The Making Of The South Wales Landscape:

The Making of the South Wales Landscape Moelwyn I. Williams, 1975 British and Irish Archaeology, 1994 The Georgian Triumph, 1700-1830 Michael Reed, 2024-11-01 In The Georgian Triumph 1700 1830 originally published in 1983 Michael Reed re creates the ambience of eighteenth century Britain a period of astonishing change and paradoxically of massive stability Both the change and the stability were reflected in the landscape Dr Reed explores the visual impact on the landscape of the adoption of new ideas and practices These range from the acceptance of the Palladian style of architecture and its gradual replacement by a taste for Gothic Picturesque or Chinese designs to the practical exploration of the power of atmospheric pressure and improvements in road making techniques and the design of water wheels He describes the feel of what it must have been like to live through the years which saw the beginning of the end for the old medieval society and the birth of a modern industrial nation Traditional ways of life were slowly abandoned as ancient open fields were enclosed and divided up by straight roads and hedgerows Changes in the moral climate led to the gradual disappearance of village feasts and the suppression of cockfighting and bull running while other more acceptable pastimes such as horse racing and cricket acquired rules and institutions The book shows that these changes were brought about by people at work and at play going about their everyday affairs they wrote and re wrote upon the landscape the autobiography of the society of which they formed a part reflecting its aspirations ideals and achievements World Heritage Cultural Landscapes: A Handbook for Conservation and Management gratuit, 2009 Landscape and Settlement in Medieval Wales Nancy Edwards, 1997 Recent research and fieldwork on the settlement and landscape of Medieval Wales presented at the 1994 meeting of the Welsh Archaeological Congress is here set down for all to read The contributions are Landscape and settlement Nancy Edwards Wetland reclamation on the Gwent levels Stephen Rippon Landscape of Gwent and the Marches as seen through the Charters C Hurley The royal courts of the Welsh princes in Gwynedd AD 400 1283 David Longley The locations of the royal courts of 13th century Gwynedd N Johnston Aerial photography and historic landscape on the Great Orme Llandudno M Aris Place names and vegetation history as a key to understanding settlement in the Conwy Valley D Hooke Transhumance and settlement on the Welsh uplands A view from the Black Mountain A Ward Historic settlement surveys in Clwyd and Powys Robert Silvester Post conquest and pre conquest villages in Pembrokeshire J Kissock Small boroughs in south west Wales K Murphy New Radnor the topography of a planned town R J Silvester Medieval Wales a summing up Christopher Dyer

Society and Economy in Modern Britain 1700-1850 Richard Brown, 2002-11-01 For both contemporaries and later historians the Industrial Revolution is viewed as a turning point in modern British history There is no doubt that change occurred but what was the nature of that change and how did it affect rural and urban society Beginning with an examination of the nature of history and Britain in 1700 this volume focuses on the economic and social aspects of the Industrial Revolution Unlike many previous textbooks on the same period it emphasizes British history and deals with developments in

Wales Scotland and Ireland in their own right It is the emphasis on the diversity not the uniformity of experience on continuities as well as change in this crucial period of development which makes this volume distinctive In his companion title Richard Brown completes his examination of the period and looks at the changes that took place in Britain s political system and in its religious affiliations The Companion Guide to Wales David Barnes,2005 Wales is a country where small in beautiful a cultural tradition rooted in the austerity and erudition of the Celtic saints a tradition more confirmed than repudiated by the Reformation and is best appreciated by lovers of small things The delights of Wales are understated and cumulative small country churches rather than great city cathedrals a labyrinth of byeays away form the few highways details of vernacular achitecture rather than grand edifices Edward I s thirteenth century castles being the exception that proves the rule

The History of the Countryside Oliver Rackham,2020-03-19 From its earliest origins to the present day this award winning beautifully written book describes the endlessly changing character of Britain s countryside A classic Richard Mabey Exploring the natural and man made features of the land fields highways hedgerows fens marshes rivers heaths coasts woods and wood pastures he shows conclusively and unforgettably how they have developed over the centuries In doing so he covers a wealth of related subjects to provide a fascinating account of the sometimes subtle and sometimes radical ways in which people fauna flora climate soils and other physical conditions have played their part in the shaping of the countryside One thing is certain no one would be wise to write further on our natural history or to make films about it without thinking very hard about what is contained in these authoritative pages COUNTRY LIFE

Writing Welsh History Huw Pryce,2022 The first book to explore how the history of Wales and the Welsh has been written over the past fifteen hundred years analysing and contextualizing historical writing from Gildas in the sixth century to recent global approaches to open new perspectives both on the history of Wales and on understandings of Wales and the Welsh

The Archaeology of Australia's History Graham Connah,1993-12-13 The material world of European settlement in Australia has been uncovered not only by historians but also by the work of archaeologists These archaeological inquiries have revealed new pictures of the public and private lives of Australians at home and at work This book previously published as a hardback under the title Of the Hut I Buildd now in paperback presents the insights gained from such investigations and makes them available to a wide audience Historical archaeology is broad ranging and this book discusses the first European towns including those settlements that failed the archaeological traces left by the convicts and archaeological evidence of the agricultural maritime industrial and manufacturing activities of early Australia Graham Connah also examines the evidence of earliest contact between Europeans and Aboriginal people

Church and State in Modern Britain 1700-1850 Richard Brown,2002-01-04 In this the second part of his history of the Industrial Revolution Richard Brown examines the political and religious developments which took place in Britain between the 1780s and 1840s in terms of the aristocratic elite and through the expression of alternative radical ideologies Opening with a discussion of the nature of history and of Britain in

