The Art of Environmental Law

Benjamin J Richardson, 2019-12-12 Environmental law has aesthetic dimensions Aesthetic values have shaped the making of environmental law and in turn such law governs many of our nature based sensory experiences Aesthetics is also integral to understanding the very fabric of environmental law in its institutions procedures and discourses The Art of Environmental Law the first book of its kind brings new insights into the importance of aesthetic issues in a variety of domains of environmental governance around the world from climate change to biodiversity conservation It also argues for aesthetics and relatedly the arts to be taken more seriously in the practice of environmental law so as to improve our emotional and ethical capacities to address the upheavals of the Anthropocene

Experiencing Environment and Place through Children's Literature Amy Cutter-Mackenzie, Phillip Payne, Alan Reid, 2014-06-11 Recent scholarship on children's literature displays a wide variety of interests in classic and contemporary children's books While environmental and ecological concerns have led to an interest in ecocriticism as yet there is little on the significance of the ecological imagination and experience to both the authors and readers young and old of these texts This edited collection brings together a set of original international research based chapters to explore the role of children's literature in learning about environments and places with a focus on how children's literature may inform and enrich our imagination experiences and responses to environmental challenges and injustice Contributions from Australia Canada USA and UK explore the diverse ways in which children's literature can provide what are arguably some of the first and possibly most formative engagements that some children might have with nature Chapters examine classic and new storybooks mythic tales and image based and or written texts read at home in school and in the field Contributors focus on exploring how children's literature mediates and informs our imagination and understandings of diverse environments and places and how it might open our eyes and lives to other presences understandings and priorities through stories their telling and re telling and their analysis This book was originally published as a special issue of Environmental Education Research

Making Animals Public Professor Gay Hawkins, Dr Ben Dibley, 2024-06-01 Natural history television on the ABC has been one of the public broadcaster's most popular formats For many viewers TV has been an important contact zone for engaging with animals they would never encounter in everyday life These animals have also played a critical role in developing environmental awareness But how did animals get to be on the small screen and what happened to them when they got there Making Animals Public Inside the ABC's Natural History Archive traces the cultural and political evolution of the natural history animal on the ABC It explores different modes of capture from cages to cameras what has come to count as a natural history animal over time and the various sites they have inhabited from nature to the nation to the environment to the planet In early natural history programs audiences were invited to watch as sovereign humans there to learn or be entertained by animals that were exotic or aesthetic or scientifically interesting Whatever the framing these animals were resolutely other In recent times natural history animals have become more assertive They are now posing uncomfortable questions to human viewers about exploitation extinction and mutual implication in catastrophic whole earth processes like climate change Using a wide range of screen examples ranging from the 1950s to the 2020s Making Animals Public focuses on shifting cultural and sociotechnical practices in ABC natural history television Combining science and technology studies screen studies and critical animal studies this book develops an innovative interdisciplinary analysis of how televisual animality is crafted and made believable Making Animals Public analyses the significant role public television has played in filming and circulating a vast array of animals and habitats that had never been seen before How these animals were visualised and accounted for has continually evolved What has remained constant is the fact that natural history television has been a hugely important site for exploring the various politics of human animal relations good and bad and for nurturing environmental awareness in audiences Wildlife Tourism,

The guidance and templates for development planning are underpinned by current research while vivid case studies bring these ideas to life.

The Palgrave Handbook of Environmental Policy and Law Robert C. Brears, Jade Lindley, 2025-09-01 The Palgrave Handbook of Environmental Policy and Law provides readers with information on developments in the two fields of environmental policy and environmental law in both developed and developing countries. In particular, the Handbook analyses policies and statutes used at the local, regional, national, and international level in locations of differing climates, governance, and levels of development that aim to protect the environment and ensure ecologically sustainable development. Furthermore, the Handbook not only examines the substance of these policies and laws but also enforcement challenges, alternative legal mechanisms for advancing environmental policies, the role of market-based instruments in addressing environmental problems, and constitutional restrictions on environmental regulation.

Reaching Standards and Beyond in Kindergarten Gera Jacobs, Kathy Crowley, 2010 Focusing on research-based developmentally appropriate practices, this book shows teachers how to help young children reach standards through creative play activities that ignite their enthusiasm to learn.

Encyclopedia of Primary Education Denis Hayes, 2009-12-04 Unique in its field, the Encyclopedia of Primary Education brings together a wide-ranging body of information relating to current educational practice in a single indispensable volume. This book provides a series of descriptions, definitions, and explanations that engage with important practical and conceptual ideas in primary education and contains over 500 entries incorporating Curriculum, subjects, themes, and topics. Theories, policies, and educational controversies. Pedagogical terms relating to teaching and learning. Commentaries on current issues in primary education. Influential figures in education, both past and present. The impact of educational research on policy and practice. Based on the author's extensive experience in primary education, entries combine an interrogation of educational concepts with the pedagogical and practical implications for classroom practice, children's learning, and school management. This handy reference work will be invaluable to anyone currently teaching or training to teach at primary level, teaching assistants, school governors, and parents. In fact, it is essential reading for anyone with an interest and passion for primary education.

The Climate Crisis and Other Animals Richard Twine, 2024-03-01 The Climate Crisis and Other Animals is a must-read for anyone who cares about the future of our planet and the animals who live on it. Twine examines the impact of the climate crisis on nonhuman animals and argues for the importance of a climate and food justice movement inclusive of nonhuman animals. The book examines the ways in which climate breakdown is affecting nonhuman animal species and delves deeply into the politicised controversy over the extent of emissions from animal agriculture, demonstrating the markedly lower emissions of eating vegan. Critical of misguided human-centred framings of the climate crisis, Twine makes clear the necessity of including practices of animal commodification the importance of documenting the effect of a changing climate on other animal species and the mitigative opportunities of a radical remaking of dominant human animal relations The Climate Crisis and Other Animals addresses the emissions impacts of radical land use changes and the twentieth century scaling up of animal commodification within the animal industrial complex revealing how this system is interwoven in the gendered and racialised histories of capitalism Twine collates an impressive body of scientific research that demonstrate both the already enormous impact of the climate crisis on the lives of nonhuman animals and the need to tackle the dominance of meat based cultures Twine critically explores approaches to food transition and three potentially transformative scenarios for global food systems that could help dismantle the animal industrial complex and create a more sustainable and just food system Averting the climate and biodiversity crises requires nothing less than a radical transformation in how we see ourselves in relation to other species
