The Magician And The Cinema:

The Magician and the Cinema Erik Barnouw, 1981 Focuses on the brief period in the 1890s when the history of magic and the history of cinema intersected bringing quick world wide advantage to cinema and near disaster to the magician

Film Before Griffith John L. Fell, 1983 Magic and Illusion in the Movies George Higham, 2024-11-07 From top hats to top secrets this book is a celebration of illusion technology and mechanisms of trickery through a genre crossing selection of films Heroes villains spies con men and madmen magicians all have utilized complex constructs and trickery in thrilling cinematic adventures from the earliest days of cinema to the present Current blockbusters such as Spider Man Far from Home and the Mission Impossible series feature amazing acts of deception often appearing far fetched that are in fact surprisingly close to today s technology Along with the James Bond saga classics such as The Wizard of Oz Nightmare Alley and The Sting are joined by a host of other movies superficially seeming to be very different yet proving there is more than meets the eye

Encyclopedia of Early Cinema Richard Abel, 2005 One volume reference work on the first twenty five years of the cinema s international emergence from the early 1890s to the mid 1910s Mystical Gaze of the Cinema Richard Leonard, 2009-02-15 Magical out of this world an experience you ll never forget Peter Weir s films have enthralled audiences around the globe Whether in iconic Australian works such as Picnic at Hanging Rock and Gallipoli or international mainstream thrillers such as Witness Weir has deliberately created mystical movie experiences Modern cinema studies is used to dissecting films on the basis of gender class or race now for the first time Richard Leonard shows that a mystical gaze also exists and is exercised in the secular multiplex temples of today The Mystical Gaze of the Cinema is a meticulous and accessible book that uses a psychoanalytic approach incorporating the insights of Jung film theory and theology to break new ground in what continues to be a hot topic in cinema studies the spectator screen relationship Leonard provides a fresh and innovative perspective on what happens when we behold a film

Film Serials and the American Cinema, 1910-1940 Ilka Brasch, 2025-10-01 Before the advent of television cinema offered serialized films as a source of weekly entertainment This book traces the history from the days of silent screen heroines to the sound era s daring adventure serials unearthing a thriving film culture beyond the self contained feature Through extensive archival research Ilka Brasch details the aesthetic appeals of film serials within their context of marketing and exhibition looking at how they adapted the pleasures of a flourishing crime fiction culture to both serial visual culture and the affordances of the media modernity of the early 20th century The study furthermore traces the relationship of film serials to the broadcast models of radio and television and thereby shows how film serials introduced modes of storytelling that informed popular culture even beyond the serial s demise

Cinema Gordon Gray, 2020-05-26 Cinema A Visual Anthropology provides a clear and concise summary of the key ideas debates and texts of the most important approaches to the study of fiction film from around the world The book examines ways to address film and film experience beyond the study of the audience Cross disciplinary in scope Cinema uses

Conjuring Science Sofie Lachapelle, 2015-10-07 Conjuring Science explores the history of magic shows and scientific entertainment It follows the frictions and connections of magic and science as they occurred in the world of popular entertainment in France from the mid eighteenth to the early twentieth century It situates conjurers within the broader culture of science and argues that stage magic formed an important popular conduit for science and scientific enthusiasm during this period From the scientific recreations of the fairs to the grand illusions of the theatre stage and the development of early cinema conjurers used and were inspired by scientific and technological innovations to create illusions provoke a sense of wonder and often even instruct their audience In their hands science took on many meanings and served different purposes it was a set of pleasant facts and recreational demonstrations upon which to draw it was the knowledge presented in various scientific lectures accompanied by optical projections at magic shows it was the techniques necessary to create illusions and effects on stage and later on at the cinema and it was a way to separate conjuring from the deceit of mediums mystical showmen and quacks in order to gain a better standing within an increasingly scientifically minded society

Hidden in Plain Sight Colin Williamson, 2015-10-22 What does it mean to describe cinematic effects as movie magic to compare filmmakers to magicians or to say that the cinema is all a trick The heyday of stage illusionism was over a century ago so why do such performances still serve as a key reference point for understanding filmmaking especially now that so much of the cinema rests on the use of computers To answer these questions Colin Williamson situates film within a long tradition of magical practices that combine art and science involve deception and discovery and evoke two forms of wonder both awe at the illusion displayed and curiosity about how it was performed He thus considers how even as they mystify audiences cinematic illusions also inspire them to learn more about the technologies and techniques behind moving images Tracing the overlaps between the worlds of magic and filmmaking Hidden in Plain Sight examines how professional illusionists and their tricks have been represented onscreen while also considering stage magicians who have stepped behind the camera from Georges Méliès to Ricky Jay Williamson offers an insightful wide ranging investigation of how the cinema has functioned as a device of wonder for more than a century while also exploring how several key filmmakers from Orson Welles to Christopher Nolan and Martin Scorsese employ the rhetoric of magic Examining pre cinematic visual culture animation nonfiction film and the digital trickery of today's CGI spectacles Hidden in Plain Sight provides an eye opening look at the powerful ways that magic has shaped our modes of perception and our experiences of the cinema

