Social Challenge Of Aging:

The Social Challenge of Ageing David Hobman, 2024-05-10 Although all recorded societies have contained a few people of extreme old age they have been the exception rather than the rule The possibility of one fifth of the total population in retirement from active employment would have been unthinkable at the beginning of the twentieth century and even social planning in the 1970s had made no adequate provision for a society in which one in every twenty five people would be over seventy five and one in every hundred over eighty five within less than a decade In Great Britain in the 1970s however and in many industrialised societies this was now a reality and vast resources would need to be directed towards the support care and treatment of the aged Whilst a growing body of knowledge based upon biological and clinical studies of the ageing process had been accumulated in recent years only a modest investment had been made in social gerontology Originally published in 1978 this book provided a multi disciplinary study of the process of ageing for those in the caring professions as well as for planners and architects whose decisions and designs affected the lives of the elderly It is divided into three parts the first provides a sociological demographic and cultural background to the place of old people in eastern and western societies The second explores the relationship which exists or should exist between a number of professional disciplines and part three considers an interdisciplinary model in practice Today it can be read in its historical context Social Work the new ecology of aging today Constructing Global Challenges in World Politics Alina Isakova, Malte Neuwinger, Robin Schulze Waltrup, Oday Uraiqat, 2024-06-24 This interdisciplinary book investigates the problematization of global challenges in world politics by analyzing what they are and how they come to be. Offering a conceptual framework including four modes of construction: universalizing, bundling, upscaling, and creating urgency, this book provides a heuristic method for understanding how the process of rendering an issue a global challenge unfolds. It examines the role of the global challenges discourse, which may either reinforce or challenge the dominant orders of world politics, such as the capitalist market-based system and the liberal international order. As a consequence, the global challenges discourse facilitates the emergence of new actors and policy fields. The book will be of interest to students, academics, and practitioners of global governance, international organizations, and more broadly, international political economy and international relations. Older women represent the great majority of older people. The book describes instances of age and gender discrimination and examples of social inclusion and protagonism of older women in Europe. It solicits a change in perspective, focusing on the necessary societal changes to make space to older people and older women in particular. How is society going to address age and gender discrimination in social and institutional settings? How should work settings change to effectively make space to older workers and in particular older women? How should the pension system change? How could public health systems provide effective care to older people and be sustainable? This edited collection focuses on older women's rights rather than their needs, adopting a human rights-based approach. Preservation of older women's dignity, autonomy, and security is its central topic, that is, ensuring that their rights are recognised. This collection offers insights valuable to a wide array of human rights activists, professionals, policymakers, and social scientists and older women themselves.
