The 1930 American Scrap:

The 1930 American Scrap Book William Griffith, 2013-10 This is a new release of the original 1930 edition The 1930 American Scrap Book, 1930 The International Order of Asia in the 1930s and 1950s Nicholas J. White, 2016-03-03 This book reconsiders the nature and formation of Asia's economic order during the 1930s and 1950s in light of the new historiographical developments in Britain and Japan Recently several Japanese economic historians have offered a new perspective on Asian history arguing that economic growth was fuelled by the phenomenon of intra Asian trade which began to grow rapidly around the turn of the 19th 20th centuries On the other side British imperial historians P J Cain and A G Hopkins have presented their own interpretation of gentlemanly capitalism in which they emphasize the leading role of the service sector rather than that of British industry in assessing the nature of the British presence overseas In order to assess and test these new perspectives this volume addresses three key issues The first is to reconsider the metropolitan peripheral relationship in Asia focusing particularly on the role of the sterling area and its implications for Asian economic development The second is to examine the formation of inter regional trade relations within Asia in the 1930s and their revival and transformation in the 1950s The final issue is the comparison of the international order of Asia of the 1930s with the 1950s and the degree to which the Second World War represented a break point in Asia's economic development Dealing with issues of trade economy nationalism and imperialism this book provides fresh insights into the development of Asia during the mid twentieth century Drawing on the latest scholarship it will prove invaluable to all who wish to better understand the position of countries such as Japan China India Singapore Malaysia and Korea within the wider international order

Copyright Office, 1932 Professional Journal of the United States Army, 1967 Japanese Carriers and Victory in the Pacific Martin Stansfeld, 2022-01-30 Japanese Carriers and

Victory in the Pacific focuses on the pre war debate between building a new generation of super battleships or adopting aircraft carriers as the capital ships of the future An Asian power in particular sees carriers as a way of challenging the USA and the colonial empires initially losing the contest yet coming out all right in the Cold War aftermath Martin Stansfeld examines the much overlooked genesis of Japan s so called shadow fleet that was a secret attempt to bring about parity with the US in carriers albeit only with slower speed conversions of liners and auxiliaries but along with the super battleships cluttered launch facilities when these could have been devoted to keel up fast fleet carrier production This first analytical look at what major launch facilities were available in Japan shows that the Imperial Japanese Navy could have doubled its fast carrier fleet thereby able to give sufficient air cover for an invasion of Hawaii rather than just the raid on Pearl Harbor but only providing nobody noticed they were building all these carriers This is shown to have been entirely possible given the IJN s extraordinary success at covering up their super battleship and shadow fleet production This secret fast carrier fleet program is given the name phantom fleet by Stansfeld who proceeds to demonstrate how the strategy of the Pacific War would have been transformed Weaving through the chapters is an exotic cast of characters led most notably by Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto the conceiver of Pearl Harbor and a figure of mythic status to Japanese today and famous around the world thanks to the movies Stansfeld dwells on the ironies of war notably how without the day that will live in infamy America might never have become the worldwide super power it is today Commerce Reports, 1938-03-12 United States Customs Court Reports United States. Customs Court, The American Fertilizer Hand Book, 1932 Daily Consular and Trade Reports, 1931 Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1974 The Japan-US Trade Friction Dilemma Karen M Holgerson, 2019-05-23 First published in 1998 this study of Japan U S trade friction and the role perceptual differences have played in its evolution differs from its predecessors in key ways First it is interdisciplinary drawing on the research of anthropologists area specialists intercultural communication specialists linguists sociologists and social psychologists as well as that of political scientists and economists Second it both identifies and quantifies perceptual differences between Japanese and American opinion leaders regarding the large bilateral trade imbalances the bilateral relationship and national negotiating styles Third original data were collected from completed questionnaires sent to 230 American and 230 Japanese opinion leaders from business government academia and the media who had been involved in some way with the rice automotive or semiconductor sectors Fourth the three case studies of trade friction are representative of three differing mixes of trade friction are representative of three differing mixes of trade friction causal factors and perceptual dynamics Finally based on the findings of this study modest suggestions are offered on how the bilateral perceptual gap might be narrowed and trade friction diminished so that the structural and sectoral problems might more effectively be addressed This book should be of interest to scholars government officials and business leaders in Japan the United States and other countries in the global community who are interested in bilateral relations international economic and political affairs and trade friction It should also be of special interest to social psychologists and cross cultural scholars and researchers
