The Making Of Democracy In South Africa:

The Politics of Race in Britain and South Africa Elizabeth Williams, 2015-03-18 The postwar government of South Africa led by H F Verwoerd implemented wide ranging racial segregation laws beginning the open policy of apartheid in one of Africa's most prosperous and internationally influential states During the apartheid era the British government faced an uneasy dilemma while repudiating apartheid laws it maintained an ambiguous stance towards the South African government As black South Africans were reduced to the status of non citizens after the 1970 Citizenship Act increasing numbers of exiles and fugitives were finding refuge in Britain which was now home to a growing anti apartheid protest movement This is the first book to examine the British support for the anti apartheid movement among its own black communities Elizabeth Williams highlights the connection between domestic anti racism struggles and the struggle in South Africa showing how black Britons who were themselves fighting racism in British society identified and expressed solidarity with black South Africans during the Apartheid years Williams further assesses the way in which Black communities in Britain viewed Margaret Thatcher's support of South Africa despite the international call for sanctions Featuring the work of acclaimed documentary photographer and civil rights activist Vanley Burke this will be an essential book for students and scholars of race British history international relations post colonial studies and South African history

Japan and South Africa in a Globalising World Chris Alden, 2019-05-24 This title was first published in 2003 From its position as one of Africa's major investors and a top provider of development assistance Tokyo's quiet diplomacy is having a growing impact on African affairs This book illuminates the challenges facing the prospective partnership and deconstructs the international political economy of this relationship Furthermore through a series of comparative studies it explores the relevance of the content of the East Asian experience of South Africa and the continent as a whole Features include an innovative study of the international political economy of an increasingly important relationship between Asia and Africa an original analysis of the comparative dimensions of East Asia and Southern Africa's respective experiences in development contextualizes the South African and Japanese experiences within the contemporary globalization debate The book is suitable for students and courses in international relations development studies and comparative politics as well as African and Asian studies

Reimagining Civic Education Doyle Stevick, 2007 This volume surveys the new global landscape for democratic civic education Rooted in qualitative research the contributors explore the many ways that notions of democracy and citizenship have been implemented in recent education policy curriculum and classroom practice around the world From Indonesia to the Spokane Reservation and El Salvador to Estonia these chapters reveal a striking diversity of approaches to political socialization in varying cultural and institutional contexts By bringing to bear the methodological conceptual and theoretical perspectives of qualitative research this book adds important new voices to one of education's most critical debates how to form democratic citizens in a changing world The Experience of Economic Redistribution Clarence

Tshitereke,2006-10-09 This book provides an analysis of the country's political economy in transition It documents the history of the gold mining industry's involvement in shaping the political landscape of South Africa and shows the degree to which the political transition was induced to put in place a new mode of regulation for capital accumulation In the process the victims of apartheid have now become victims of democracy's neo liberalism as the government is constrained from being developmental interventionist and redistributive South Africa Yearbook ,1999 South Africa: Limits To Change

Hein Marais,2001-09-08 Drawing on the rich structural and political understandings of radical South African intellectuals this book explains why the South African government has been unable to breach the boundaries of change erected by the privileged classes It reveals why it has adopted conservative economic policies and why the country's popular movement has failed to press home more radical opinions Hein Marais compellingly probes the hidden dynamics of South Africa's transition arguing that the democratic breakthrough was much less open ended than generally believed Ownership and

Governance of Companies Jonathan Michie,Vishnu Padayachee,2021-06-29 Apartheid South Africa was often thought to run in the interests of the business elite Yet 27 years after apartheid those business interests remain largely entrenched Why Did the South African business community play a role in engineering this outcome perhaps recognising the apartheid era was over and jumping ship in time Conversely the mission of the ANC was widely perceived to be to shift wealth and power into the hands of the whole community Yet despite black empowerment measures corporate ownership remains largely in white hands and certainly in the hands of an elite few even though no longer restricted to whites This picture is replicated across the global south where corporate ownership tends to be concentrated in the hands of an elite rather than being more democratically spread Why have alternative corporate forms not been pursued more vigorously with ownership in the hands of customers employees and local communities In the case of South Africa where the majority of customers and employees are black this could have delivered on the ANC's mission to replace the apartheid era with a democratic one in terms of wealth incomes and power as well as in terms of voting and civic rights This edited volume explores all these questions and looks at ways to align corporate forms with economic and social goals The chapters in this book were originally published as special issues of International Review of Applied Economics Development Planning in South Africa John