1700 it goes on to consider Britain's foreign policy the emergence of the modern state and the mid century crisis of the 1840s Unlike many previous works it emphasises British not just English history It is this diversity of experience and the focus on continuity as well as change women as well as men that makes this a distinctive text Students will also find the theoretical foundations of historical narrative and analysis clearly explained

An Historical Geography of Railways in Great Britain and Ireland David Turnock, 2016-12-05 Although a great deal has been published on the economic social and engineering history of nineteenth century railways the work of historical geographers has been much less conspicuous This overview by David Turnock goes a long way towards restoring the balance It details every important aspect of the railway's influence on spatial distribution of economic and social change providing a full account of the nineteenth century geography of the British Isles seen in the context of the railway The book reviews and explains the shape of the developing railway network beginning with the pre steam railways and connections between existing road and water communications and the new rail lines The author also discusses the impact of the railways on the patterns of industrial urban and rural change throughout the century Throughout the historical geography of Ireland is treated in equal detail to that of Great Britain

Man and the Natural World Keith Thomas, 1991-09-26 Man and the Natural World an encyclopaedic study of man's relationship to animals and plants is completely engrossing It explains everything why we eat what we do why we plant this and not that why we keep pets why we like some animals and not others why we kill the things we kill and love the things we love It is often a funny book and one to read again and again Paul Theroux Sunday Times The English historian Keith Thomas has revealed modes of thought and ways of life deeply strange to us Hilary Mantel New York Review of Books A treasury of unusual historical anecdote a delight to read and a pleasure to own Auberon Waugh Sunday Telegraph A dense and rich work the return to the grass roots of our own environmental convictions is made by the most enchantingly minor paths Ronald Blythe Guardian

The Company Town John Garner, 1992-10-01 Built by industrialists whose early businesses contributed to the escalation of the Industrial Revolution company towns flourished in countries that embraced capitalism and open market trading In many instances the company town came to symbolize the wrecking of the environment especially in places associated with extractive industries such as mining and lumber milling Some resident industrialists however took a genuine interest in the welfare of their work forces and in a number of instances hired architects to provide a model environment Overtaken by time these towns were either abandoned or caught up in suburban growth The most thorough going and only international assessment of the company town this collection of essays by specialists and authorities of each region offers a balanced account of architectural and social history and provides a better understanding of the architectural and urban experiences of the early industrial age

People, Land and Time Brian Roberts, Peter Atkins, Ian Simmons, 2014-05-12 This major new text provides an introduction to the interaction of culture and society with the landscape and environment It offers a broad based view of this theme by drawing upon the varied traditions of landscape interpretation from the traditional cultural geography of scholars such as Carl Sauer to the new cultural geography which has emerged in the 1990s The book comprises three major interwoven strands First fundamental factors such as environmental change and population pressure are addressed in order to sketch the contextual variables of landscapes production Second the evolution of the humanised landscape is discussed in terms of processes such as clearing wood the impact of agriculture the creation of urban industrial complexes and is also treated in historical periods such as the pre industrial the modern and the post modern From this we can see the cultural and economic signatures of human societies at different times and places Finally examples of landscape types are selected in order to illustrate the ways in which landscape both represents and participates in social change The authors use a wide range of source material ranging from place names and pollen diagrams to literature and heritage monuments Superbly illustrated throughout it is essential reading for first year undergraduates studying historical geography human geography cultural geography or landscape history

The Landscape of Britain Michael Reed, 2002-11-01 The Landscape of Britain has a uniquely rich historical diversity In this book explains the processes at work in the evolution of the landscape pointing out examples of surviving evidence from the past The landscape of late twentieth century Britain is the end product of some ten thousand years of human effort directed not only towards satisfying basic physical needs for food and shelter but also towards expressing profound spiritual and intellectual aspirations whether by means of burial mounds or churches schools or monasteries The author shows how each generation makes its own individual contribution without being able entirely to erase those of its predecessors however remote or distant in time

New Cultural Landscapes Maggie Roe, Ken Taylor, 2014-01-21 While historical and protected landscapes have been well studied for years the cultural significance of ordinary landscapes is now increasingly recognised This groundbreaking book discusses how contemporary cultural landscapes can be and are created and recognised The book challenges common concepts of cultural landscapes as protected or special landscapes that include significant buildings or features Using case studies from around the world it questions the usual measures of judgement related to cultural landscapes and instead focuses on landscapes that are created planned or simply evolve as a result of changing human cultures management policy and practice Each contribution analyses the geographical and human background of the landscape and policies and management strategies that impact upon it and defines the meanings of cultural landscape in its particular context Taken together they establish a new paradigm in the study of landscapes in all forms

APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service, Welsh Environments in Contemporary Poetry Matthew Jarvis, 2021-03-15 Welsh Environments in Contemporary Poetry examines the question of how recent English language poetry from Wales has responded to the diverse physical environments of Wales The first volume to offer a sustained assessment of Welsh poetry in English within the context of recent developments in environmental literary criticism this book also draws on aspects of human geography to explore the rich contemporary poetics of Welsh space and place Opening with an examination of poets from the 1960s as well as the early work of R S Thomas Welsh Environments in Contemporary Poetry subsequently concentrates on the poetry of writers who have come to prominence since the 1970s Gillian Clarke Ruth Bidgood Robert Minhinnick Mike Jenkins Christine Evans and Ian Davidson Close reading of key texts reveals the way in which these writers variously create Welsh places landscapes and environments fashioning rural and urban spaces into poetic geographies that are both abundantly physical and inescapably cultural Far from reducing Wales to mere scenery the poetry that emerges from this book engages with the environments of Wales not just for their own sake but as a crucial way of exploring key issues in Welsh culture from the negotiation of female identity in a land of masculine myths to the exploration of Welsh space in a global context
