Species Differences In Thyroid Kidney And Urinary Bladder Carcinogenesis:

Species Differences in Thyroid, Kidney and Urinary Bladder Carcinogenesis Charles C. Capen, 1999 In November 1997 an expert group was convened to discuss available knowledge on the epidemiology pathology and mechanisms related to certain tumors that are commonly seen in essays for carcinogenicity in rodents in order that their importance in human hazard evaluation might be assessed The tumors of interest were urinary bladder carcinomas associated with urolithiasis microcrystalluria and certain urinary precipitates renal cortical tumors in male rats associated with alpha 2 urinary globulin nephropathy and thyroid follicular cell tumors associated with imbalances in thyroid stimulating hormone Included in the book are a series of individually authored papers on these various topics as well as a Consensus Report including consideration of how such data may be used within the evaluation process in the IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic risks to Humans

Genetic Toxicology and Cancer Risk Assessment Wai Nang Choy, 2001-08-31 Presents state of the art regulatory cancer risk assessment models including a biologically based model for two hit carcinogenesis and cell proliferation This book comprehensively reviews the various roles of genetic toxicology in human cancer risk assessment conducted by United States and worldwide regulatory agencies discussing hazard identification dose response relationships exposure assessment and current practices of risk characterization Examines predictive values of mutagenicity tests mechanisms of carcinogenesis and conventional genotoxicity tests required by the International Conference on Harmonization and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development Environmental Protection Agency guidelines Comprised of contributions from prominent experts and risk assessors and including nearly 1200 references to facilitate further study Genetic Toxicology and Cancer Risk Assessment reviews contemporary human cancer genetics as related to the mutagenic nature of carcinogenesis calculates acceptable exposure levels based on a carcinogenic threshold dose for nongenotoxic carcinogens reveals the rationale and methodology of quantitative estimation of human cancer risks using mathematical models discusses the threshold concept of carcinogenesis demonstrates how bacterial mutagenicity assays are the most reliable for predicting rodent carcinogens considers structural activity relationship SAR analysis of chemical carcinogenicity describes the emergence of the mouse lymphoma microwell and in vitro micronucleus assays illustrates the use of genetic biomarkers for dosimetry analysis and more Linking human cancer genetics mutagenicity assays mechanisms of carcinogenesis carcinogenic thresholds molecular epidemiology mathematical modeling and quantitative cancer risk analysis Genetic Toxicology and Cancer Risk Assessment is a must have reference for toxicologists oncologists geneticists biostatisticians reproductive developmental cell and molecular biologists endocrinologists biochemists and upper level undergraduate graduate and medical school students in these disciplines

Boorman's Pathology of the Rat Andrew W. Suttie, Gary A. Boorman, Joel R. Leininger, Scot L. Eustis, Michael R. Elwell, William F. MacKenzie, Alys Bradley, 2017-12-01 Boorman's Pathology of the Rat Reference and Atlas Second Edition continues its history as the most comprehensive pathology reference on rat strains for researchers across science and medicine using rat models in the laboratory. It offers readers an added emphasis on the Sprague Dawley and Wistar rat strains that is consistent with current research across academia, government, and industry. In addition, the book provides standard diagnostic criteria, basic content on histology, histological changes that result from drug toxicity, and neoplasm pathology terminology, and four color photographs from the NTP archive and database. With updated references and photographs as well as coverage of all rat strains, this book is not only the standard in the field but also an invaluable resource for toxicologists, biologists, and other scientists engaged in regulatory toxicology who must make the transition from pathology results to the promulgation of meaningful regulations. Contains full four color photographs from the NTP archive and database and coverage of all rat strains. Provides an organ by organ and system by system approach that presents standard diagnostic criteria and basic content on histology and histological changes. Includes comprehensive and detailed background incidence data. Presents detailed descriptive content regarding changes in rat models during research.

Toxicokinetics and Risk Assessment

John C. Lipscomb, Edward V. Ohanian, 2016-04-19. Toxicokinetics in Risk Assessment discusses the noncancer risk assessment process and its reliance on uncertainty factors in order to facilitate the continued study and refinement of the scientific basis for health risk assessment. This text clearly demonstrates the application of physiologically based pharmacokinetic (PBPK) modeling in human health.

Hepatotoxicity

Saura C. Sahu, 2008-02-28. This book addresses all the current up to date developments in this scientific discipline. Liver is the chief metabolizing site in the body and thus it is a major target organ for drug and chemical toxicity. Therefore, hepatotoxicity is an important endpoint in the safety evaluation of drugs and chemicals. Contributions from leading investigators in hepatotoxicity research address current developments in this scientific discipline and discuss use of current cutting edge technology such as microarrays in hepatotoxicity, thus providing a better understanding of hepatotoxins, their interactions, and mechanisms of action. This valuable authoritative source of information is the first book to address this topic for nearly ten years, making it an essential resource for readers from a wide range of disciplines such as toxicology, pharmacology, hepatology, drug toxicity, and food science.

Some Thyrotropic Agents

IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans, International Agency for Research on Cancer, 2001. This volume evaluates carcinogenicity of 19 chemicals to humans that are carcinogenic to the thyroid follicular cell epithelium in rodents. These include anti-thyroid drugs, sedatives, and chemicals used in agriculture, in foods, and in cosmetics.

Use of Toxicological and Chemical Models to Prioritize DBP Research Richard J. Bull, 2006. Little is known about the specific disinfection by-products (DBPs) in drinking water that may cause cancer in humans. In fact, toxicological research in the past decade has cast significant doubt on the risk associated with the THMs and HAAs that are subject to regulation. This research identifies from among hundreds of disinfection by-products formed by the chlorination of drinking water those DBPs that are most likely to cause human cancer. Identification of potential cancer-causing DBPs will help researchers prioritize further
