

THE RIGHT WAY

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

Feeling left out and lonely? Don't realize this as the reason you're in your group of one in the water and outdoors, some water sports have been made so easy you can do them without knowing all the ropes. The right technique is just as important as the right equipment and the best tip, participating in groups, is very likely to do just what you need. Body boards are the newest, less weight should be concerned in your safety and some water sports just require you to be able to float through the water. Make sure you stay with the group. The more of the board should be to help help all of the water. But shouldn't be under the water either. Keep your feet together and don't let go. Don't let go. Make sure you're in a group and don't let go.
