New Labour Mark Bevir, 2012-12-06 New Labour is the most innovative and powerful political movement in Britain today. However, New Labour A Critique argues that its apparent pragmatism disguises an ideological commitment to particular forms of social science, deploying new institutionalism and communitarianism to respond to the New Right. Bevir traces the impact of these forms of social science on the ideas and policies of New Labour, paying particular attention to the welfare state and the economy. New Labour, the new institutionalism and communitarianism typically objectify aspects of the social world to sustain claims to expert knowledge. Bevir defends and enacts an alternative interpretive approach to social science. This interpretive approach inspires a critique of New Labour as a contingent reworking of a particular socialist tradition rather than the necessary or pragmatic response that it portrays itself as. Studies on the History of Papermaking in Britain

Alfred H. Shorter, 2024-08-07 The late A. H. Shorter is widely acknowledged for his pioneering work on the history of the British paper-making industry, and his books continue to provide the basis for further research. The present volume brings together all his many articles hitherto scattered across a variety of specialist publications and often virtually inaccessible. In these studies, Dr Shorter tackled the subject with a broader scope than was possible in his books; in particular, they cover the period after 1800, tracing the changing geographical pattern of the industry. They also contain a wealth of detailed information on papermaking across Britain, notably in the counties of southwest England, that is impossible to find elsewhere and is now made accessible through the comprehensive indexes to the volume. Le regret A. H. Shorter est largement reconnu pour ses travaux originaux sur l'histoire de l'industrie papetière britannique et ses ouvrages continuent d'être la base de toutes recherches supplémentaires. Le présent volume rassemble la totalité de ses nombreux articles jusqu'à présent dispersés sur tout un éventail de publications spécialisées et bien trop souvent inaccessibles. Au travers de ces études, l'auteur s'attaque au sujet sur un rayon plus large que cela n'avait été possible dans ses livres, couvrant en particulier la période après 1800 et traitant la structure géographique de l'industrie. Le recueil contient aussi abondance d'informations détaillées sur la fabrication du papier partout en Grande-Bretagne, notamment dans les comtés du sud-ouest de l'Angleterre, et qu'il est impossible de trouver ailleurs. Documentary Arabic Private and Business Letters on Papyrus

Eva Mira Grob, 2010 Arabic letters on papyrus challenge the modern reader. There are few to no diacritical dots to distinguish homographs, no systematic spacing between single words, and in the majority of cases a low degree of graphical structuring. However, contemporary readers usually read and understand these documents easily, probably because the recipient of a letter knew what to expect. The letters are formulaic, and their information packaging follows an algorithm typical for their time and content. Here, formulaic letter writing means not only the reuse of the same formulae or topoi but expressing thoughts in a predictable linguistic way and order, both as a matter of readability and as one of adequacy and politeness. The main concern of this work is to discover these unwritten rules and norms behind Arabic letter writing on papyrus. Proceedings Manchester (England). City
