The Man Inside A Novel:

The Man Inside Graham Apthorpe, 2019-07-05 Graham Apthorpe's account of the Cowra outbreak is superb. Narrated in a fresh way in elegant and original prose and with a wonderful gift for taking the unexpected angle it does great service to this astonishing Australian Japanese event and will have a honoured place in the canon of fascinating works on the incident. Thomas Keneally The War in the Pacific has turned thousands of the previously invincible Japanese soldiers who are now being captured in New Guinea and interned at the Cowra Prisoner of War Camp. Unlike other POWs the traditional Japanese Bushido Code and their fanaticism leaves them ill equipped for surrender and imprisonment. Ashamed, subdued and sullen one man Second Lieutenant Maseo Naka is an exception. Obstructing the Australian authorities at every turn he was the first Japanese soldier to escape from Cowra. This action becomes the precursor for the more than 1000 Japanese prisoners who escape in the bloodiest Breakout of World War II that ultimately saw 234 Japanese and four Australian guards killed. His escape and the defiance, guilt and shame that motivated it led to his court martial. Naka nevertheless stands out as very human, another tragic victim of the global inferno that was World War II. Adhering to the Samurai Code of Bushido he doggedly undertakes actions that he views as necessary for the maintenance of his honour. Through the insights of those around Naka together with new research including the personal accounts of Australian interrogators the author shows how this handsome loner provided the impetus for the dramatic events in the early hours of August 5, 1944 where hundreds of Japanese soldiers stormed the Camp defences for honour or death.

The Man in the Machine Marvin Mudrick, 2018-01-01 The Man in the Machine consists of lively iconoclastic assessments of major writers and critics by Marvin Mudrick about whom the critic Roger Sale wrote "T. S. Eliot was not so good a reviewer as Marvin Mudrick." The book takes its title from Mudrick's introduction in which he writes about Edgar Allan Poe's pervasive influence on modern literature. Poe had the effrontery to palm off on us the silliest, least interesting and most influential of twentieth century critical dogmas that books are machines with nobody inside. Writing about such masters as Kafka, D. H. Lawrence, Jane Austen, Trollope, Saint Simon, Conrad, Chekhov and Solzhenitsyn, Mudrick shows us the pyrotechnics that can occur when a towering intellect meets characters from the past with all dogma and theories of literature tossed to the wind.

The Man in Black: An Historical Novel of the Days of Queen Anne G.P.R. James, 2018-08-15 Excerpt: Let me take you into an old-fashioned country house built by architects of the early reign of James the First. It had all the peculiarities I might almost say the oddities of that particular epoch in the building art. Chimneys innumerable; had it Heaven only knows what rooms they ventilated, but their name must have been legion. The windows were not fewer in number and much more irregular for the chimneys were gathered together in some sort of symmetrical arrangement while the windows were scattered all over the various faces of the building with no apparent arrangement at all.

The Man Inside M. E. Chaber,1970 The Man in the Moss Phil Rickman,2014-01-01 The discovery of an Iron Age body preserved in the peat bogs surrounding the village of Bridelow is one of the finds of the century Though dead for two millennia he remains perfectly preserved in black peat The Man in the Moss is one of the most fascinating finds of the century but for the isolated Pennine community of Bridelow his removal is a sinister sign A danger to the ancient spiritual tradition maintained curiously by the Mothers Union In the weeks approaching Samhain the Celtic feast of the dead tragedy strikes again in Bridelow Scottish folk singer Moira Cairns and American film producer Mungo Macbeth discover their Celtic roots are deeper and darker than they imagined And as fundamentalist zealots of both Christian and satanic persuasions challenge an older gentler faith the village faces a natural disaster unknown since the reign of Henry VIII

Toward a Science of Man in Society K.W. Kapp, 2012-12-06 THIS study is concerned with the search for a new unity of social knowledge and social inquiry As such it is addressed to all those who see in the present compartmentalization and specialization of the social sciences the reason for the bewildering proliferation of subject matters the preoccupation with trivia and the failure to make the maximum use of our knowledge for human welfare More specifically I am addressing this book to those who are dealing with interdisciplinary problems such as the study of foreign areas the analysis of sociocultural change economic development of backward economies and the planning and teaching of integrated courses in the social sciences The book suggests an answer to the question How can our specialized knowledge about man and society be unified As such the study reflects the conviction that all scientific knowledge in order to make the greatest possible contribution to human welfare must become comprehensive in character In fact such knowledge differs from popular and common sense understanding precisely by the fact that it is systematically formulated and held together in terms of a few unifying conceptual frameworks Indeed all scientific understanding is above all an effort to simplify by unifying what has long appeared as unrelated and disparate Those who believe that compartmentalization and specialization are the royal road to success in the social sciences may find this an irritating book

The Art and Science of Making the New Man in Early 20th-Century Russia Yvonne Howell, Nikolai Krementsov, 2021-12-02 The idea that morally mentally and physically superior new men might replace the currently existing mankind has periodically seized the imagination of intellectuals leaders and reformers throughout history This volume offers a multidisciplinary investigation into how the new man was made in Russia and the early Soviet Union in the first third of the 20th century The traditional narrative of the Soviet new man as a creature forged by propaganda is challenged by the strikingly new and varied case studies presented here The book focuses on the interplay between the rapidly developing experimental life sciences such as biology medicine and psychology and countless cultural products ranging from film and fiction dolls and museum exhibits to pedagogical projects sculptures and exemplary agricultural fairs With contributions from scholars based in the United States Canada the UK Germany and Russia the picture that emerges is emphatically more complex contradictory and suggestive of strong parallels with other new man visions in Europe and elsewhere In contrast to previous interpretations that focused largely on the apparent disconnect between utopian new man rhetoric and the harsh realities of everyday life in the Soviet Union this volume brings to light the surprising historical trajectories of new man visions their often obscure origins acclaimed and forgotten champions unexpected and complicated results and mutual interrelations In short the volume is a timely examination of a recurring theme in modern history when dramatic advancements in science and technology conjoin with anxieties about the future to fuel dreams of a new and improved mankind

The Man in the Red Coat Julian Barnes, 2020-02-18 From the Man Booker Prize winning author of The Sense of an Ending a rich witty revelatory tour of Belle poque Paris told through the remarkable life story of the pioneering surgeon Samuel Pozzi A pleasure to read in every way The New York Times Book Review In the summer of 1885 three Frenchmen arrived in London for a few days intellectual shopping a prince a count and a commoner with an Italian name In time each of these men would achieve a certain level of renown but who were they then and what was the significance of their sojourn to England Answering these questions Julian Barnes unfurls the stories of their lives which play out against the backdrop of the Belle poque in Paris Our guide through this world is Samuel Pozzi the society doctor free thinker and man of science with a famously complicated private life who was the subject of one of John Singer Sargent's greatest portraits In this vivid tapestry of people Henry James Sarah Bernhardt Oscar Wilde Proust James Whistler among many others place and time we see not merely an epoch of glamour and pleasure but surprisingly one of violence prejudice and nativism with more parallels to our own age than we might imagine

The Man in the Red Coat is at once a fresh portrait of the Belle poque an illuminating look at the longstanding exchange of ideas between Britain and France and a life of a man who lived passionately in the moment but whose ideas and achievements were far ahead of his time
