

If you are feeling overwhelmed and frightened, please understand that your feelings are normal. When a woman has experienced trauma and grief, her heart's desire is to go on with her life and forget what has happened.

In the past, years later, emotions may start to surface that are confusing and overwhelming and no matter how hard she tries, she just can't stop thinking about the bad hurts.

Some women think they are going crazy and resort to taking prescription drugs to cope with their feelings. Other women find themselves suffering from broken relationships, feelings of guilt, anxiety and depression, resorting to drugs and alcohol to numb the pain. Please know that you are not alone. All of us in Healing Hearts understand what you are going through, because we have been there and know the pain and heartache that past hurts can cause.

This may be a difficult step for you to take, but it is an important one. Every one of our leaders took this very same step and they will tell you that it was one decision they have never regretted.

If you are looking for someone to talk to who understands, please call or email us today. Life is too short to live in the torment of your past. Contact us today for the kind of help that leads to true healing.
