Corporate Reputation and the News Media Craig Carroll, 2010-09-01. This volume examines agenda setting theory as it applies to the news media's influence on corporate reputation. It presents interdisciplinary international and empirical investigations examining the relationship between corporate reputation and the news media throughout the world. Providing coverage of more than twenty-five countries, contributors write about their local media and business communities representing developed, emerging and frontier markets including Argentina, Brazil, Chile, China, Germany, Greece, Japan, Nigeria, Spain and Turkey among others. The chapters present primary and secondary research on various geopolitical issues: the nature of the news media, the practice of public relations and the role of public relations agencies in each of the various countries. Each chapter is structured to consider two to three hypotheses in the country under discussion, including the impact of media visibility on organizational prominence, top of mind awareness and brand name recognition; the impact of media favorability on the public's organizational images of these firms; how media coverage of specific public issues and news topics relates to the associations people form of specific firms. Contributors contextualize their findings in light of the geopolitical environment of their home countries, the nature of their media systems and the relationship between business and the news media within their countries' borders. Incorporating scholarship from a broad range of disciplines including advertising, strategic management, business, political communication and sociology, this volume has much to offer scholars and students examining business and the news media.

The News Media in Puerto Rico Federico Subervi-Vélez, Sandra Rodríguez-Cotto, Jairo Lugo-Ocando, 2020-10-27. The News Media in Puerto Rico offers a synopsis as well as a critical analysis of the Island's news media system with emphasis on the political and economic factors that most influence how the media operate. The authors also document the impact of Hurricane Maria on the media structures and the changing media landscape given the political, economic and colonial strictures. Building on interviews with news media professionals, the book further presents detailed insights about journalism and journalism education in these times of crises. The final chapters include theoretical frameworks and methodological guidelines for the analysis of other colonial, post-colonial and neo-colonial media systems with research recommendations valuable for future studies of the Island's media as well as for cross-national comparisons. This book will be an essential read for students and scholars interested in learning not only about the Puerto Rican and Latin American mass media but also the media systems of other colonial, neo-colonial countries.

News Media in the Arab World Barrie Gunter, Roger Dickinson, 2013-06-06. News Media in the Arab World: A Study of 10 Arab and Muslim Countries is based on ongoing research at the Department of Media and Communication, University of Leicester and has investigated the rapidly changing nature of the news media in Arab countries They have investigated the role of newspapers and television in news provision and the impact of new media developments most especially the emergence of the internet as a platform for news distribution and of international satellite television channels such as Al Jazeera Examining the constantly developing nature of news the collection contains separately authored chapters produced by the researchers responsible for each original analysis covering Bahrain Egypt Iraq Kuwait Libya Oman Qatar Palestine Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates Based on original primary and secondary research this will be the first empirical based collection to blend perspectives from both the Western and Arab nations Making News in Global India Sahana Udupa,2015-06-11 In the decades following India s opening to foreign capital the city of Bangalore emerged quite unexpectedly as the outsourcing hub for the global technology industry and the aspirational global city of liberalizing India Through an ethnography of English and Kannada print news media in Bangalore this ambitious and innovative new study reveals how the expanding private news culture played a critical role in shaping urban transformation in India when the allegedly public profession of journalism became both an object and agent of global urbanization Building on extensive fieldwork carried out with the Times of India group the largest media house in India between 2008 and 2012 Sahana Udupa argues that the class project of the global city news discourse came into striking conflict with the cultural logics of regional language and caste practices Advancing new theoretical concepts Making News in Global India takes arguments in media scholarship beyond the dichotomy of public good and private accumulation Cultural Barriers to the Success of Foreign Media Content Ulrike Rohn,2009 What media content attracts audiences across cultures and what does not What does the cross cultural audience demand depend on The author takes a new approach to understanding cultural barriers to the success of foreign media content by analyzing the entry strategies of Time Warner Disney Viacom News Corporation and Bertelsmann with regard to China India and Japan in terms of their respective localization efforts In depth interviews with companies representatives give an insight into how they view the need for locally produced media in these countries The author develops and employs the Lacuna and Universal Model that provides a new theoretical classification of reasons for the cross cultural success and failure of media content as well as the Vertical Barrier Chain that locates cultural barriers in the wider context of legal political and economic barriers to successful entry into foreign media markets The Independence of the News Media Loïc Ballarini,2020-10-16 This book explores the different ways Francophone research on news media has faced the challenges of dependence and independence from three complementary perspectives The first is economics how can sustainable business models be developed and to what extent can crowdfunding help to maintain the financial and editorial independence of newsrooms Secondly in a time where the role of journalism in the public sphere is more questioned than ever the authors evaluate to what extent news media can embody the needs of their readers Thirdly the authors consider the historical and political context of publication in the light of the Arab Spring This book deals with major contemporary evolutions of news media bringing together research that considers the media in France Canada and the Arab region notably Tunisia Algeria Morocco and Egypt Using numerous case studies this book helps to define how complex the question of independence is today News Media and the Indigenous Fight for Federal Recognition Cristina Azocar, 2022-04-05 Federal recognition enables tribes to govern themselves and make decisions for their citizens that have the power to retain their cultures But over the last forty years the news media coverage of the federal recognition of tribes has perpetuated ignorance and stereotypes about tribal sovereignty This book examines how past coverage has prioritized gaming over sovereignty and interfered in Tribes ability to be federally recognized Scholars of journalism mass communication media studies and indigenous studies will find this book of particular interest
