The Land Question And European Society Since 165:

The Parliamentary Debates (official Report). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1924 Contains the 4th session of the 28th Parliament through the 1st session of the 48th Parliament The Nation ,1881 An Empire of Air and Water Siobhan Carroll, 2015-03-04 Planetary spaces such as the poles the oceans the atmosphere and subterranean regions captured the British imperial imagination Intangible inhospitable or inaccessible these blank spaces what Siobhan Carroll calls atopias existed beyond the boundaries of known and inhabited places The eighteenth century conceived of these geographic outliers as the natural limits of imperial expansion but scientific and naval advances in the nineteenth century created new possibilities to know and control them This development preoccupied British authors who were accustomed to seeing atopic regions as otherworldly marvels in fantastical tales Spaces that an empire could not colonize were spaces that literature might claim as literary representations of atopias came to reflect their authors attitudes toward the growth of the British Empire as well as the part they saw literature playing in that expansion Siobhan Carroll interrogates the role these blank spaces played in the construction of British identity during an era of unsettling global circulations Examining the poetry of Samuel T Coleridge and George Gordon Byron and the prose of Sophia Lee Mary Shelley and Charles Dickens as well as newspaper accounts and voyage narratives she traces the ways Romantic and Victorian writers reconceptualized atopias as threatening or at times vulnerable These textual explorations of the earth s highest reaches and secret depths shed light on persistent facets of the British global and environmental imagination that linger in the twenty first century problems such as insecurity poverty inequality destruction of nature and cultural and social estrangement Land tenure issues in Timor Leste are complex and deeply shaped by the nation s history Taking an insider s perspective based on the author s experience in Timorese state administration and through the investigation of five analytical themes political environment lawmaking legal framework institutional framework and social relationships and practices this book studies the development of the Timorese formal land tenure system from independence in 2002 to 2018 It shows how political legal and administrative decisions on land administration are made what and who influences them which problems and dilemmas emerge and how the formal system works in practice The result is a portrait of a young nation grappling with the enormous task of creating a land tenure system that can address the needs of its citizens in the wake of centuries of socio political tumult and huge fluctuations in resources The book concludes by highlighting the importance of lawmaking and how abuses of power can be curbed by adequate administrative processes and laws Finally it argues that land administration is primarily a political matter The political dimension of technical solutions must be considered if we aim to achieve fairer formal land tenure systems The pertinence of the topics covered the multi disciplinary perspective and the research methodology followed make this book appealing to a variety of readers including international organizations practitioners academics and students engaged in land administration post colonial and conflict issues lawmaking rule of law public administration and issues of access and exclusion
