The George Beckford Papers:

The George Beckford Papers George L. Beckford, 2000 George Beckford's work is characterized by a remarkable consistency of purpose and vision. This collection presents the unfolding of George Beckford's work from agricultural economics to political economy to the social economy of man space to the cultural roots of Caribbean creativity and a vision of one independent sovereign and self-reliant Caribbean nation. His purpose was to reveal the legacy of dispossession originating in the slave plantation experience of African people in the New World to free the mind from the internalization of attitudes of inferiority and Afro-Saxon mimicry. The George Beckford Papers, 2000 George Beckford Papers, 2000 The Essential Writings of Robert A. Hill Adam Ewing, 2024-02-13 Bringing together Robert A. Hill's most important writings for the first time, this collection serves as a testament to Hill's legacy as a pioneering scholar, activist, archive builder, and editor who shaped the study of Garveyism and pan-Africanism. The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Political Theory Leigh K. Jenko, Murad Idris, Megan Christine Thomas, 2020 Chapters emphasize exploration of substantive questions about political life in a range of global contexts with attention to whether and how those questions may be shared, contested, or reformulated across differences of time, space, and experience. An interdisciplinary volume that bridges the gaps between various traditions, regions, and concerns regarding political theory. Provides tags and keywords to aid navigation of the handbook and help readers trace disruptions, thematic connections, and conceptual contrasts across entries.

Parliamentary Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1865 The Challenge of Blackness Derrick E. White, 2011-09-01 The Challenge of Blackness examines the history and legacy of the Institute of the Black World (IBW), one of the most important Black Freedom Struggle organizations to emerge in the aftermath of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. A think tank based in Atlanta, the IBW sought to answer King's question: Where do we go from here? Its solution was to organize a broad array of leading Black activists, scholars, and intellectuals to find ways to combine the emerging academic discipline of Black Studies with the Black political agenda. Throughout the 1970s, debates over race and class in the United States grew increasingly hostile, and the IBW's approach was ultimately unable to challenge the growing conservatism. By using the IBW as the lens through which to view these turbulent years, Derrick White provides an exciting new interpretation of the immediate post-civil rights years in America. Reclaiming Development Kari Levitt, 2005 For over 20 years, the developing world has been adjusting to the agendas of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank. In the 1990s, Structural Adjustment Programmes were repackaged and marketed as the coming of the golden age of globalisation, promising benefits to countries that adopt neo-liberal policies. Whether by convention or apparent absence of viable alternatives, Caribbean governments have been quick to implement policies of deregulation, liberalisation, and privatisation. In this, they have been supported by their intellectuals who have been equally quick in embracing globalisation and too ready to concede the end of national sovereignty. Kari Levitt argues that it is time to reclaim the right to development and the right of nations to engage in the international economy on their own terms She advocates an international rule based order which permits space for member countries to follow divergent paths to development according to their own philosophies institutions cultures and societal priorities This book represents a historic sweep of Caribbean thought and personalities over the past 30 years drawn against the background of the changes in the international political economy Whether in her collaboration with Lloyd Best on the Plantation Economy Model her analyses of Debt and Adjustment or her insistence on the right of sovereign nations to pursue their own development path Kari Levitt remains consistent in her conviction that development whether of individuals or nations must be rooted in time and place and cannot be imposed by external prescription

King Sugar Michele Harrison, 2001-08 What is life like on a sugar plantation at the end of the twentieth century What will happen if the sugar industry collapses How do the poverty stricken cane cutters of rural Jamaica fit into the global economy And how does sugar make its way from the canefield to our kitchens The Caribbean's history is inseparable from sugar In Jamaica entire communities depend on the sugar industry earning a precarious living on old fashioned plantations For many the crop even doubles as currency But as the advanced nations reassess the economic policies that keep sugar alive time is running out for the island's industry King Sugar looks at the world sugar business identifying the key players producers markets and transnational companies and explaining how the industry works It explores the economics and politics of trading agreements the mysteries of the futures market and the technology of sugar production Based on interviews with traders buyers and producers it provides a unique look at the history of this commodity King Sugar also looks in detail at how ordinary people fit into this global industry Through interviews with workers on a plantation she provides a vivid picture of producers and the crises they face The book finally assesses the future of sugar both in Jamaica and the wider world and considers the options for those still ruled by King Sugar

Visual and Performing Arts Collaborations in Higher Education Julia Listengarten, Keri Watson, 2023-07-26 This book examines the role of the visual and performing arts in higher education and argues for the importance of socially engaged transdisciplinary practices not just to the college curriculum but also to building an informed and engaged citizenry The first chapter defines and offers an outline for conducting transdisciplinary research Chapters two through five present examples of transdisciplinary projects facilitated in Central Florida between 2017 and 2022 Topics and methodological frameworks include ecocriticism and climate change migration poverty and displacement ageing and disability and systemic racism and mass incarceration Each chapter includes descriptions of the projects and outlines how they integrated the essential learning outcomes articulated by the American Association of Colleges and Universities in the Liberal Education and America's Promise report A concluding chapter offers reflections on the value of transdisciplinary collaborative work and poses questions for further discussions on the role of the arts in higher education The book is designed for graduate and undergraduate students faculty and non academics interested in engaging in transdisciplinary projects to address complex societal issues
