Comparative Mammalian Cytogenetics Kurt Bernischke, 2012-12-06 Ten years ago a symposium on Cytotaxonomy was held in London Proc Linn Soc Lond 169 110 1958 in which a first attempt was made to bring together various disciplines to discuss advances of mammalian cytogenetics and to put them into proper context with the sciences of evolution and taxonomy The introductory remarks by V B Turrill to that symposium essentially an admonishment to be tolerant of the shortcomings of our respective disciplines would be a most appropriate beginning to this conference as well However the meeting held at Hanover was conceived more along the lines of remarks made by R B Seymour Se ell in his presidential address to the same society It has been said that scientists in this search for truth are nowadays too much concerned with the accumulation of facts and make too little use of their imagination in their attempts to explain such facts as they have accumulated In The continental drift theory and the distribution of the Copepoda ibid 166 149 1956 Tith this as a background two years ago we held the first of a series of loosely structured conferences on reproductive failure in the relaxing atmosphere of this small New England college community The manuscripts of that meeting have been published Comparative Aspects of Reproductive Failure Springer Verlag New York Inc 1967.
