past twenty five years a sign that this has occurred in Thailand Megan Sinnott engages these issues by examining the local culture and historical context of female same sex eroticism and female masculinity in Thailand Drawing on a broad spectrum of anthropological literature Sinnott situates Thai tom and dee subculture within the global trend of increasingly hybridized sexual and gender identities      Migration, Gender and Social Justice Thanh-Dam Truong, Des Gasper, Jeff

Jenny Barbara White, 2004 In the rural immigrant community of Istanbul poor women spend up to fifty hours a week producing goods for export yet deny that they actually work Money Makes Us Relatives asks why Turkish society devalues women s work concealing its existence while creating a vast pool of cheap labor for the world market Drawing on two years of ethnographic fieldwork among family producers and pieceworkers and using fascinating case studies throughout Jenny B

White shows how women's paid work is viewed in terms of kinship relations of reciprocity and obligation an extension of domestic work for the family which is culturally valued but poorly compensated Whilst offering the benefits of social identity and long term security women's work also reflects global capitalism's ability to capture local cultural norms and to use these to lower production costs and create exploitative conditions This fully revised second edition includes a new introduction and conclusion updated references comparative material on women's labor elsewhere in the world and brand new material on Islam globalization gender and Turkish family life It is an important contribution to debates about women's participation in late global capitalism

Consumption, Status, and Sustainability Paul Roscoe, Cindy Isenhour, 2021-08-12 This volume addresses current concerns about the climate and environmental sustainability by exploring one of the key drivers of contemporary environmental problems the role of status competition in generating what we consume and what we throw away to the detriment of the planet Across time and space humans have pursued social status in many different ways through ritual purity singing or dancing child bearing bodily deformation even headhunting In many of the world's most consumptive societies however consumption has become closely tied to how individuals build and communicate status Given this tight link people will be reluctant to reduce consumption levels and environmental impact and forego their ability to communicate or improve their social standing Drawing on cross cultural and archaeological evidence this book asks how a stronger understanding of the links between status and consumption across time space and culture might bend the curve towards a more sustainable future

Class, Contention, and a World in Motion Winnie Lem, Pauline Gardiner Barber, 2010-07-01 Prevailing scholarship on migration tends to present migrants as the objects of history subjected to abstract global forces or to concrete forms of regulation imposed by state and supra state organizations In this volume by contrast the focus is on migrants as the subjects of history who not only react but also act to engage with and transform their worlds Using ethnographic examples from Africa Asia Europe North America and the Middle East contributors question how and why particular forms of political struggle and collective action may or indeed may not be carried forward in the context of geographic and social border crossings In doing so they bring the dynamic relationship between class gender and culture to the forefront in each distinctive migration setting

Queer Bangkok Peter A. Jackson, 2011-03-01 The Thai capital Bangkok is the unrivalled centre of the country's gay lesbian and transgender communities These communities are among the largest in Southeast Asia and indeed in the world and have a diversity social presence and historical depth that set them apart from the queer cultures of many neighbouring societies The first years of the 21st Century have marked a significant transition moment for all of Thailand's LGBT cultures with a multidimensional expansion in the geographical extent media presence economic importance political impact social standing and cultural relevance of Thai queer communities This book analyzes the roles of the market and media especially cinema and the Internet in these transformations and considers the ambiguous consequences that the growing commodification and mediatization of queer lives have had for LGBT rights in Thailand A key finding is that in the early 21st Century processes of global queering are leading to a growing Asianisation of Bangkok's queer cultures This book traces Bangkok's emergence as a central focus of an expanding regional network linking gay lesbian and transgender communities in Hong Kong Singapore Taiwan Indonesia the Philippines and other rapidly developing East and Southeast Asian societies Peter A Jackson is associate professor in the School of Culture History and Language at

Australian National University The myriad faces of Thai gender sexuality culture have been an attraction for both pleasure seekers and researchers scholars activists Exploring the rapidly changing LGBT cultures and Thai queer identities the essays collected here provide insightful analyses of historical continuities as well as developing variations within the highly complex erotic economic texture of Thai society A must read for anyone in the booming field of gender sexuality studies Josephine Ho Chair Professor Center for the Study of Sexualities National Central University Taiwan

Labour, Politics and the State in Industrialising Thailand Andrew Brown, 2004-03 This book focuses on how the state has become entangled in the processes through which workers have been organized reorganized and disorganized as social and political actors in different historical periods

HIV/AIDS and the Social Consequences of Untamed Biomedicine Graham Fordham, 2014-11-13 Drawing on the case of HIV AIDS in Thailand this book examines how anthropological and other interpretative social science research has been utilized in modeling the AIDS epidemic and in the design and implementation of interventions It argues that much social science research has been complicit with the forces that generated the epidemic and with the social control agendas of the state and that as such it has increased the weight of structural violence bearing upon the afflicted The book also questions claims of Thai AIDS control success arguing that these can only be made at the cost of excluding categories such as intravenous drug users the incarcerated and homosexuals who continue to experience extraordinarily high levels of levels of HIV infection Considered deviant and undeserving these persons have deliberately been excluded from harm reduction programs Overall this work argues for the untapped potential of anthropological research in the health field a confident anthropology rooted in ethnography and a critical reflexivity Crucially it argues that in context of interdisciplinary collaborations anthropological research must refuse relegation to the status of an adjunct discipline and must be free epistemologically and methodologically from the universalizing assumptions and practices of biomedicine
