Supporting Citizens Initiatives:

Supporting Citizen's Initiatives Richard Holloway, 1998 This book explains the role currently played by non governmental organizations NGOs in Bangladesh and contains lessons for all those concerned with understanding the relationship between state and civil society organizations throughout the developing world European Citizens' Initiative: A Tool for Engagement and Active Citizenship Yilly Vanessa Pacheco, Dulce Lopes, 2023 This publication gathers contributions to understand better and further develop the European Citizens Initiative This participatory and agenda setting tool introduced into the Treaty of Lisbon has not yet reached its full potential of citizen engagement nor has it driven the significant policy changes initially expected Bearing this in mind the project ECI From A to Z aimed to promote the knowledge and use of the European Citizens Initiative within the higher education arena by engaging investigators and students from four different Universities University of Coimbra Georg August University of G ttingen Alexandru Ioan Cuza University of Ia i and the University of Vigo to work together to share their concerns and common views on the European Union role and policies This publication describes the methodology followed and results reached under the project but more than that it is a practical toolkit for all who wish to know more about the European Citizens Initiative and how to put it in motion Citizens' Initiatives in Europe M. Setälä, T. Schiller, 2012-03-13 An exploration and analysis of the regulation and practices of citizens initiatives in eleven European democracies and the EU The contributors to this volume shed light on how citizens initiatives influence patterns of political agenda setting in representative democracies and how they can contribute to participatory democracy Citizen Initiatives and Democratic Engagement Sumona DasGupta, 2013-11-12 This book looks at a series of citizen led campaigns to provide information about and energise the institutions of local self governance in India following the 73rd and 74th Amendment Acts Staggering in their outreach and magnitude the campaigns popularly known as PEVACs Pre election Voters Awareness Campaigns reached out to huge swathes of the population particularly in rural India through a unique network that incorporated civil society organisations across the country the media and the State Election Commission itself The book journeys through the heat and dust of these extraordinary campaigns drawing from a repertoire of field reports and interviews to reflect on the significance of this experiment on deepening democracy in India In particular it analyses the methodology of the campaigns and posits that this itself became an extraordinary exercise in democratic practice indicating the shape that deliberation and dialogic practices could actually take on the field As the campaigns moved from district to district through their street plays posters pamphlets jagrut yatras candidate voter dialogues rehearsals of voting procedures setting up of information booths and participatory workshops for newly elected representatives a new dialogical experiment was born and shaped By examining these campaigns this book emphasises the idea that governance is not just the business of central federal governments but also of citizens outside the formal institutions of governance without whose active participation democracy cannot be deepened Social Cohesion and Resilience through Citizen Engagement Frank Othengrafen, Sylvia Herrmann, Divna Pencic, Stefan

Lazarevski, 2024-12-09 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 License. It is free to read, download and share on Elgaronline thanks to generous funding support from the German Academic Exchange Service DAAD and the German Ministry for Education and Research BMBF. This incisive book examines how citizens are increasingly taking it upon themselves to change their neighbourhoods and communities becoming co-producers, makers and pioneers who actively participate in the design of urban spaces and spatial processes. Analysing the potentials and limitations of civic engagement, it discusses how such participation has led to greater cohesion of communities against changing environments.

Assessment Framework for People-Centred Solutions to Carbon Neutrality Sabrina Bresciani, Francesca Rizzo, Francesco Mureddu, 2024-03-16 This open access book presents a catalogue of over one thousand indicators which can be used by cities, public administrators to monitor and evaluate social innovation action plans to support people-centred collaborative or co-designed solutions to lower carbon emissions. Indicators are clustered according to a framework of social innovation solutions for climate neutrality at city level developed by merging top-down academic knowledge with bottom-up pragmatic case studies. There is currently limited guidance on how to embed social innovations in their cities' action plans with the aim of reaching climate neutrality and on how to assess the progress and impacts of such people-centred projects in cities. The book addresses this gap and is thus relevant for scholars in the field of policy making and design as well as cities transition teams, policymakers and consultants. Based on the work developed within the EU-funded project NetZeroCities, intervention logics are provided for each of the ten categories of action with related indicators clustered by category and evaluation criteria: effectiveness, efficiency, relevance, replicability and scalability. Guidelines to implement the framework support city administrators in defining steps they need to follow to apply the indicators to their local case, making social innovation a crucial lever for accelerating systemic transformation. All change please! - challenges and opportunities of the energy transition Andreas Stefansky, Angelina Göb, 2022-01-27 The annual meeting of the ARLs Junges Forum forum for young professionals on 6-8 October 2016 in Leipzig addressed various aspects of the energy transition: when, where, how and why. In presentations and discussion groups they considered not only technical, legal and planning aspects related to infrastructure expansion and the management and structuring of the energy transition but also its significance for spatial development. The focus of the annual meeting was selected in view of the current importance of the issue. The transition is a process intended to ensure a safe, environmentally friendly and economically successful future and as such involves a broad spectrum of social planning and scientific challenges and opportunities that require more in-depth consideration and analysis. The following questions thus provided the starting points for the presentations: What are the key action areas for the implementation of the energy transition? How will the cities and the countryside of the future look? How do the various actors behave and how do they react to different technologies? Where and why do conflicts and competition emerge and how can resistance and acceptance be dealt with These key questions were the focus of the annual meeting and informed the following themes How smart is the city of the future Pole position for new form of mobility and We say no public protest in the energy transition

