The Art of Homemaking Daryl Van Dam Hoole, 1978 The Art of Homemaking Daryl V. Hoole, It is intended that women be happy and successful in their homemaking Being a homemaker is a divine appointment and is a woman's greatest calling It should be rich in the rewards of joy satisfaction and accomplishment All too often however women feel confused distraught or bored with their role as homemakers They frequently dread each day live for the time when their children will be raised so they can be released from it all or they escape from their responsibilities to their home and family and return to the business world Other women do enjoy their homemaking activities but find their work consumes most of their day and there is little time for other interests Many women are wonderful homemakers and managers but are eager for new ideas and skills to make their homemaking even more effective and satisfying To all of these women this book offers a practical guide to happier homemaking It recalls to mind the significance of homemaking and gives their attitude a lift When the suggestions concerning order and efficiency methods and approaches are applied coupled with the workable plan which systematizes the routine duties women will find their interest in homemaking greatly increasing and that there will be time to get their work done and enjoy creative activities family fun and personal development This is not just a book on how to keep house it offers a way of life which will bring joy and satisfaction to the homemaker and rich happy experiences to every family member

The Ultimate Career Daryl Van Dam Hoole, 2005 The Hidden Art of Homemaking Edith Schaeffer, 1985 I would define hidden art as the art found in the ordinary areas of everyday life Each person has I believe some talent which is unfulfilled in some hidden area of his being a talent which could be expressed and developed That is how Edith Schaeffer defines her theme in this fascinating and unusual book The Hidden Art of Homemaking will appeal immediately to anyone who believes that the place in which we live needs to be a center of meaningful living and personal enrichment Back cover Art of Homemaking, 1912

Theology of Home Carrie Gress, Noelle Mering, 2020-09-28 In this second installment of Theology of Home Carrie Gress

and Noelle Mering turn their attention from the home itself to the art of homemaking Though there has been a resurgence in the domestic arts and a desire to live a simpler lifestyle the role of a homemaker is still unpopular Viewed as an unfulfilling and even oppressive way of life many women feel a sense of shame or futility in managing the world of their home Theology of Home The Spiritual Art of Homemaking turns this misguided notion on its head shining new light on the role of a homemaker as it relates the deepest truths of the Faith with an honest and fearless understanding of the modern world Rather than looking to the 1950s for inspiration Gress and Mering forge a new path by looking at the gifts women can offer those they love Filled with beautiful photography and interviews with several inspiring women The Spiritual Art of Homemaking examines what makes someone a homemaker and how we can look at the role with fresh eyes how the dots between our love for home and the role of caring for a home can be reconnected how we can reorient our purpose from achieving power for ourselves to caring for others how to bear fruit in the various ways in which God calls us how to foster the qualities that make us particularly adept and skillful at creating a home the nature of both physical and spiritual motherhood and how our Mother the Church gifts us the means to fulfill the role of a homemaker Whether single married or a working or stay at home mother discover how to bring beauty order and vibrancy to the people and place you love most Home

Evens,1957 Homemaking as a Social Art Veronika Van Duin,2013-11-06 In recent years social and economic pressures have combined to affect the traditional role of the homemaker With emphasis being placed on the world of work as opposed to the life of home many people now struggle to fulfil several functions simultaneously This increasingly busy and hectic climate has led to an apparent downgrading of the work of the homemaker Taking a spiritual perspective inspired by the work of Rudolf Steiner Veronika van Duin suggests that homemaking needs to be undertaken consciously as an honoured and valued task as nothing less than a social art If we are to enjoy happy and contented family and home lives the role of homemaker ought to be regarded highly Without claiming that there is a blueprint for perfect homemaking the author offers principles and observations based on a study of the seven life processes and how they work on us She addresses the significance of rhythm relationships artistic environment caring self development and much more besides in this invaluable book Hidden Art of Homemaking Edith Schaeffer,1974 Hidden Art of Homemaking Schaeffer Edith,1985
