The Distant Shores of Freedom Subarno Chattarji, 2019-11-18 The Distant Shores of Freedom analyses literary works in English written by Vietnamese refugees in the US Fiction and memoirs by Vietnamese Americans recover stories and memories that are often different from mainstream American ones and that difference enables readers to think of the US war in Vietnam from perspectives that are missing in mainstream representations Dwelling not only on the war and its aftermaths Vietnamese American writings also ponder over the existential issues of exile the idea of home the pain of marginality and racism the question of community formation within the US and the complexity of diasporic lives Subarno Chattarji raises critical questions such as who gets to speak and write and to what ends and purposes Who reads Vietnamese American writings and how can we account for these publications in the US over a period of time What can and cannot be written or spoken What is remembered and what is silenced What traumas and memories are articulated These questions point towards a larger context of diaspora studies as well as the rituals of cultural memory that complicate our understanding of the Vietnam War and its aftermaths

Bruno Schulz and Galician Jewish Modernity Karen Underhill, 2024-06-25 In the 1930s through the prose of Bruno Schulz 1892 1942 the Polish language became the linguistic raw material for a profound exploration of the modern Jewish experience Rather than turning away from the language like many of his Galician Jewish colleagues who would choose to write in Yiddish Schulz used the Polish language to explore his own and his generation's relationship to East European Jewish exegetical tradition and to deepen his reflection on golus or exile as a condition not only of the individual and of the Jewish community but of language itself and of matter Drawing on new archival discoveries this study explores Schulz's diasporic Jewish modernism as an example of the creative and also transient poetic forms that emerged on formerly Habsburg territory at the historical juncture between empire and nation state The select Tennyson, ed. by J.L. Robertson Alfred Tennyson Baron Tennyson, 1903

Dangerous Edges of Graham Greene Dermot Gilvary, Darren J. N. Middleton, 2011-09-15

D.M. Thomas Bran Nicol, 2004 This book argues that D M Thomas continually stretches the boundaries of the novel to find a suitable form to reflect the the impact of the uniquely violent often nightmarish events of our times on the desires and fantasies within us all Mapping Metabiographical Heartlands in Marina Warner's Fiction Souhir Zekri, 2019-06-04 This volume covers a wide range of contemporary and pressing issues namely colonialism displacement rape women's oppression and the manipulation of religious discourse through a variety of theoretical approaches to Marina Warner's fiction It focuses on the theories of feminism psychoanalysis and post colonialism through the original perspective of metabiography as engrafted diaries letters memoirs and chronicles communicate the voices of the oppressed and the deceased by demystifying the mythopoeia constructed around and about them The book also reconciles undergraduates and MA students to critical and literary theory through the study of Warner's enriching fictional works as close textual analysis blends with brief overviews of various literary theories without burdening the book or its language with forbidding jargon This book will be relevant to students researchers and teachers due to its methodological orientation dealing as it does with extracts which can be converted into critical theory practice in class