Margaret Stout, 2018-11-12 This volume explores the ways in which civil society and governments employ transformative tactics of direct engagement in coordinating efforts toward the common good Increasingly these collaborative endeavors seek to share power and break down role boundaries in the pursuit of abundant human flourishing as opposed to cost saving austerity

The Nordic Constitutions Helle Krunke, Björg Thorarensen, 2018-08-23 This book analyses the Nordic constitutional systems of Denmark Finland Iceland Norway and Sweden in a comparative context It has two main aims first to fill a gap in the literature by providing an accessible English language account of the Nordic constitutions and second to provide a comparative analysis of them revealing their similarities and differences within their political historical and cultural contexts In this respect the book challenges the assumption that the Nordic countries form a homogeneous constitutional system due to their cultural and historical affinities a view not necessarily supported by a close comparative examination A key issue is EU membership where the Nordic countries have made different choices at different times and the book will show how this has affected the individual countries and whether a divide between EU member states Denmark Finland and Sweden and non members Iceland and Norway has appeared Another key issue is how the ECHR has impacted the Nordic constitutional systems and whether the convention draws the Nordic systems closer to each other The book represents a first of its kind in the English language and will provide constitutional scholars with a valuable comparative resource on the Nordic region

The Populist Paradox Elisabeth R. Gerber, 2011-11-28 Do small but wealthy interest groups influence referendums ballot initiatives and other forms of direct legislation at the expense of the broader public interest Many observers argue that they do often lamenting that direct legislation has paradoxically been captured by the very same wealthy interests whose power it was designed to curb Elisabeth Gerber however challenges that argument In this first systematic study of how money and interest group power actually affect direct legislation she reveals that big spending does not necessarily mean big influence Gerber bases her findings on extensive surveys of the activities and motivations of interest groups and on close examination of campaign finance records from 168 direct legislation campaigns in eight states Her research confirms what such wealthy interests as the insurance industry trial lawyer associations and tobacco companies have learned by defeats at the ballot box if citizens do not like a proposed new law even an expensive high profile campaign will not make them change their mind She demonstrates however that these economic interest groups have considerable success in using direct legislation to block initiatives that others are proposing and to exert pressure on politicians By contrast citizen interest groups with broad based support and significant organizational resources have proven to be extremely effective in using direct legislation to pass new laws Clearly written and argued this is a major theoretical and empirical contribution to our understanding of the role of citizens and organized interests in the American legislative process Democracy in Poland Anna Gwiazda,2015-07-24 This book assesses the quality of democracy in Poland from the collapse of communism in 1989 up to the 2011 parliamentary election It presents an in depth empirically grounded study comparing two decades of democratic politics Drawing on democratic theory and comparative politics the book puts forward an evaluation of democracy based on four dimensions representation participation competition and accountability The book is an important contribution to debates on the performance of the new democracies in Central and Eastern Europe where some scholars argue that there is a democratic crisis that after a period of democratic progress most of these countries are experiencing democratic fatigue and that their democratic performance is poor However the Polish case shows that democracy is not in crisis in fact the quality of democracy in Poland has improved The book shows that democratic quality stems from good democratic institutions Moreover the Polish case shows useful lessons that can be learnt by democratic reformers in countries that are undergoing the transition to democracy or are aiming to consolidate their democratic systems It concludes that effective accountability good representation and stable competition are vital Promoting Human Rights in Russia by Supporting NGO's Elena Klitsounova,2008 Complex Political Decision-Making Peter Bursens,Christ'l De Landtsheer,Luc Braeckmans,Barbara Segaeert,2016-11-18 10 The Ukrainian crisis revisited response to Richard Herrmann 11 Politics it has never been so simple complex versus simplistic rhetoric and the use of hyperbole in political decision making in the Netherlands 12 The challenge of complex decision making concluding chapter and discussion Index Handbook Positive Health in Primary Care Machteld Huber,Hans Peter Jung,Karolien van den Brekel-Dijkstra,2021-11-10 Increasing numbers of general practitioners are discovering the benefits of working with Positive Health It helps to talk with patients in a different way with a focus on possibilities rather than on the impossibilities related to a particular health problem This is good for the patient And for the general practitioner But how do we apply Positive Health This handbook provides useful tools The book is full of tips tells the story of how the concept was first developed and gives practical examples It explains the underlying scientific basis of Positive Health with a clear emphasis on what is meaningful to patients And above all this book invites you to start working with Positive Health on various levels in your consulting room your practice and in the local community Because cooperation and combined effort are key You will experience how Positive Health seamlessly fits the core values and challenges of all aspects of primary care The handbook is intended for all primary care professionals as well as those who are still in training It describes the Dutch health care system and the experiences related to inspiration implementation and the anchoring of the
