New Religions As Global Cultures Irving Hexham, Karla Poewe, 2018-02-12 Although the Great Anti Cult Crusade links new religious movements to dangerous cults brainwashing and the need for deprogramming Karla Poewe and Irving Hexham argue that many cults are the product of a dynamic interaction between folk religions and the teachings of traditional world religions Drawing on examples from Africa the United States Asia and Europe they suggest that few new religions are really new Most draw on rich if localized cultural traditions that are shaped anew by the influence of technological change and international linkages With the widespread loss of belief in biblical mythology in the nineteenth century new mythologies based on science and elements derived from various non Western religious traditions emerged leading to the growth and popularity of new religions and cults

The Age of Diversity Jean-Louis Roy, 2016-11-01 In twenty five years 80% of the world population will live in Asia and Africa What changes culturally I particular should be expected in this century This is the vast and fascinating question Jean Louis Roy tries to answer with the help of correspondents from Africa Asia the Americas and Europe The author argues that shifting wealth from the West to Asia Latin America and Africa causes the reconfiguration of the economic map This tilting also transforms the global cultural space The dominant cultural position occupied by the Atlantic area will not disappear overnight However it is important to note that emerging countries are working earnestly well served by the tools of the digital age For example China is already the world leader in the art market and Nigeria the second in international film production after India Diversity emerges from all sides Welcome to the twenty first century

Communication Work David Clutterbuck, Sheila Hirst, 2012-06-14 Internal communication is a growing field with the number of specialists increasing worldwide In spite of this and vast increases in spending on communication research shows that organizations are finding it difficult to raise the number of employees who feel well informed Now more than ever internal communication does not just concern communication managers In today's lean organizations line managers are taking on more and more of the burden of employee communication and managers of remote offices have to be their own communication managers Talking Business making communication work addresses the key issues in communication within organizations supported by case studies taken from experience of working with global businesses It provides a coherent theory of business communication and shows how a radical difference to communication practice and business performance can be made The authors employ an interactive structure throughout with signposts to link related cases and chapters

Being Dead Otherwise Anne Allison, 2023-02-13 With an aging population declining marriage and childbirth rates and a rise in single households more Japanese are living and dying alone Many dead are no longer buried in traditional ancestral graves where descendants would tend their spirits and individuals are increasingly taking on mortuary preparation for themselves In Being Dead Otherwise Anne Allison examines the emergence of new death practices in Japan as the old customs of mortuary care are coming undone She outlines the proliferation of new industries services initiatives and businesses that offer alternative means ranging from automated graves collective grave sites and crematoria to one stop mortuary complexes and robotic priests for tending to the dead These new burial and ritual practices provide alternatives to long standing traditions of burial and commemoration of the dead In charting this shifting ecology of death Allison outlines the potential of these solutions to radically reorient sociality in Japan in ways that will impact how we think about the end of life identity tradition and culture in Japan and beyond

A Global Doll's House Julie Holledge, Jonathan Bollen, Frode Helland, Joanne Tompkins, 2016-09-15 This book addresses a deceptively simple question what accounts for the global success of A Doll's House Henrik Ibsen's most popular play Using maps networks and images to explore the world history of the play's production this question is considered from two angles cultural transmission and adaptation Analysing the play's transmission reveals the social economic and political forces that have secured its place in the canon of world drama a comparative study of the play's 135 year production history across five continents offers new insights into theatrical adaptation Key areas of research include the global tours of nineteenth century actress managers Norway's soft diplomacy in promoting gender equality representations of the female performing body and the sexual vectors of social change in theatre

Talking about Naval History John B. Hattendorf, 2011 NOTE NO FURTHER DISCOUNT ON THIS PRINT PRODUCT OVERSTOCK SALE Significantly reduced list price Twenty essays selected from the writings of John B Hattendorf Ernest J King Professor of Maritime History at the U S Naval War College between 2001 and 2009 They represent a wide historical perspective that ranges across nearly four centuries of maritime history. A number of these pieces have been published previously but have appeared in other languages and in other countries where they may not have come to the attention of an American naval reading audience. This collection is divided into parts that deal with four major themes: the broad field of maritime history; general naval history with specific focus on the classical age of sail from the mid seventeenth century to the end of the Napoleonic Wars in 1815; the wide scope of American naval history from 1775 to the end of the twentieth century; and finally the realm of naval theory and its relationship to naval historical studies. They are reprinted with only minor alterations as they originally appeared. This work may appeal to general history readers, scholarly and general adult readers of history, especially naval and maritime, plus students pursuing coursework in military science degree programs.

Global Perspectives on Recruiting International Students Belal Shneikat, Cihan Cobanoglu, Cem Tanova, 2021-06-01. Although many countries have created effective strategies to recruit more international students due to proven economic and social benefits, recruiting international students as a field of research lacks coherence. Filling this gap, this book provides a holistic and comprehensive overview of this emerging research area.

Making the Heavens Speak Peter Sloterdijk, 2023-01-05. The idea of a connection between poetry and religion is as old as civilization. Homer consulted the Olympian gods on the fate of the fighters on the plain before Troy, and the poet made the heavenly ones speak. It was through poetry that the gods were brought within reach of human hearing. In the centuries after Homer, the Athenian stage became the setting where gods made their poetic interventions, resolving human impasses and contributing to the emotional synchronization of the public life of the city. Sloterdijk argues that, as with the culture of the Ancient Greeks, all religions inscribe a kind of theopoetry at the heart of their cultural life and thought, even as they strenuously obscure these poetic origins through the cultivation and enforcement of orthodox norms. Sloterdijk also shows how, in conditions of religious pluralism, religions poetically reshape themselves to accommodate the demands of the religious marketplace This highly original study of the poetic devices that inform accounts of the otherworldly offers a new interpretation of religious practice and its theological elaboration through history as well as a fresh perspective on our contemporary age in which collective life interwoven with imaginative fabrications is fraying under critical stress
