Special Needs Bridging The Curriculum Gap:

Special Needs Jonathan Solity, Shirley Bull, 1987 This book examines the principles curricular individual needs and behavioural approaches for special needs in the classroom Making Special Education Inclusive Peter Farrell, Mel Ainscow, 2013-05-13 The aim of this book is to consider how schools and LEAs can develop inclusive policies and practices for students who experience a range of difficulties in learning or behavior It highlights debates and contradictions about the realities of inclusion and suggests ways in which practice can move forward The contributors look at key areas of development in special and inclusive education and considers ways in which the latest research can inform practice Areas covered include promoting inclusion for all how to make sense of the Code of Practice SEN Thresholds working with Teaching Assistants new approaches to counseling and pastoral care in schools including pupils with EBD how nurture groups are helping inclusive practice making education inclusive for pupils with sensory disabilities including pupils with specific learning difficulties and preparing students for an inclusive society The book will be of particular interest to teachers LEA support staff educational psychologists and related professionals who face the challenge of meeting the needs of a diverse population within an inclusive framework it will also be of relevance for students in further and higher education and their tutors

Primary Special Needs and the National Curriculum Ann Lewis, 1991 This practical and accessible book presents guidelines on primary special needs and the national curriculum for primary teachers in mainstream schools Ann Lewis offers an analysis of the issues and practicalities of implementing the national curriculum at classroom level showing how it can be used to foster progress for children who find school based learning difficult Emphasizing ways in which the national curriculum can be adapted for children with learning difficulties she offers advice on assessment and identification whole school planning and planning a broad curriculum Utilizing case studies and practical examples the book outlines various strategies teachers might use to give all children access to the national curriculum

Special Needs in the Secondary School Joan Dean, 2018-09-03 First published in 1989 The 1984 Act and the Warnock Report urged greater integration of pupils with special needs into ordinary schools This book examines how schools cope with a wide variety of special needs ranging from emotional and behavioural problems to physical disabilities and including the problem faced by gifted children and assesses how successful the integration of children with special needs can be for both teachers and pupils The author recommends the whole school approach where heads form teachers subject teachers the special needs departments and parents work together in making the curriculum as accessible to as many students as possible The whole school approach enables the fullest participation of all the children in the life of the school whatever their special needs This book provides an extremely clear sighted and positive analysis of integration and will be invaluable to all heads and teachers teaching remediating or counselling children with special needs Understanding Children with Special Needs Lynn Stow, Lorna Selfe, 2018-10-03 Originally published in 1989 This book is designed as an introduction to the field of special education for all those students and professionals teachers social workers psychologists medical officers nurses speech therapists and others who encounter children with special needs The authors first discuss current legislation in its historical context and draw attention to the major issues and controversies They go on to analyse a variety of learning difficulties Physical and sensory disabilities emotional and behavioural problems may all give rise to special educational needs The book then considers how children s special needs may be met in terms of curriculum resources and provisions It concludes with some prognostications and a critical review of current practice Children with Special Needs Jonathan Solity, Shirley Bull, 1987 Planning for Special Needs Gary Thomas, Anthony Feiler, 1988 The area of special needs in education has changed fundamentally over the last decade There has been a shift to the question of special needs within the context of school and class This book looks at this issue and offers a range of methods of seeing children s needs in different ways

Routledge Library Editions: Special Educational Needs Various, 2021-07-29 This set of 62 volumes originally published between 1951 and 1999 amalgamates a wide breadth of literature on Special Educational Needs with a particular focus on inclusivity class management and curriculum theory This collection of books from some of the leading scholars in the field provides a comprehensive overview of the subject how it has evolved over time and will be of particular interest to students of Education and those undertaking teaching qualifications Teachers in Control Martin Powell, Jonathan

Solity, 2018-06-04 In an increasingly centralized education system how can teachers recover the freedom to make their own decisions Originally published in 1990 the teaching profession had seldom been under greater pressure Teachers in Control aimed to help teachers to understand the forces that shaped their personal and professional development and their relationships with children at the time It identifies the pressures that teachers faced from both the school and the educational system as a whole and then examines the internal psychological influences that lead people into teaching and direct their future careers The authors argue that an understanding of these influences can give teachers more control of decisions that affect their practice in the classroom and will still be very relevant today Classroom Management

