The Art of I. Compton-Burnett Charles Burkhart,1972 The Art of I. Compton-Burnett; a Collection of Critical Essays. With Contributions by John Betjeman [and Others]. Charles Burkhart,1972 Ivy Compton-Burnett Barbara Hardy,2016-03-16 The first fully detailed and critically contextualised study of the novels of Ivy Compton BurnettIvy Compton Burnett is a strikingly original novelist writing conversation novels in which talk is the medium and subject She is innovative like Joyce and Woolf but more accessible and less theoretical a modernist unawares She makes readers think and her terse cool witty style reminds us that the novel is an art To read most living writers of fiction after reading her is to feel novelists have become lazy and made their readers lazy She requires attention and she doesn't write to pass the time or invite identification but she is amusing and challenging This re valuation of a neglected artist is a close analysis of forms ideas and language in novels which range from her first conventionally moral love story Dolores which she tried to suppress to startling stories about landed gentry in Victorian and Edwardian England Key FeaturesProvides incisive and accessible close readings of Compton Burnett's language life narratives emotional expression and thoughtPresents new work of a leading criticPlaces Compton Burnett in the context of Modernist writing Dark Humour and Social Satire in the Modern British Novel L. Colletta,2003-09-30 Colletta uses psychoanalytic theories of joke work and gallows humour to argue that dark humour is an important defining characteristic of Modernism She brings together the usual suspects alongside more often overlooked writers from the period and asks probing questions about the relationship between a dark humour that revels in the non rational the unstable and the fragmented and resists easy definition and political usefulness and the historical and social circumstances of the period Colletta makes a compelling argument that probing deeply into the nature of humour or satire that define these social comedies brings to light a more complex and more accurate understanding of the social changes and historical circumstances that define the modern era The Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Fiction, 3 Volume Set Brian W. British Experimental Women's Fiction, 1945–1975 Andrew Radford, Hannah Van Hove, 2021-08-23 This book scrutinizes a range of relatively overlooked post WWII British women writers who sought to demonstrate that narrative prose fiction offered rich possibilities for aesthetic innovation What unites all the primary authors in this volume is a commitment to challenging the tenets of British mimetic realism as a literary and historical phenomenon This collection reassesses how British female novelists operated in relation to transnational vanguard networking clusters debates and tendencies both political and artistic The chapters collected in this volume enquire for example whether there is something fundamentally different or politically dissident about female experimental procedures and perspectives This book also investigates the processes of canon formation asking why in one way or another these authors have been sidelined or misconstrued by recent scholarship Ultimately it seeks to refine a new research archive on mid century British fiction by female novelists at least as diverse as recent and longer established work in the domain of modernist studies This Working-Day World Sybil Oldfield, 2022-08-24

 Originally published in 1994 This Working Day World is lively collection of essays presenting a social political and cultural view of British women's lives in the period 1914-45. The volume describes women's activities in many different areas ranging from the weekly wash to the rescue of child refugees. Each essay from an international list of contributors is based on new research which will complement existing studies in a range of disciplines by adding information on among other topics women's teacher training colleges and women in the BBC in medical laboratories and in Art schools. The book does not however idealise women: the militarism and racism of the period infected women too and this is revealed in the account of women in the British Union of Fascists and the analysis of the Pankhursts merging of patriotism and gender issues. Through studies and personal accounts This Working Day World reveals past issues that are still pertinent to debates in today's society. As we read the chapter on the recently discovered Diary of Doreen Bates which outlines possibly the first female civil servant campaign for rights as a single mother we hear echoes of issues being discussed today. Indeed as we approach the end of the century it is a good moment to look back and re-evaluate areas and degrees of progress or the reverse in society and in British women's lives in particular. With its unusual photographs this accessible and informative collection provides a rich resource for students in twentieth century social and cultural history and women's studies courses and an enlightening volume for general readers Twentieth Century Fiction George Woodcock, 1983-04-01 Telling Performances Brian Nelson, Anne Freadman, Philip Anderson, 2001. These essays engage with narratives and narrative issues in particular on the issue of performance in and of narrative with the telling of performance and the performance of telling and the way stories perform gender and identity. They focus on narrative as such on narrative genres and on particular narratives but they all seek to inform thinking on narrative Literature and Sound Film in Mid-Century Britain Lara Ehrenfried, 2025-03-27
