Literary and Linguistic Theories in Eighteenth-century France Edward Nye, 2000 Linguistic theories in the eighteenth century are also theories of literature and art and it is probably better therefore to think of them as aesthetic theories As such they are answers to the age-old question what is beauty but formulated also to respond to contemporary concerns Edward Nye considers a wide range of authors from these two perspectives and draws the following conclusions etymology is a theory of poetry dictionaries of synonymy prosody and metaphor are theories of preciousity and Sensualism is a theory of artistic representation

Swain,2020-03-03 Charles Baudelaire is usually read as a paradigmatically modern poet whose work ushered in a new era of French literature But the common emphasis on his use of new forms and styles overlooks the complex role of the past in his work In Grotesque Figures Virginia E Swain explores how the specter of the eighteenth century made itself felt in Baudelaire s modern poetry in the pervasive textual and figural presence of Jean Jacques Rousseau Not only do Rousseau s ideas inform Baudelaire s theory of the grotesque but Rousseau makes numerous appearances in Baudelaire s poetry as a caricature or type representing the hold of the Enlightenment and the French Revolution over Baudelaire and his contemporaries As a character in Le Po me du hashisch and the Petits Po mes en prose Rousseau gives the grotesque a human form Swain s literary cultural and historical analysis deepens our understanding of Baudelaire and of nineteenth century aesthetics by relating Baudelaire s poetic theory and practice to Enlightenment debates about allegory and the grotesque in the arts Offering a novel reading of Baudelaire s ambivalent engagement with the eighteenth century Grotesque Figures examines nineteenth century ideological debates over French identity Rousseau s political and artistic legacy the aesthetic and political significance of the rococo and the presence of the grotesque in the modern Forty Ways to Think About Architecture Iain Borden,Murray Fraser,Barbara Penner,2015-03-11 How do we think about architecture historically andtheoretically Forty Ways to Think about Architecture provides an introduction to some of the wide ranging ways in which architectural history and theory are being approached today. The inspiration for this project is the work of Adrian Forty, Professor of Architectural History at the Bartlett School of Architecture, University College London (UCL), who has been internationally renowned as the UK's leading academic in the discipline for 40 years. Forty's many publications, notably Objects of Desire (1986), Words and Buildings (2000) and Concrete and Culture (2012), have been crucial to opening up new approaches to architectural history and theory and have helped to establish entirely new areas of study. His teaching at The Bartlett has enthused a new generation about the exciting possibilities of architectural history and theory as a field. This collection takes in a total of 40 essays covering key subjects ranging from memory and heritage to everyday life, building materials and city spaces. As well as critical theory, philosophy, literature and experimental design, it refers to more immediate and topical issues in the built environment such as globalisation, localism, regeneration and ecologies. Concise and engaging entries reflect on architecture from a range of perspectives. Contributors include eminent historians and theorists from elsewhere such as Jean-Louis Cohen, Briony Fer, Hilde Heynen, Mary McLeod, Griselda Pollock, Penny Sparke and Anthony Vidler, as well as Forty's colleagues from the Bartlett School of Architecture, including Iain Borden, Murray Fraser, Peter Hall, Barbara Penner, Jane Rendell and Andrew Saint. Forty's Ways to Think about Architecture also features contributions from distinguished architects such as Tony Fretton, Jeremy Till and Sarah Wigglesworth, and well-known critics and architectural writers such as Tom Dyckhoff, William Menking and Thomas Weaver. Many of the contributors are former students of Adrian Forty. Through these diverse essays, readers are encouraged to think about how architectural history and theory relates to their own research and design practices, thus using the work of Adrian Forty as a catalyst for fresh and innovative thinking about architecture as a subject.

Mis-reading the Creative

Impulse Adrianna M. Paliyenko, 1997. Building on work by Aristotle, Jacques Lacan and Harold Bloom, Adrianna M. Paliyenko's richly textured study revises our previous understanding of Arthur Rimbaud's 1854-1891 indirect artistic influence on Paul Claudel (1868-1955). Paliyenko's analysis answers to critical readings that rely on speculative spiritual affinities and text surface similarities in identifying Claudel as Rimbaud's artistic follower. She traces the two writers' development of the poetic subject, striving to map Claudel's creative corrections or revisions of Rimbaud's work. In redirecting discussion of Rimbaud's work, she develops a Bloomian paradigm of how creative artists strive for originality by correcting or revising their predecessors.

Textual Strategies Josue V.

Harari, 2019-06-30. A stellar cast of fifteen contributors seeks to show the direction in which continental and continentally oriented American literary criticism has evolved in recent years. Nine of the essays are published here for the first time; five of the remaining six were translated by the editor from the French; only one has previously appeared in English. The essays make available some of the most important and most representative work that has been done in the wake of structuralism. Among the topics treated are the relationships between semiology and literature, anthropology and literature, and psychoanalysis and literature modern American poetics algebraic models as epistemological operators the modes of production of a poem Flaubert's view of history and poetic language Professor Harari has arranged the essays to move from the general to the particular and from the abstract to the concrete In an informative and ambitious introduction he discusses each essay in relation to the whole and explains the interrelationships among the various theories and strategies that are represented in the anthology A book meant for the specialist as well as the novice for the teacher of literature and criticism as well as the student Textual Strategies is a brilliant introduction to post structuralist critical theories and practices
