Thucydides and Internal War Jonathan J. Price,2001-07-19 In this 2001 book Jonathan Price attempts to demonstrate that Thucydides consciously viewed and presented the Peloponnesian War in terms of a condition of civil strife stasis in Greek Thucydides defines stasis as a set of symptoms indicating an internal disturbance in both individuals and states This diagnostic method in contrast to all other approaches in antiquity allows an observer to identify stasis even when the combatants do not or cannot openly acknowledge the nature of their conflict The words and actions which Thucydides chooses for his narrative meet his criteria for stasis the speeches in the History represent the breakdown of language and communication characteristic of internal conflict and the zeal for victory led to acts of unusual brutality and cruelty and overall disregard for genuinely Hellenic customs codes of morality and civic loyalty Viewing the Peloponnesian War as a destructive internal war had profound consequences for Thucydides historical vision Popular Religion and Ritual in Prehistoric and Ancient Greece and the Eastern Mediterranean Giorgos Vavouranakis,Konstantinos Kopanias,Chrysanthos Kanellopoulos,2019-01-14 This volume features a group of select peer reviewed papers by an international group of authors both younger and senior academics and researchers on the frequently neglected popular cult and other ritual practices in prehistoric and ancient Greece and the eastern Mediterranean Human and Aquatic Beings: Interactions in and beyond the Eastern Mediterranean (3rd–1st Millennia BCE) Christina Tsouparopoulou,Lærke Recht,2025-01-01 This volume examines the role of fish and molluscs in everyday life as well as in terms of their impact on social structures and as part of ideological and symbolic expression Given the prevalence of dependence on water in various forms in all regions of the Eastern Mediterranean Egypt and Western Asia it is no wonder that fish and other aquatic species made an impact on human lives Yet this topic remains rather understudied Until recently ongoing projects in marine and freshwater species and their interaction with humans and the environment either focus on the European marine ecosystem or on themes other than the social interactions of humans and aquatic species The chapters in this volume explore questions related to fishing practices and technologies social status human fish mollusc relations including potential over exploitation and fish molluscs in ritual practices e g as temple offerings festival consumption burial offerings and ideology and religion e g associated with supernatural beings or sacred space as hybrid creatures and as represented in luxury goods The volume also examines aquatic species as a nonalimentary resource for example as jewellery inlays dyeing and medicinal purposes The material under investigation includes faunal remains worked and unworked fishing gear and related tools iconography and written sources Many chapters also integrate multiple lines of evidence ranging from stylistic contextual and iconographic analyses to zooarchaeological investigations This volume is relevant to archaeologists zooarchaeologists biologists and anyone interested in human animal relations and or the archaeology of the early Eastern Mediterranean and surrounding regions
