New Chinese Empire Ross Terrill, 2009-03-05 Some observers expect China to become an economic superpower Others expect it to fragment into pieces Is China nationalistic and on the march or is it a stumbling Communist dinosaur Is it already a billion citizen member of the global village Is it as the Clinton administration claimed a strategic partner of the U S Ross Terrill addresses the question upon which all these others depend Is the People's Republic of China whose polity is a hybrid of Chinese tradition and Western Marxism willing to become a modern nation or does it insist on remaining an empire Since the collapse of three thousand years of Confucian monarchy in 1911 China has neither established a successful political system nor adjusted to being a nation state Today it stands as the most contradictory of major powers hovering between an unsustainable tradition and a yet to be born political form that would support its new society and economy Hanging in the balance are the prospect for freedom within China for both Chinese and non Chinese citizens of the People s Republic the future of America s relations with China and the security of China s neighbors Drawing upon Terrill s long experience studying China as well as upon new research this enlightening and rigorous book will be a must read for everyone who has a stake in the future of the global world order All the Kingdoms of the World Kevin Vallier,2023 In All the Kingdoms of the World Kevin Vallier evaluates new and radical religious alternatives to liberal democracy In reaction to the perceived failings of liberalism new intellectuals propose to replace our system of government with one that promotes the true faith He focuses on the new Catholic illiberals and assesses their anti liberal doctrine known as integralism He then generalizes the critique of integralism to assess related doctrines in Sunni Islam and Chinese Confucianism Vallier does not merely describe these views but he asks whether they are true on their own terms