Cinema's Sinister Psychiatrists Sharon Packer, M.D., 2012-09-18 Film history is merged with psychiatric history seamlessly to show how and why bad depictions of mind doctors especially hypnotists occur in early film long before Hannibal Lecter burst upon the scene The German Expressionist Dr Caligari is not cinema's first psychotic charlatan but he launches the stereotype of screen psychiatrists who are sicker than their patients Many film psychiatrists function as political metaphors while many more reflect real life clinical controversies This book discusses films with diabolical drugging unethical experimentation involuntary incarceration sexual exploitation lobotomies shock schlock conspiracy theories and military medicine to show how fact informs fantasy and when fantasy trumps reality Traditional asylum thrillers changed after hospital stays shortened and laws protected people against involuntary commitment Except for six short golden years from 1957 to 1963 portrayals of bad psychiatrists far outnumber good ones and this book tells how and why that was

Ingram Ruth Barton, 2014-11-11 Noted for his charisma talent and striking good looks director Rex Ingram 1893-1950 is ranked alongside D W Griffith Marshall Neilan and Erich von Stroheim as one of the greatest artists of the silent cinema Ingram briefly studied sculpture at the Yale University School of Art after emigrating from Ireland to the United States in 1911 but he was soon seduced by the new medium of moving pictures and abandoned his studies for a series of jobs in the film industry Over the next decade he became one of the most popular directors in Hollywood directing smash hits such as The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse 1921 The Prisoner of Zenda 1922 and Scaramouche 1923 In Rex Ingram Ruth Barton explores the life and legacy of the pioneering filmmaker following him from his childhood in Dublin to his life at the top of early Hollywood's A list and his eventual self imposed exile on the French Riviera Ingram excelled in bringing visions of adventure and fantasy to eager audiences and his films made stars of actors like Rudolph Valentino Ramon Novarro and Alice

Terry his second wife and leading lady With his name a virtual guarantee of box office success Ingram s career flourished in the 1920s despite the constraints of an increasingly regulated industry and the hostility of Louis B Mayer who regarded him as a dangerous maverick Barton examines the virtuoso director s career and controversial personal life including his conversion to Islam the rumors surrounding his ambiguous sexuality and the circumstances of his untimely death This definitive biography not only restores the visionary filmmaker to the spotlight but also provides an absorbing look at the daring and exhilarating days of silent era Hollywood

The Cinema of Isolation Martin F. Norden,1994 Filmmakers have often encouraged us to regard people with physical disabilities in terms of pity awe humor or fear as Others who somehow deserve to be isolated from the rest of society In this first history of the portrayal of physical disability in the movies Martin Norden examines hundreds of Hollywood movies and notable international ones finds their place within mainstream society and uncovers the movie industry s practices for maintaining the status quo keeping people with disabilities dependent and in their place Norden offers a dazzling array of physically disabled characters who embody or break out of the stereotypes that have both influenced and been symptomatic of society s fluctuating relationship with its physically disabled minority He shows us sweet innocents like Tiny Tim obsessive avengers like Quasimodo variations on the disabled veteran and many others He observes the arrival of a new set of stereotypes tied to the growth of science and technology in the 1970s and 1980s and underscores movies like My Left Foot and The Waterdance that display a newfound sensitivity Nordens in depth knowledge of disability history makes for a particularly intelligent and sensitive approach to this long overlooked issue in media studies

New Perspectives on Early Cinema History Mario Sluġan,Daniël Biltereyst,2022-06-02 In this book editors Mario Sluġan and Daniël Biltereyst present a theoretical reconceptualization of early cinema To do so they highlight the latest methods and tools for analysis and cast new light on the experience of early cinema through the application of these concepts and methods The international host of contributors evaluate examples of early cinema across the globe including The May Irwin Kiss 1896 Un homme de t tes 1900 The Terrible Turkish Executioner 1904 and Tom Tom the Piper s Son 1905 In doing so they address the periodization of the era emphasizing the recent boon in the availability of primary materials the rise of digital technologies the developments in new cinema history and the persistence of some conceptualizations as key incentives for rethinking early cinema in theoretical and methodological terms They go on to highlight cutting edge approaches to the study of early cinema including the use of the Mediathread Platform the formation of new datasets with the help of digital technologies and exploring the early era in non western cultures Finally the contributors revisit early cinema audiences and exhibition contexts by investigating some of the earliest screenings in Denmark and the US exploring the details of black cinema going in Harlem and examining exhibition practices in Germany

