Supplement For Africa:

Reference Guide to Africa Alfred Kagan, Atoma Batoma, 2014-10-16 This third edition of the Reference Guide to Africa explains the most important resources for the study of the continent of Africa. It contains a general sources section and a larger disciplinary oriented section. All sources are annotated. A new edition is sorely needed since the last edition was published nine years ago. The previous editions have been successfully used in research libraries worldwide since 1999 and it has been used to teach several African studies research courses. The book provides an orientation for researching almost any topic in the arts, humanities, and social sciences concerning the continent of Africa and all of its countries and ethnic groups. The first part explains and lists portals, databases, bibliographies, indexes, guides, encyclopedias, country sources, biography, primary sources, government publications, and statistics. The second part presents 16 subject oriented chapters mostly in the arts, humanities, and social sciences from agriculture and food security to women studies. It covers sources that broadly cover the continent or in some cases only North Africa and the Middle East. It generally excludes sources limited to one country or region of Africa except for North Africa because of the nature of the literature. One third of the sources in this edition are new and nearly half of them are available in electronic format. There are author, title, and subject indexes. This unique work is intended for students, teachers, librarians, and researchers. It likely will be used most by reference librarians and teachers for students in high school through graduate studies. It will also be used independently by undergraduate and graduate students. It can be used to answer simple reference questions, provide the resources for an undergraduate paper, or for comprehensive work by advanced students and researchers.

The African Studies Companion Hans Zell, 2021-11-15 Published in dual print and electronic formats, this is a new edition of a much acclaimed reference source that brings together a wide range of sources of information in the African studies field, covering both print and electronic sources. It evaluates the best online resources, the major general reference tools in print format, current bibliographies, and indexing services; biographical, cartographic, statistical, and economic resources, as well as film and video resources. Additionally, there are separate sections on African studies library collections and repositories throughout the world, a directory of over 250 African studies journals, listings of news sources, profiles of publishers active in the African studies field, dealers and distributors of African studies materials, African studies societies and associations, major African and international organizations, donor agencies, and foundations, awards and prizes in African studies, electronic mailing lists, and discussion forums, and more.

Chinese Investment in Africa David N. Abdulai,2016-11-03 China leads the world when it comes to investment and influence on the African continent The extent of Chinese investment in Africa is well known and much has been written about China s foray into Africa However most of the available material has approached this issue by looking at China as the New Colonialist more interested in Africa s vast natural resources than working in partnership for sustained development Whilst China s interest in Africa s resources is evident it is just half of the story China s foray into Africa goes beyond its appetite for natural resources and into the realm of geo politics and international political economics For example China is all too aware of how it can cultivate Africa s support on global issues at the United Nations and at other international fora Breaking free from the binary arguments and analysis which characterize this topic Professor Abdulai presents a refreshing perspective that China s foray into Africa can produce win win outcomes for China and Africa if Africans really know what they want from China Hitherto each African country has tended to engage China with an individual bucket list acting in isolation and not as part of a wider continent indeed Africa and the African Union does not yet have a coordinated policy towards China For Africa to be able to do that it needs to know where China is coming from the factors that contributed to its awakening and success and the benefits and possible pitfalls of this foray in order to better position itself for a win win engagement with China This book will be a valuable read for policy makers think tanks and students of Africa China studies programmes alike