Reynolds,2018-06-15 Celebrated as a beacon of democracy and reconciliation many people in South Africa continue to live in severe poverty particularly in the Eastern Cape Province Backed by the United Nations Development Programme the Eastern

Cape s provincial government consequently launched an historically ambitious programme the Provincial Growth and Development Plan aimed at tackling the province s poverty unemployment and inequality over a ten year period in a radical policy overhaul Drawing on the author s first hand engagement with the planning process Development Planning in South Africa is an empirically rich study that utilises a strategic relational approach to explore the ways in which this unprecedented challenge was negotiated and eventually undermined by the South African state The first work of its kind the book provides an indispensable micro level study with profound implications for how state power is understood to be organised and expressed in state policy Relevant beyond South Africa to policy implementation in both developing and developed states globally the book is essential reading for students and scholars of government studies political economy development policy studies and social movements South African Economy Peter Brixen, Finn Tarp, 2005-09-27 1

Democracy's Education Harry C. Boyte, 2021-04-30 Today Americans feel powerless in the face of problems on every front Such feelings are acute in higher education where educators are experiencing an avalanche of changes cost cutting new technologies and demands that higher education be narrowly geared to the needs of today's workplace College graduates face mounting debt and uncertain job prospects and worry about a coarsening of the mass culture and the erosion of authentic human relationships Higher education is increasingly seen and often portrays itself as a ticket to individual success a private good not a public one Democracy's Education grows from the American Commonwealth Partnership a year long project to revitalize the democratic narrative of higher education that began with an invitation to Harry Boyte from the White House to put together a coalition aimed at strengthening higher education as a public good The project was launched at the beginning of 2012 to mark the 150th anniversary of the Morrill Act which created land grant colleges Beginning with an essay by Harry C Boyte Reinventing Citizenship as Public Work which challenges educators and their partners to claim their power to shape the story of higher education and the civic careers of students the collection brings world famous scholars senior government officials and university presidents together with faculty students staff community organizers and intellectuals from across the United States and South Africa and Japan Contributors describe many constructive responses to change already taking place in different kinds of institutions and present cutting edge ideas like civic science civic studies citizen professionalism and citizen alumni Authors detail practical approaches to making change from new faculty and student roles to changes in curriculum and student life and strategies for everyday citizen empowerment Overall the work develops a democratic story of education urgently needed to address today's challenges from climate change to growing inequality Politics in South Africa Tom Lodge, 2003 This well informed and crisply written introduction will appeal to both students of contemporary politics and general readers interested in the new democracy Book jacket The Decline of the South African Economy Stuart Jones, 2002-01-01 South Africa's leading economists adopt within this volume a sectoral approach in their analysis of the drastic changes that have occurred within the South African economy since 1970 The book illustrates how despite its sophisticated infrastructure the South African economy has shared in the economic decline resulting from misguided economic policies that has been the experience of Sub Saharan Africa The contributors argue that the failure of manufacturing to maintain the country's economic growth once the output of the gold mines began to decline is central to an understanding of events and outcomes in the economy Government policy towards manufacturing has played a major part in the decline of the South African economy but this has however tended to be overlooked as a result of the turbulence generated by the political events unfolding in South Africa Public Policymaking in a Globalized World Robin J. Lewis, 2018-01-19 The inexorable advent of globalization has transformed the public policymaking process into a multifaceted challenge that transcends traditional policymaking boundaries and forces scholars, experts and practitioners to redefine their field in terms of both theory and practice. While every policy dilemma has a specific location in time and space, most significant policy issues—climate change, food and water, economic development, global pandemics, terrorism and violence, and migration—to name just a few—now require a collective framing of the problem and a collaborative effort to take effective action. The essays in Public Policymaking in a Globalized World offer valuable insights into how policymaking is evolving from a circumscribed field of inquiry into a truly global dialogue that can help stakeholders to focus on key issues that threaten the survival of our planet Confronting Economic Insecurity in Africa Rajendra Paratian, Sukti Dasgupta, 2005 Focuses on three themes: the prevalence of basic socio-economic insecurity, informalization and labour market insecurity, and the increasing marginalization of vulnerable groups.
