Good Housekeeping ,1907      Newsletter, East Asian Art and Archaeology ,1994      The Industrial Arts in Spain Juan Facundo Riaño,1879      Representing Female Artistic Labour, 1848-1890 Patricia Zakreski,2016-12-05 Patricia Zakreski s interdisciplinary study draws on fiction prose painting and the periodical press to expand and redefine our understanding of women s relationship to paid work during the Victorian period While the idea of separate spheres has largely gone uncontested by feminist critics studying female labour during the nineteenth century Zakreski challenges this distinction by showing that the divisions between public and private were in fact surprisingly flexible with homes described as workplaces and workplaces as homes By combining art with forms of industrial or mass production in representations of the respectable woman worker writers projected a form of paid creative work that was not violated or profaned by the public world of the market in which it was traded Looking specifically at sewing art writing and acting Zakreski shows how these professions increasingly came to be defined as artistic and thus as suitable professions for middle class women and argues that the supposedly degrading activity of paid work could be transformed into a refining experience for women Rather than consigning working women to the margins of patriarchal culture then her study shows how representations of creative women by authors such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning Dinah Craik Charles Dickens Anthony Trollope and Charlotte Yonge participated in and shaped new forms of mainstream culture
