H.M. Pinedo,J. Verweij,2012-12-06 One of the major advances of the last decade concerning the treatment of patients with soft tissue sarcomas is that an increased number of patients are being discussed in multidisciplinary teams prior to the initial treatment The present volume on soft tissue sarcomas in the series Cancer Treatment and Research reflects the multidisciplinary approach with a focus on recent developments The availability of new histopathologic techniques has reduced the number of unclassified sarcomas and has further increased the importance of the histopathologist in providing estimates of the prognosis of the patient as well as data for the planning of treatment strategy Further data for this strategy will be provided by diagnostic imaging In this field the role of magnetic resonance imaging has been further defined Of utmost importance is the recent trend toward consensus in staging The modification of the staging system of the American Joint Commission for Cancer Staging and End Results Reporting brings the possibility of a single staging system within reach in the next decade As surgery still provides the only chance for cure the importance of being the most sparing as possible is obvious For this reason radiotherapy has been applied with success The introduction of relatively new radiation techniques is therefore being observed with interest Soft Tissue Sarcomas: New Developments in the Multidisciplinary Approach to Treatment

these treatment programs are offering better results or whether the natural history of sarcomas has changed The International Symposium on Sarcomas was held at Innisbrook Resort Tarpon Springs Florida October 8 10 1987 This was the first international symposium to date involving all of the disciplines treating sarcomas including pathologists orthopaedic surgeons general surgeons medical oncologists pediatric oncologists and radiation oncologists The Symposium brought together a number of specialists working in the clinical field of sarcomas for a presentation of their specific treatment programs and their results The presentations were followed by panel discussions to stimulate educational debate as to the different forms of treatment for sarcomas and to formulate some conformity in control of disease control of spread and ultimate function for the patient James R Ryan M D Soft Tissue Sarcomas Laurence H.
