The Language Of Mystery By Robinson Edward:

The Language of Mystery Edward Robinson, 1987 Assist Our Song Douglas Galbraith, 2021-10-15 Assist Our Song combines accessible teaching about the theology and shape of worship with essential information about the forms of music used including congregational hymns songs canticles and psalm chant and music performed by choirs and musicians It explores the range of resources available how to extend repertoire blending the old with the new changing patterns of church life and other practical issues Its aims are the heightening of the profile of music within the church increasing the skills and understanding on the part of musicians and choirs assisting leaders of worship and empowering congregations to see themselves also as ministers of music It offers practical assistance for the delivery of music choosing music making the most of choirs and working with musicians It will be welcomed by all who lead provide or curate music in worship as well as clergy and ordinands who lack musical expertise or confidence A Sense of the Sacred R. Kevin Seasoltz, 2005-01-01 There have been many histories of Christian art and architecture but none written by a theologian such as Kevin Seasoltz Following a chapter on culture as the context for theology liturgy and art Seasoltz surveys developments from the early church up through the conventional artistic styles and periods Comprehensive illuminating ecumenical A Theology of Nonsense Josephine Gabelman, 2017-10-26 There is within all theological utterances something of the ridiculous perhaps more so in Christianity given its proclivity for the paradoxical and the childlike Few theologians are willing to discuss how consent to the Christian doctrine often requires a faith that goes beyond reason There seems to be a fear that the association of theology with the absurd will give fuel to the sceptic's refrain You can't seriously believe in all that nonsense Josephine Gabelman considers the legitimacy of the sceptic's objection and explores the possibility that an idea can be contrary to rationality and also true and meaningful using the systematic analysis of central stylistic features of literary nonsense such as Lewis Carroll's Alice stories Gabelman sets up a nonsense theology by considering the practical and evangelical ramifications of associating Christian faith with nonsense literature and conversely the value of relating theological principles to the study of literary nonsense Ultimately Gabelman says faith is always a risk and a strictly rational apologetic misrepresents the nature of Christian truth Holy Work with Children Tanya Marie Eustace Campen, 2021-06-29 Children are theologians with the ability to recognize and respond to God's presence in their lives Listening to the stories of children helps us to understand how children make meaning out of God's presence and reveals tools that children use as they claim their faith With this knowledge adults can then better promote and encourage children's spiritual growth Offering a theology of childhood Holy Work with Children values the child's role in the Body of Christ and God's transformative work Dr Campen invites readers to consider How does listening to children teach us about God and faith formation What wisdom and insight do children offer to all of us by how they seek understanding of God and God's presence in their lives How can we guide and support the children in our communities in this work Drawing on direct research with children as they think theologically this book extends both theological and educational research Holy Work with Children offers practical examples for how congregational leaders parents and those who journey with children can encourage and guide them as they make theological meaning and discover ways to respond to God's grace and love making a difference in their communities and the world

Priorities In Religious Education Brenda Watson,2003-09-02 A collection of articles which look at the future development of religious education in the light of the 1988 Education Reform Act and at how religious education should now develop in schools It contains practical guidance for meetings and workshops and questions to stimulate further discussion

Atonement for a Sinless Society Alan Mann,2016-06-30 Sin isn't relevant anymore Alan Mann takes seriously this often heard assertion and instead goes in search of the real plight at the heart of contemporary western society What he finds there is a personal pervasive and self diminishing disease impacting the lives of millions of people shame With this insight Atonement for a Sinless Society seeks a fresh encounter with the biblical narrative building a more meaningful understanding of the story of Jesus and his disciples for the world in which we live and in doing so bringing the Christian understanding of atonement into the twenty first century

Text Message Ian Stackhouse,Oliver D. Crisp,2014-03-10 Preaching has fallen on hard times with many questioning its relevance and even its validity as a New Testament practice This symposium of specially commissioned essays draws together an international team of thirteen scholars and pastors to address the importance of textual preaching in the history and life of the early church the historic church and the contemporary church Contributions include essays on Old Testament preaching preaching in Hebrews gender sensitive preaching preaching in the theology of Jonathan Edwards Charles Spurgeon Dietrich Bonhoeffer and in Eastern Orthodoxy It also includes essays on a range of homiletical challenges that textual preaching raises for the contemporary preacher including genre preaching without notes inhabiting the text and preaching without platitudes A final reflection by Dave Hansen on the state of textual preaching rounds out the collection The preaching of the gospel stands at the heart of Christian praxis These essays make a vital contribution to the recovery of the importance of preaching focused on the text of Scripture Written with an eye to the pastor and practitioner as well as those in the pews and in the classroom this is a book that should appeal to a wide range of readers

"The Eyes of Your Heart" Alison Searle,2009-04-01 This book develops a theory of imagining biblically that explores the contributions scripture can make to a new way of thinking about creativity reading interpretation and criticism The methodology employed in order to demonstrate this thesis consists of a theoretical exploration of current theological understandings of the imagination and their implications within the fields of literary studies The biblical texts locates the function generally defined as imagination in the heart the eyes of your heart Ephesians 1:18 This book assesses what the biblical text as a literary and religious document contributes to the concept of imagination Due to the eclectic nature of the individual books that comprise the scriptural canon the text is considered primarily in terms of its overarching metanarrative language genres and theological propositions Tracing the various trajectories the biblical text opens up and the ways in which they intersect with and modify post Romantic assumptions about the imagination reconfigures traditional definitions of this concept A Calvinistic evangelical hermeneutic is deployed to establish a theoretical concept of what it means to imagine biblically This is further substantiated by a comparative study of authors ranging from the seventeenth to the twentieth centuries John Bunyan Samuel Rutherford Jane Austen Charlotte Bronte and C S Lewis Each author s chapter incorporates a close reading of a key text which concretely examines various trajectories of imagining biblically including creativity faith morals narrative Romanticism and eschatology The conclusion returns to the biblical text and draws these elements together with a definition of the concept of imagining biblically and its implications for literary studies
