Gender and Academic Career Development in Central and Eastern Europe Anna M. Górska,2023-03-17 The nature of academic institutions is inherently gendered This is because higher education institutions HEIs do not operate in a void but rather are part and parcel of patriarchal social structures This book offers a comprehensive presentation of the gendered and gendering academic career development It explores various scholarly roles that academics face throughout their careers and how they are gendered in their nature The book connects relevant literature on the topic with novel empirical studies to increase the understanding of how gender is played in academia across different roles and different career stages The empirical context is conducted in Central and Eastern Europe and sheds new light on the gendered and gendering nature in academia in the region The book also offers propositions on how to undo gendered academia to make it a more inclusive workplace for all Dedicated to the academic reader employed in HEIs particularly among those who are involved in the management of such institutions this volume will be of great interest to researchers academics and advanced students in the fields of human resource management organizational studies higher education and gender studies Current Index to
