The Intimate Economies Of Bangkok Tomboys Tycoons And Avon Ladies In The Global City:

The Intimate Economies of Bangkok Ara Wilson, 2004-07-19 Wilson shows us how global dreams come to life in the cacophony of Bangkok's markets. Business tycoons, sex workers, mall strollers, and penny capitalists. Each forms an exemplary figure, a source of reflection and emulation. In this engrossing work, the women and men of Bangkok produce themselves and the global economy. I have seen no better ethnography of globalization. Anna Tsing, author of In the Realm of the Diamond Queen. This fascinating book draws together the strands that weave intimate and kinship worlds into the fabric of the modern Thai economy. From floating markets to department stores and go-go bars, Wilson's inquiry reveals the gendered practices that sustain economic domains and how these commercial venues in turn recast the intimate life. Upending stereotypical notions about Thai gender, Intimate Economies casts a complex feminist perspective on the new styles of being emerging in the spaces of global capitalism. Aihwa Ong, author of Buddha Is Hiding. Wilson brilliantly deciphers the ways intimate lives, personas, subjectivities, relations are involved in the formation of modern and transnational capitalist markets. To do this, she carefully unpacks the social infrastructure of five different globalized markets in Bangkok. Saskia Sassen, author of Guests and Aliens. Offers something rare and valuable in studies of globalization: a fine-grained ethnography at the intersection of capitalist and non-capitalist economies. In Ara Wilson's fascinating study of urban Thailand, the sex trade is intertwined with the gift economy, the department store with the kin economy. Navigating this often surprising terrain with unusual agility, Wilson has produced a masterful record of new worlds and new subjects in the making. Julie Graham, co-author of The End of Capitalism As We Knew It: A Feminist Critique of Political Economy.

Mobile Subjects Aren Z. Aizura, 2018-10-25 The first famous transgender person in the United States, Christine Jorgensen traveled to Denmark for gender reassignment surgery in 1952. Jorgensen became famous during the ascent of postwar dreams about the possibilities for technology to transform humanity and the world. In Mobile Subjects, Aren Z. Aizura examines transgender narratives within global health and tourism economies from 1952 to the present. Drawing on an archive of trans memoirs and documentaries as well as ethnographic fieldwork with trans people obtaining gender reassignment surgery in Thailand, Aizura maps the uneven use of medical protocols to show how national and regional health care systems and labor economies contribute to and limit transnational mobility. Aizura positions transgender travel as a form of biomedical tourism, examining how understandings of race, gender, and aesthetics shape global cosmetic surgery cultures and how economic and racially stratified marketing and care work create the ideal transgender subject as an implicitly white global citizen. In so doing, he shows how understandings of travel and mobility depend on the historical architectures of colonialism and contemporary patterns of global consumption and labor.

Out in Public Ellen Lewin, William L. Leap, 2009-03-30 Out in Public addresses and engages us in the new and exciting directions in the emerging field of lesbian, gay, and transgender anthropology. The authors offer a deep conversation about the meaning of sexuality, subjectivity, and culture. Affirms the importance of recognizing gay and lesbian social issues within the arena of public anthropology Explores critical concerns of gay activism in a variety of global settings from the U S the European Union Singapore Nigeria India Nicaragua and Guadalajara Offers a unique focus on the politics of being gay and lesbian in cross cultural perspective Deals with broad ranging issues that affect human sexuality and human rights globally Winner of the 2009 Ruth Benedict Prize in the category of Best Anthology Urban Sociology William G. Flanagan,2010-01-16

The fifth edition of this text presents a balanced review of the ecological arguments that the urban arena produces unique experiential and urban based cultural effects while exploring the broader political and economic contexts that produce and modify the urban environment In addition to examining the urban dimensions of such topics as community formation and continuity minority and majority dynamics ethnic experience poverty power and crime it provides an analysis of the spatial distribution of population and resources with regard to the metropolitanization of the urban form and the interaction between urban concentration and development and underdevelopment From a first chapter that begins with a discussion of some of the more micrological features of the urban experience the text focuses on the significance of the more macrological cultural social organizational and political dimensions of urban change in an historical span that includes the first cities and concludes with an exploration of the implications of cyberspace transnationalism and global terrorism for the future of urban sociology While the work focuses primarily on the North American case its analytical and integrated discussion makes it applicable to urban societies in general Making Up the Difference Erynn Masi de Casanova,2011-06-01

Globalization and economic restructuring have decimated formal jobs in developing countries pushing many women into informal employment such as direct selling of cosmetics perfume and other personal care products as a way to make up the difference between household income and expenses In Ecuador with its persistent economic crisis and few opportunities for financially and personally rewarding work women increasingly choose direct selling as a way to earn income by activating their social networks While few women earn the cars and trips that are iconic prizes in the direct selling organization many use direct selling as part of a set of household survival strategies In this first in depth study of a cosmetics direct selling organization in Latin America Erynn Masi de Casanova explores women s identities as workers including their juggling of paid work and domestic responsibilities their ideas about professional appearance and their strategies for collecting money from customers Focusing on women who work for the country s leading direct selling organization she offers fascinating portraits of the everyday lives of women selling personal care products in Ecuador s largest city Guayaquil Addressing gender relations including a look at men s direct and indirect involvement the importance of image and the social and economic context of direct selling Casanova challenges assumptions that this kind of flexible employment resolves women s work home conflicts and offers an important new perspective on women s work in developing countries Women of the Street Susan Dewey,Tonia St. Germain,2017-02-28 Explores encounters between those who make their living by engaging in street based prostitution and the criminal justice and social service workers who try to curtail it Working together every day the lives of sex workers police officers public defenders and social service providers are profoundly intertwined yet their relationships are often adversarial and rooted in fundamentally false assumptions The criminal justice social services alliance operates on the general belief that the women they police and otherwise regulate choose sex work as a result of traumatization rather than acknowledging the fact that socioeconomic realities often inform their choices Drawing on extraordinarily rich ethnographic research including interviews with over one hundred street involved women and dozens of criminal justice and social service professionals Women of the Street argues that despite the intimate knowledge these groups have about each other measures designed to help these women consistently fail because they do not take into account false assumptions about street life homelessness drug use and sex trading Reaching beyond disciplinary silos by combining the analysis of an anthropologist and a legal scholar the book offers an evidence based argument for the decriminalization of prostitution

Sex Work in Nepal Lisa Caviglia, 2017-09-05 This book explores sex work in Nepal as a social and analytical category Narrating stories of those subsumed under such definition it examines changes as well as continuities characterising socio cultural norms and perceptions through an analysis of sexual consumption It also highlights the ways in which the development sector media and local community discourses frame sex work as a distinct category How does the work of development aid projects affect the understanding of the sex worker category How are visual and media images employed to mark spaces of perdition in the Nepalese urban setting and what forms of imagination do they trigger How are intimate practices and relations transformed by imported notions of love and how do standards of propriety related to such interactions shift This book attempts to answer some of these questions An in depth and intimate ethnography the book deconstructs the sex worker category against the backdrop of global influences within local urban surroundings and points to the contradictions therein Furthermore through thorough descriptions of the experiences agency decision making processes and lives of those labelled as sex workers the book challenges concepts such as deviance and victimhood It proposes a counternarrative by rethinking ideas of gender objectification marginality symbolic violence and discrimination This book will greatly interest researchers and scholars in women and gender studies sociology and social anthropology South Asian studies and social sciences as well as NGOs and those involved in the development sector