 What happened to cinema and literature when synchronized sound was introduced to the film industry in the late 1920s? Literature and Sound Film in Mid-Century Britain studies the paths of film and text following this event. It asks how British cinema responded to the introduction of sound and how mid-century literature took up the challenge of the synchronized audio-visual entertainment experience offered by this media change. By examining the technological and industrial histories of film and its narrative strategies and by drawing links to twentieth century literary culture this study offers a new way of approaching mid-century writing and its media ecology. Developing innovative audio-visual close readings this book offers a multi-sensory multi-media approach that reframes the relationships between cinema and literature in the twentieth century. The study addresses a wide range of film genres such as musical film screwball comedy the thriller documentary and melodrama alongside the writings of a large group of authors including Elizabeth Bowen Patrick Hamilton Evelyn Waugh Lewis Grassie Gibbon Henry Green Jean Rhys Ivy Compton Burnett and Eric Ambler. It covers an expansive range of films and texts of the 1930s and 1940s and invites readers to comprehensively rethink mid-century media culture by arguing for a growing synergy of film and text Romancing the Novel Margaret Bruzelius, 2007 Romancing the Novel examines the ways in which romance forms characteristic of boys books as exemplified in the novels of Scott Dumas Verne and Stevenson influence narratives not generally put in the same category both psychoanalytical accounts of the psyche and novels by authors as diverse as George Eliot Ursula Le Guin Joseph Conrad and W G Sebald Adventure has been most recently studied largely as a symptom of imperialism's ideological apparatus But as an intensely familiar story available from the earliest reading adventure conditions the narratable its influence is felt from the nursery bed to the analyst's couch By reading Maurice Sendak with Melanie Klein and Peter Rabbit with Daniel Deronda Romancing the Novel argues that the power and depth of the generic constraints of the adventure form have not been recognized simply because they are so ubiquitous Adventure fiction is not merely summer reading whose ephemeral effects dissipate but rather a pervasive code that exerts powerful effects on the imaginable Modern British Women Writers Vicki K. Janik, Del Ivan Janik, 2002-11-30 The 20th century witnessed several major cultural movements including modernism anti modernism and postmodernism These and other means of understanding and perceiving the world shaped the literature of that era and with the rise of feminism resulted in a particularly rich body of literature by women writers This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 British women writers of the 20th century Some of these writers were born in England while others such as Katherine Mansfield and Doris Lessing came from countries of the former Empire or Commonwealth The volume also includes entries for women of color such as Kamala Markandaya and Buchi Emecheta Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes an overview of the writer's background an analysis of her works an assessment of her achievements and lists of primary and secondary sources The volume closes with a selected general bibliography John Betjeman William S. Peterson, 2006 Sir John Betjeman 1906-1984 Poet Laureate was probably the most widely read English poet of the twentieth century Because of his frequent appearances on radio and television and his fervent devotion to the preservation of England's architectural heritage his face and voice became familiar to millions Few other poets of any century have had such a powerful influence on their contemporaries This bibliography lists and describes all of his known writings including his own books ephemera contributions to periodicals and to books by others lectures and radio and television programmes Other categories such as editorships music settings and dramatic adaptations of his poems recordings and interviews are also included as well as a section devoted to writings about him Manuscripts and drafts of all his works are described in detail This enormous body of material is thoroughly indexed cross referenced and in most cases annotated Now at last the activities of this remarkable man both a poet and a cultural phenomenon can be seen in their full breadth and complexity Uses of Austen Gillian Dow, 2012-08-21 This book focuses on how Austen's life and work is being re framed and re imagined in 20th and 21st century literature and culture Tracing the connections between Modernist Austen in the early C20th and feminist and post feminist appropriations in the later C20th it examines how Austen emerged as a complex point of reference on the
