The Atomic Bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki Manhattan Engineer District, 2014-05-16 Statement by the President of the United States Sixteen hours ago an American airplane dropped one bomb on Hiroshima Japan and destroyed its usefulness to the enemy That bomb had more power than 20 000 tons of T N T It had more than two thousand times the blast power of the British Grand Slam which is the largest bomb ever yet used in the history of warfare These fateful words of the President on August 6th 1945 marked the first public announcement of the greatest scientific achievement in history The atomic bomb first tested in New Mexico on July 16 1945 had just been used against a military target

Suffering Made Real M. Susan Lindee, 1994-12-15 In 1946 an American scientific agency the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission ABCC was established in Japan to study the long term biomedical effects of radiation on the survivors Over the next twenty nine years American scientists and physicians with funding from the Atomic Energy Commission published hundreds of papers documenting the effects of radiation on aging life span fertility and disease In 1975 the agency was renamed and reorganized to permit greater Japanese input

U.S. Strategic Bombing Survey: Effects of Atomic Bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki United States. War Department, 1946 The United States Strategic Bombing Survey Department of Defense, U. S. Military, U. S. Army, 2017-09-17 This is the official U S government report on the atomic bombings of Japan which ended World War II and ushered in the atomic age Contents include I Introduction II The Effects of the Atomic Bombings A The attacks and damage 1 The attacks 2 Hiroshima 3 Nagasaki B General effects 1 Casualties Flash burns Other injuries Radiation disease 2 Morale 3 The Japanese decision to surrender III How the Atomic Bomb Works A The nature of the explosion B Heat C Radiation D Blast E The atomic bomb compared with other weapons IV Signposts A The danger B What we can do about it 1 Shelters 2 Decentralization 3 Civilian defense 4 Active defense 5 Conclusion The introduction states The available facts about the power of the atomic bomb as a military weapon lie in the story of what it did at Hiroshima and Nagasaki Many of these facts have been published in official and unofficial form but mingled with distortions or errors The United States Strategic Bombing Survey therefore in partial fulfillment of the mission for which it was established has put together in these pages a fairly full account of just what the atomic bombs did at Hiroshima and Nagasaki Together with an explanation of how the bomb achieved these effects this report states the extent and nature of the damage the casualties and the political repercussions from the two attacks The basis is the observation measurement and analysis of the Survey s investigators The conjecture that is necessary for understanding of complex phenomena and for applying the findings to the problems of defense of the United States is clearly labeled When the atomic bombs fell the United States Strategic Bombing Survey was completing a study of the effects of strategic bombing on Germany's ability and will to resist. A similar study of the effects of strategic bombing on Japan was being planned. The news of the dropping of the atomic bomb gave a new urgency to this project for a Study of the air war against Japan clearly involved new weapons and new possibilities of concentration of attack that might qualify or even change the conclusions and recommendations of the Survey as to the effectiveness of air power. The directors of the Survey therefore decided to examine exhaustively the effects of the atomic bombs in order that the full impact on Japan and the implications of their results could be confidently analyzed. A single atomic bomb, the first weapon of its type ever used against a target, exploded over the city of Hiroshima at 0815 on the morning of 6 August 1945. Most of the industrial workers had already reported to work but many workers were en route and nearly all the school children and some industrial employees were at work in the open on the program of building removal to provide firebreaks and disperse valuables to the country. The attack came 45 minutes after the all clear had been sounded from a previous alert. Because of the lack of warning and the populace's indifference to small groups of planes, the explosion came as an almost complete surprise and the people had not taken shelter. Many were caught in the open and most of the rest in flimsily constructed homes or commercial establishments.