Disappearing Tricks

Matthew Solomon, 2010 An anti spiritualist medium stage magic and the beginnings of cinema The death of magic presentational performance and early film Behind the curtain M li s at the Th tre Robert Houdin Up to date magic theatrical conjuring and the trick film Houdini s actuality magic escaping the ghost house with moving pictures Lost in transition sensational fiction and the limits of narrative integration Epilogue Film in the Post-Media Age Ágnes Pethő, 2012-03-15

Ever since the centenary of cinema there have been intense discussions in the field of film studies about the imminent demise of the cinematic medium endless articles championing the spirit of genuine cinephilia have proclaimed the death of classical cinema and mourned the end of an era while new currents in media studies introduced such buzzwords into the discussions as remediation Bolter and Grusin media convergence Jenkins post media aesthetics Manovich or the virtual life of film Rodowick By the turn of the millennium the whole ecosystem of media had been radically altered through processes of hybridization and media convergence Some theorists even claim that now that the term medium has triumphed in the discussions around contemporary art and culture the actual media have already deceased as digitized imagery absorbs all media Moving images have entered the art galleries and new forms of inter art relationships have been forged They have also moved into the streets and our everyday life as a domesticated medium at everybody s reach into new private and public environments and into a fusion of both via the Internet Consequently should we speak of an all pervasive cinematic experience instead of a cinematic medium What really happens to film once its traditional medium has shape shifted into various digital forms and once its traditional locations institutions and usages have been uprooted What do these re locations and re configurations really entail What are the most important new genres in post media moving pictures Is it the web video is it 3D cinema is it the computer game that operates with moving image narratives is it the new vernacular database the DVD or the good old television adjusted to all these new forms How does theatrical cinema itself adapt to or reflect on these new image forms and technologies How can we interpret the convergence of older cinematic forms with an emerging digital aesthetics traceable in typical post media hosts of moving images These are only some of the major questions that the theoretical investigation and in depth analyses in this volume try to answer in an attempt at exploring not the disappearance of cinema but the blooming post media life of film Popular Ghosts Esther Peeren, Maria del Pilar Blanco, 2010-04-01

Haunting has long been a compelling element in popular culture and has become an influential category in academic engagements with politics economics and aesthetics While recent scholarship has used psychoanalysis and the Gothic as frameworks with which to study haunting this volume seeks to situate ghosts in the cultural imagination The chapters in Popular Ghosts are united by the impulse to theorize the cultural work that ghosts do within the trans historical contexts that comprise our understanding of everyday life These authors study the theoretical and aesthetic genealogies of the spectral while also commenting on the multiple everyday spaces that this category occupies Rather than looking to a single tradition or medium the essays in Popular Ghosts explore film novels photography television music social practices and political structures from different cultures to reopen the questions that surround our haunted sense of the everyday

H. G. Wells, Modernity and the Movies Keith Williams, 2007-12-01 This book investigates Wells's interest in cinema and related media technologies by placing it back into the contemporary cultural and scientific contexts giving rise to them It plugs a gap in understanding Wells's contribution to exploring and advancing the possibilities of cinematic narrative and its social and ideological impacts in the modern period Previous studies concentrate on adaptations this book accounts for the specifically proto cinematic techniques and concerns of Wells's texts It also focuses on contemporary film making in dialogue with his ideas Alongside Hollywood's later transactions it gives equal weight to neglected British and continental European dimensions Chapter 1 shows how early writings The Time Machine and short stories feature many kinds of radically defamiliarised vision These constitute imaginative speculations about the forms and potentials of moving image and electronic media Chapter 2 discusses the power of voyeurism absent presence and the disjunction of sound image reproduction implied in The Invisible Man and its topical politics updated in notable screen versions Chapter 3 extends this to dystopian warnings of systematic surveillance broadcasting of celebrity personae and post literate video culture in When the Sleeper Wakes a crucial template for urban futures on film Chapter 4 analyses Wells's belated return to screenwriting in the 1930s It accounts for his broadbrow ambition of mediating between popular and avant garde tendencies to promote his cause and its mixed results in Things to Come The Man Who Could Work Miracles etc Chapter 5 finally surveys Wells's legacy on both small and large screens It considers whether as well as being raided for scenarios for spectacular effects his subtexts still nourish an evolving tradition of alternative SF which duly critiques the innovations and applications of its host media
