The Man Who Walked In His Head

Glenn Knight

The Man Who Walked In His Head:

Myths and Tales from the White Mountain Apache Pliny Earle Goddard, These myths and tales are the free translations of texts recorded in the dialect of the White Mountain Apache The texts themselves with word for word translations follow as Part IV of the volume They were recorded with one exception during the winter of 1910 as a part of the studies made in the Southwest under the yearly grant of Mr Archer M Huntington The creation myth secured from Noze differs in important incidents from the versions given above from the San Carlos as well as from versions secured from other White Mountain Apache It should not be assumed that these differences are tribal it is more probable that they are individual since forms from the San Carlos and Navajo are closely similar to each other The greater number of the remaining narratives were secured from the father of Frank Crockett the interpreter employed Several of these are ceremonial and religious in their character and probably would not have been given except for the son s influence Two of these were later secured from San Carlos informants in more extended form but highly corroborative in their general agreement The main purpose in recording these narratives was to secure sufficient and varied connected texts in the dialect of the White Mountain Apache As a collection of mythology and folklore it is probably far from complete It is assumed however to be fairly representative

The Morning Breaks Bettina Aptheker, 1999-04 On August 7 1970 a revolt by Black prisoners in a Marin County courthouse stunned the nation In its aftermath Angela Davis an African American activist scholar who had campaigned vigorously for prisoners rights was placed on the FBI s ten most wanted list Captured in New York City two months later she was charged with murder kidnapping and conspiracy Her trial chronicled in this compelling tale Publishers Weekly brought strong public indictment The Morning Breaks is a riveting firsthand account of Davis s ordeal and her ultimate triumph written by an activist in the student civil rights and antiwar movements who was intimately involved in the struggle for her release First published in 1975 and praised by The Nation for its graphic narrative of Davis s legal and public fight The Morning Breaks remains relevant today as the nation contends with the political fallout of the Sixties and the grim consequences of institutional racism For this edition Bettina Aptheker has provided an introduction that revisits crucial events of the late 1960s and early 1970s and puts Davis s case into the context of that time and our own from the killings at Kent State and Jackson State to the politics of the prison system today This book gives a first hand account of the worldwide movement for Angela Davis s freedom and of her trial It offers a unique historical perspective on the case and its continuing significance in the contemporary political landscape

Target ... Cop! Chuck Johnson,2013-05-10 Jason Shaw is a police officer in Huntsville California A former US Marine he is a happy father and husband who takes his job seriously and has just been transferred from narcotics and vice to the Huntsville Gang Task Force Unit A month after the transfer mysterious attacks begin one night when a criminal sets a trap outside the Shaw home Although the Shaws escape the clumsy attempt there are no suspects and Shaw believes the amateurish trap might have been a juvenile prank As time passes however the attacks escalate Who is trying to terrorize the cop and his family Is it an ex con Shaw put away or gang member with a beef Someone is desperately trying to put Shaw in the ground but the police have no leads As a media frenzy ensues after every attack a community once thought to be safe falls further into the grip of panic and terror Meanwhile Shaw will do what it takes to keep his family safe even if it means taking matters into his own hands and letting the attackers know that no one messes with a cop on his own beat
