Introduction to Regional Snowfall Index Gilad James, PhD, The Regional Snowfall Index or RSI is a numerical system developed by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration NOAA in the United States to help quantify and compare the severity of snowstorms across different regions The RSI takes into account several factors including the amount of snowfall the area affected and the population density of the affected region By using this index meteorologists and emergency management officials can better prepare for and respond to snowstorms The RSI is calculated on a scale of 1 to 5 with 5 being the most severe A Category 1 snowstorm is considered a moderate event affecting a relatively small area with limited population A Category 5 snowstorm on the other hand is a major event affecting a large region with high population density and potentially catastrophic impacts The RSI is a valuable tool for assessing and communicating the potential impacts of snowfall allowing officials to make more informed decisions regarding resource allocation and emergency response
