The Angel House:

The Angel in the House Coventry Patmore, 1856 Angel Homes, 1997 Are you touched by an angel Then give him or her a heavenly place to stay Using one of six basic Angel House blueprints you can create an Ark of Angels Stardust Inn Christmas Cottage and many many more String up lights to brighten the angel s way and paint a blessing on the door Many houses perch on pedestals just as birdcages do Be sure the door s open so your angel can fly in 128 pages all in color 8 1 2 x 10

Stone Houses of Jefferson County Maureen Hubbard Barros, Brian W. Gorman, Robert A. Uhlig, 2015-05-11 Jefferson County New York has one of the richest concentrations of stone houses in America As many as 500 stone houses churches and commercial buildings were built there before 1860 Some of the buildings are beautiful mansions built by early entrepreneurs others are small vernacular farmhouses Some are clustered together others dot the countryside near stone outcroppings Embedded in the fabric of each building are the stories of its location its maker and its inhabitants over time Lavishly illustrated with almost 300 photographs this volume highlights eighty five stone houses in the region The editors explore both the beauty and permanence of the stonework and the courage and ambition of the early dwellers They detail the ways in which skilled masons utilized local limestone and sandstone crafting double faced stone walls to protect against fire and harsh winters The book includes discussions of the geology of the region the stone buildings that have been lost and the preservation and care of existing structures Stone Houses of Jefferson County provides a fascinating look at the intrinsic beauty of these buildings and the historical links they provide to our early settlement

In the Archives of Composition Lori Ostergaard, Henrietta Rix Wood, 2015-10-23 In the Archives of Composition offers new and revisionary narratives of composition and rhetoric s history It examines composition instruction and practice at secondary schools and normal colleges the two institutions that trained the majority of U S composition teachers and students during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Drawing from a broad array of archival and documentary sources the contributors provide accounts of writing instruction within contexts often overlooked by current historical scholarship Topics range from the efforts of young women to attain rhetorical skills in an antebellum academy to the self reflections of Harvard University students on their writing skills in the 1890s to a close reading of a high school girl s diary in the 1960s that offers a new perspective on curriculum debates of this period Taken together the chapters begin to recover how high school students composition teachers and English education programs responded to institutional and local influences political movements and pedagogical innovations over a one hundred and thirty year span

Nordic Literature Steven P. Sondrup, Mark B. Sandberg, Thomas A. DuBois, Dan Ringgaard, 2017-12-15 Nordic Literature A comparative history is a multi volume comparative analysis of the literature of the Nordic region Bringing together the literature of Finland continental Scandinavia Sweden Norway Denmark and S pmi and the insular region Iceland Greenland and the Faroe Islands each volume of this three volume project adopts a new frame through which one can recognize and analyze significant clusters of literary practice This first volume Spatial nodes devotes its attention to the changing literary figurations of space by Nordic writers from medieval to contemporary times Organized around the depiction of various scapes and spatial practices at home and abroad this approach to Nordic literature stretches existing notions of temporally linear nationally centered literary history and allows questions of internal regional similarities and differences to emerge more strongly The productive historical contingency of the North as a literary space becomes clear in this close analysis of its literary texts and practices NGOs and Accountability in China Jude Howell,Xiaoyuan

Shang,Karen R. Fisher,2018-05-15 This book investigates how NGOs in authoritarian states such as China craft accountability and legitimacy to ensure their survival It explores this through the lens of child welfare organisations from 2007 to 2017 The authors provide a fresh approach to accountability that is more attuned to the particular conditions of authoritarianism The project explores the effects of power relations in shaping the hierarchies of accountability and participation that emerge and the attention given to different voices such as those of donor government and users Essential reading for researchers and policy makers interested in development NGO social policy political science and child welfare studies

The Bodies We Won't Bury: Love is Dangerous 1 Daniel Norrish, 2017-05-09 When your lover texts you how do you know it's really them tapping on the phone's keypad How can you be sure it's your trusted partner asking you to dinner or the movies or into someone else's home Caller ID means nothing and a text message is only a handful of anonymous words while he's watching his next victims. He's stealing mobile phones and using the devices to lure innocent partners into violent public snares around the tourist haunts of Sydney. Detective Inspector Stephanie Saxon is getting closer to finding him and even the press can see that she'll be the one to break down his door. The stalker Saxon is desperately chasing knows where she lives and whom she's sleeping with and where he can find her family but he does not know that she carries an unlicensed firearm on her ankle and she's closer than he thinks.

Creating Your Own Space

María Davis, 2021-03-04 The relationship between women and houses has always been complex. Many influential writers have used the space of the house to portray women's conflicts with the society of their time. On the one hand, houses can represent a place of physical, psychological, and moral restrictions, and on the other, they often serve as a metaphor for economic freedom and social acceptance. This usage is particularly pronounced in works written in the nineteenth and twentieth century when restrictions on women's roles were changing, anxieties about space sometimes seem to dominate the literature of both nineteenth-century women and their twentieth-century descendants. The Metaphor of the House in Feminist Literature uses a feminist literary criticism approach in order to examine the use of the house as metaphor in nineteenth and twentieth-century literature.

Confessions of a Murder Suspect James Patterson, Maxine Paetro, 2012-09-24 James Patterson returns to the genre that made him famous with a 1 New York Times bestselling teen detective novel about the mysterious Angel family and the dark secrets they're keeping from one another. On the night Malcolm and Maud Angel are murdered, Tandy Angel knows just three things: 1. She was the last person to see her parents alive. 2. The police have no suspects besides Tandy and her three siblings. 3. She can't trust anyone, maybe not even herself. As Tandy sets out to clear the family name, she begins to recall flashes of experiences long buried in her vulnerable psyche. These memories shed light on her family's dark secrets, and digging deeper into her powerful parents' affairs proves to be a disturbing and dangerous game. Who knows what any of the Angels are truly capable of.

Women's Lives/Women's Times

Trev Lynn Broughton, Linda R. Anderson, 1997-01-01 Women's Lives/Women's Times reflects the growing interest in life writing as a basis for both feminist theorizing and women-centered education. It discusses the many ways in which the study of autobiography can contribute to the theory, practice, and politics of women's studies as curriculum and to feminist theory more generally. This volume is concerned with the application of theory to text, particularly with the assumptions and discourses of postmodernism but also in exploring how general theories of the subject do not always fit comfortably with the specifics of autobiographical writing. It also recognizes the challenge women's autobiography offers to theory, taking us in its complex weave of the personal, the political, and the theoretical beyond the usual generic and disciplinary boundaries.

Right from the Start Jeanie London, 2013-04-01 He put her theories to the test. Emotional Control. That's divorce counselor Kenzie James's motto and one of the rules she's built her professional reputation on. But her own control is challenged when the gorgeous Will Russell offers her a business deal too good to be true From the moment they shake hands Kenzie s ordered world is thrown into chaos with the wild feelings he creates in her And the attraction only intensifies when she witnesses Will s fierce love for his autistic son How can Kenzie not admire that quality in Will And how can she resist him One thing is for sure he s definitely showing her that nothing is black and white when it comes to love
