Boersema, 2015-04-13 In this book Jan J Boersema reconstructs the ecological and cultural history of Easter Island and critiques the hitherto accepted theory of the collapse of its civilization The collapse theory advanced most recently by Jared Diamond and Clive Ponting is based on the documented overexploitation of natural resources particularly woodlands on which Easter Island culture depended Deforestation is said to have led to erosion followed by hunger conflict and economic and cultural collapse Drawing on scientific data and historical sources including the shipping journals of the Dutch merchant who was the first European to visit the island in 1722 Boersema shows that deforestation did not in fact jeopardize food production and lead to starvation and violence On the basis of historical and scientific evidence Boersema demonstrates how Easter Island society responded to cultural and environmental change as it evolved and managed to survive      Easter Island's Silent Sentinels Kenneth Treister, Patricia Vargas Casanova, Cristino Claudio, 2013-11-15 It may be the most interesting and yet loneliest spot on earth a volcanic rock surrounded by a million square miles of ocean named for the day Dutch explorers discovered it Easter Sunday April 5 1722 Here people created a complex society sophisticated astronomy exquisite wood sculpture monumental stone architecture roads and a puzzling ideographic script And then they went about sculpting amazing giant human figures in stone This richly illustrated book of the history culture and art of Easter Island is the first to examine in detail the island's vernacular architecture often overshadowed by its giant stone statues It shows the conjecturally reconstructed prehistoric pole houses the ahu the sculptures platform as a spectacular expression of prehistoric megalithic architecture and the Easter Island Statue Project's inventory of the colossal moai sculptures This publication is made possible in part by a generous contribution
