Supervision Human Perspectives:

Supervision Thomas J. Sergiovanni, Robert J. Starratt, 1983      Supervision Thomas J. Sergiovanni, Robert J. Starratt, 1979      Supervision Thomas J. Sergiovanni, Robert J. Starratt, 1988 This supervisory administrative and leadership text for courses at the graduate level reflects new thinking about teaching and school structures redefining the idea of supervision to focus on seeing schools as communities rather than as organizations In addition Supervision emphasizes the student teacher relationship rather than bureaucratic functions Using new opinions based on current trends in education the fifth edition takes the position of viewing the school as a community with teaching and learning as the most important aspects of this community In addition the school is looked upon as a moral rather than a technical enterprise whereby the moral authority of the supervisor and its close link with the moral authority of the teacher is emphasized The simplified chapters and the revised arrangement of material provide a more logical sequence and presentation of the subject

Emerging patterns of supervision, human perspectives Thomas J. Sergiovanni, 1971      Emerging Patterns of Supervision Thomas J. Sergiovanni, Robert J. Starratt, 1971      Emerging Patterns of Supervision Thomas J. Sergiovanni, 1971      Understanding Curriculum William F. Pinar, 1995 Perhaps not since Ralph Tyler's 1949 Basic Principles of Curriculum and Instruction has a book communicated the field as completely as Understanding Curriculum From historical discourses to breaking developments in feminist poststructuralist and racial theory including chapters on political theory phenomenology aesthetics theology international developments and a lengthy chapter on institutional concerns the American curriculum field is here It will be an indispensable textbook for undergraduate and graduate courses alike      The Return Of The Mentor Brian J. Caldwell, Earl M.A. Carter, 2003-09-02 This is a book on the good practice of mentoring written by scholars and practitioners in education health and industry It considers the roles of the mentor mentee in changing workplaces affected by external forces including technology the economy and the dismantling of middle management structures and offers guidelines for those who seek good practice and the nurturing of the individual in a caring and collaborative culture A brief history of mentoring and its subsequent usage is presented with special attention paid to the gender issues New concepts such as shadowing and reflective interviewing are introduced and explained and strategies are presented in such a way that they can be applied and adapted in any setting The whole process therefore aims to empower the professional in a school university or industrial level and with others towards a more effective and perceptive practice All those involved in education and training of individuals at a school college or industrial level training will find this useful      Using Humor to Maximize Living Mary Kay Morrison, 2012-03-29 Humor gets very little respect While references to the importance of having a sense of humor are liberally sprinkled throughout the popular media and it is usually mentioned as one of the qualities of effective employees it is rare to find purposeful humor practice Humor is without a doubt the one quality that most of us agree is needed in life

However it is rare to find serious applications on the benefits of applying humor in everyday life and in our world of work When the federal government tried to incorporate humor into a staff development program of a federal agency there was an outcry It seems that humor was thought to be a waste of taxpayer money and the program was axed The purpose of Using Humor to Maximize Living is to affirm sustain and encourage people in the practice of humor not only as a personal tool to optimize a healthy life style but also to maximize the benefits of humor in everyday life Check out the research that includes a review on the use of humor to nurture creativity to increase the capacity for memory retention to support an optimal work environment and to build safe communities that reflect the relational trust necessary for maximizing living Author Mary Kay Morrison teaches a 3 hour grad course in Humor Studies through the Association for Applied and Therapeutic Humor AATH at the annual conference each year <http://www.aath.org/humor-academy>
