Peace, Caroline Holland, 2001-10-24 This book is the first to bring together people from the worlds of architecture social science and housing studies to look at the future of living environments for an ageing society It uniquely moves beyond the issues of accommodation and care to look at the wider picture of how housing can reflect the social inclusion of people as they age Dementia Susan Hunter, 1997-01-01 As a focus for academic and professional study dementia has moved rapidly from the margin to the mainstream during the last decade Understanding of this distressing condition its aetiology and recognition has become much more widespread and sophisticated Building on such clinical knowledge this book challenges the reader to think ethically and in a person centred way about the implications of dementia at a personal planning and service provision level to consider consumer perspectives not only those of carers but also the much neglected views of individuals with dementia to explore less well documented areas such as dementia and Down's Syndrome depression and early onset dementia In conclusion the book illuminates selected topical developments in service provision such as community care advocacy and aspects of the built and social care environment Handbook of Dementia Care Jean M.
