The Irish Round Tower Origins And Architecture Explored:

The Irish Round Tower Brian Lalor, 1999 The remains of over 70 Christian early medieval Round Towers survive in Ireland with the bulk of them located north of the Dingle Peninsula and south of Lough Neagh Many of those that remain are in association with surviving monastic settlements and are sited in some of the most beautiful and historic areas of the country

Ireland's Round Towers Brian Lalor, 2016 A guide to Ireland's unique form of architecture the round tower Fully illustrated this book examines the architectural design setting and function of these towers The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane, 2012 This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries it offers students researchers and the general public a reliable up to date and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture

Mysteries of the Round Towers Christopher Freeland, 2025-02-04 Reveals how the round towers were built over the crossing of underground waterways and with every stone in magnetic polarity alignment Explains how the siting and magnetic properties of the towers energetically enhances the surrounding environment akin to feng shui and vastu Presents a guide to the energetic principles behind the creation and purpose of the round towers In Ireland and to a lesser extent Scotland in seemingly unconnected locations there are more than 60 enigmatic round towers often 90 feet tall or higher and nearly uniform in their construction Believed to have been built between the 7th and 10th centuries CE the Roman Catholic Church long ago laid claim to them Yet who built them and why is completely unknown and even their date of construction is debatable Presenting a professional dowser's radiesthetic and magnetic analysis of the round towers of Ireland Christopher Freeland examines previously unexplored yet fundamental facts common to all of the round towers including geographic orientation connections to underground waterways historical records and the magnetic polarity of the stones themselves Explaining the basics of radiesthesia the energetic science of dowsing the author shows how the locations of the towers have far reaching ramifications for the health of humans animals and plants in their surrounding areas His in person examinations reveal how systematic magnetic orientation of the stones in these towers walls the unusual construction techniques of the unknown architects and the resulting access to Earth's telluric forces further enhance their energetic effects He explores the types of stone used speculates how many towers once existed and firmly debunks the assertion that they were built by the Church Offering a guide to the creation and purpose of the round towers Freeland shows that we can once again embrace the ancient wisdom of our ancestors about the flow of energy in the Earth and bring back balance and harmony through understanding Nature's alchemy of stone water and magnetism

Approaches to Religion and Mythology in Celtic Studies Alexandra Bergholm, Katja Ritari, 2009-03-26 This publication is the first interdisciplinary collection of articles focusing on religion and mythology in Celtic studies The first part presents various current viewpoints within the field from scholars of history art history and literary studies In addition to more traditional approaches the other two parts of the book illustrate the possibilities of applying new theories and methods from the discipline of Comparative Religion to the analysis of Celtic materials They introduce previously unpublished results of the international research network The Power of Words in Traditional European Cultures and the research project Religion Society and Culture Defining the Sacred in Early Irish Literature funded by the Academy of Finland at University of Helsinki The present collection serves as a significant contribution towards a better understanding of issues that have not been previously brought together in a single volume As such it is of interest to scholars in Celtic studies as well as other related disciplines

A New History of Ireland: Prehistoric and early Ireland Theodore William Moody, Francis X. Martin, Francis John Byrne, 1976 In this first volume of the Royal Irish Academy's multi volume A New History of Ireland a wide range of national and international scholars in every field of study have produced studies of the archaeology art culture geography geology history language law literature music and related topics that include surveys of all previous scholarship combined with the latest research findings to offer readers the first truly comprehensive and authoritative account of Irish history from the dawn of time down to the coming of the Normans in 1169 Included in the volume is a comprehensive bibliography of all the themes discussed in the narrative together with copious illustrations and maps and a thorough index

The Rise and Fall of Christian Ireland Crawford Gribben, 2021 The Irish experience of Christianity has never been simple or uncomplicated Here Crawford Gribben describes the ancient emergence long dominance sudden division and recent decline of Ireland's most important religion as a way of telling the history of the island and its peoples from earliest times to the present day

Irish Catholic identities Oliver P. Rafferty, 2015-06-01 What does it mean to be Irish Are the predicates Catholic and Irish so inextricably linked that it is impossible to have one and not the other Does the process of secularisation in modern times mean that Catholicism is no longer a touchstone of what it means to be Irish Indeed was such a paradigm ever true These are among the fundamental issues addressed in this work which examines whether distinct identity formation can be traced over time The book delineates the course of historical developments which complicated the process of identity formation in the Irish context when by turns Irish Catholics saw themselves as battling against English hegemony or the Protestant Reformation Without doubt the Reformation era cast a long shadow over how Irish Catholics would see themselves But the process of identity formation was of much longer duration Newly available in paperback this work traces the elements which have shaped how the Catholic Irish identified themselves and explores the political religious and cultural dimensions of the complex picture which is Irish Catholic identity The essays represent a systematic attempt to explore the fluidity of the components that make up Catholic identity in Ireland

Working with Limestone Vibeke Olson, 2011 The papers collected in this volume present the depth and scope of recent scholarship in the field through a wide ranging overview of the state of the discipline of medieval stone studies They address such methodological approaches to the study of limestone as the use of neutron activation analysis to determine quarries of origin issues of labor and transportation as well as issues faced in the cleaning and conservation of limestone This volume is the first comprehensive study in English that investigates limestone as an essential component of large scale medieval artistic production and as such it is a valuable resource for both students and scholars in the field Fortified Settlements in Early Medieval Europe Neil Christie, Hajnalka Herold, 2016-08-31 Twenty three contributions by leading archaeologists from across Europe explore the varied forms functions and significances of fortified settlements in the 8th to 10th centuries AD These could be sites of strongly martial nature upland retreats monastic enclosures rural seats island bases or urban nuclei But they were all expressions of control of states frontiers lands materials communities and ones defined by walls ramparts or enclosing banks Papers run from Irish cashels to Welsh and Pictish strongholds Saxon burhs Viking fortresses Byzantine castra Carolingian creations Venetian barricades Slavic strongholds and Bulgarian central places and coverage extends fully from northwest Europe to central Europe the northern Mediterranean and the Black Sea Strongly informed by recent fieldwork and excavations but drawing also where available on the documentary record this important collection provides fully up to date reviews and analyses of the archaeology of the distinctive settlement forms that characterized Europe in the Early Middle Ages
