efforts Legally she threw her weight behind the murder charges against Jos lio using her deep network of loyal