Shirley Bull, Phillip Feldman, Jonathan Solity, 2013-07-23 How to manage a class is probably the major worry of all teachers in training and young teachers new to the job This book shows how psychological principles strategies and tools can be applied to improve classroom practice Visual Impairment Heather Mason, Stephen McCall, Christine Arter, Mike McLinden, Juliet

Stone, 2013-05-24 First published in 1998 This book embodies the positive philosophy that children with a visual impairment are entitled to access to the full national curriculum during their school years In the UK education placements for pupils and students with special needs range across a continuum from special schools and colleges with day or residential attendance to specialist units or individual integration into mainstream provision Placement results from inter disciplinary assessment and consultation and requires parental agreement Lack of sight and measurably impaired vision constitute special needs in educational terms The writers who have contributed to this major text are teachers and lecturers from both the specialist and mainstream areas of provision and have considerable first hand experience in teaching pupils and students with a visual impairment

Special Educational Needs in Schools Sally Beveridge, 1999 This book provides a concise but comprehensive overview of key issues about children with special needs in schools This second edition looks at the numerous changes in SEN policy and practice that have taken place over the last five years

The Impact of the National Curriculum on the Teaching of Five-Year-Olds Theo Cox, Susan Sanders, 2018-10-03 Originally published in 1994 One of the most neglected areas of research and thus writing is the world of the infant school child Those who know it best are teachers who tend not to write Those who write most are academics and even they venture rarely into this area This book is based on research funded by the University of Wales A number of teachers in a Welsh LEA were interviewed over time as the National Curriculum was being introduced up to Key Stage 1 The structured interviews covered a wide range of topics related to the anticipated and actual efforts of the National Curriculum at this key stage including curriculum planning assessment teaching methods and organization Teachers attitudes to the curriculum were explored through a short attitude test The resulting data provides in depth the first such examination and is a resource not only in itself but for all those researchers on change agents and restructuring

Handbook of Educational Ideas and Practices (Routledge Revivals) Noel Entwistle, 2015-08-11 First published in 1990 the Handbook of Educational Ideas and Practices was written for practitioners and students in the field of education and its related services and was designed to appeal to educationists no matter what their nationality Focusing mainly on compulsory schooling it provides summaries of the thinking research findings and innovatory practices current at the time However the book is also careful to present a complete picture of education and therefore includes a separate section for education beyond school which covers pre school level post secondary level and adult and continuing education There are also other chapters dealing with aspects of organization curriculum and teaching in various forms of tertiary education Indeed each topic has been discussed by an acknowledged expert writing in sufficient detail in order to resist trivialization

Literacy David Wray, 2004 This four volume collection reprints key debates about exactly what it means to be literate and how literacy can best be taught Rather than centering on the emotional reaction of mass media debates this set focuses on research findings into processes and pedagogy The themes covered include Literacy its nature and its teaching Reading processes and teaching Writing processes and teaching and New Literacies the impact of technologies

Charting the Agenda Harry Daniels, 1994 First published in 1993 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Special Education Jonathan Soly, 1992 This introduces readers to issues concerns and developments in the field of special education It highlights the major implications of recent legislation for children with special needs in the context of more general changes in education and looks at integration and concepts of handicap

Dyslexia Barbara Riddick, Judith Wolfe, David Lumsdon, 2012-10-12 This book focuses on realistic strategies for non specialists to use when working with pupils who have dyslexia It offers detailed practical guidance on defining and identifying dyslexia dyslexia in the early and middle years and at secondary school and worked examples of IEPs It also discusses providing effective support for the literacy and numeracy hours raising self esteem and working with parents and voluntary organizations In addition the authors cover using checklists and assessments choosing suitable programs and resources and useful addresses and books Teachers and teaching assistants in mainstream classrooms and parents wanting to help their children will find this book invaluable Specific Learning Difficulties (Dyslexia) Mr Peter D Pumfrey, Peter Pumfrey, Rea Reason, 2013-09-05 Drawing on the work of eleven experienced educational psychologists this book presents a variety of approaches to prevention identification and intervention and makes practical recommendations for future progress Spelling Diane Montgomery, 1997-03-20 Designed for teachers wanting to know what to do to help pupils with spelling difficulties this book combines practical advice with theory research and accounts of the author s own experience The author looks at how spelling skills develop in both young children and older pupils
