Modelling, Simulation and Optimization Gregorio Romero,Luisa Martinez,2010-02-01 Computer Aided Design and system analysis aim to find mathematical models that allow emulating the behaviour of components and facilities The high competitiveness in industry the little time available for product development and the high cost in terms of time and money of producing the initial prototypes means that the computer aided design and analysis of products are taking on major importance On the other hand in most areas of engineering the components of a system are interconnected and belong to different domains of physics mechanics electrics hydraulics thermal When developing a complete multidisciplinary system it needs to integrate a design procedure to ensure that it will be successfully achieved Engineering systems require an analysis of their dynamic behaviour evolution over time or path of their different variables The purpose of modelling and simulating dynamic systems is to generate a set of algebraic and differential equations or a mathematical model In order to perform rapid product optimisation iterations the models must be formulated and evaluated in the most efficient way Automated environments contribute to this One of the pioneers of simulation technology in medicine defines simulation as a technique not a technology that replaces real experiences with guided experiences reproducing important aspects of the real world in a fully interactive fashion iii In the following chapters the reader will be introduced to the world of simulation in topics of current interest such as medicine military purposes and their use in industry for diverse applications that range from the use of networks to combining thermal chemical or electrical aspects among others We hope that after reading the different sections of this book we will have succeeded in bringing across what the scientific community is doing in the field of simulation and that it will be to your interest and liking Lastly we would like to thank all the authors for their excellent contributions in the different areas of simulation      Advances in Case-Based Reasoning Susan Craw,Alun

Preece,2003-08-02 The papers collected in this volume were presented at the 6th European Conference on Case Based Reasoning ECCBR 2002 held at The Robert Gordon University in Aberdeen UK This conference followed a series of very successful well established biennial European workshops held in Trento Italy 2000 Dublin Ireland 1998 Lausanne Switzerland 1996 and Paris France 1994 after the initial workshop in Kaiserslautern Germany 1993 These meetings have a history of attracting first class European and international researchers and practitioners in the years interleaving with the biennial international counterpart ICCBR the 4th ICCBR Conference was held in Vancouver Canada in 2001 Proceedings of ECCBR and ICCBR conferences are traditionally published by Springer Verlag in their LNAI series Case Based Reasoning CBR is an AI problem solving approach where problems are solved by retrieving and reusing solutions from similar previously solved problems and possibly revising the retrieved solution to reflect differences between the new and retrieved problems Case knowledge stores the previously solved problems and is the main knowledge source of a CBR system. A main focus of CBR research is the representation, acquisition and maintenance of case knowledge. Recently other knowledge sources have been recognized as important: indexing, similarity and adaptation knowledge. Significant knowledge engineering effort may be needed for these and so the representation, acquisition and maintenance of CBR knowledge more generally have become important.

Expert Systems and Geographic Information Systems for Impact Assessment Agustin Rodriguez-Bachiller, John Glasson, 2004-08-12 Impact Assessment is becoming part and parcel of an increasing number of development proposals in the UK and Europe. As the practice of Impact Assessment develops it becomes more standardized and good practice starts to be defined. However the quality of Impact Assessment is still far from satisfactory. Expert Systems and GIS for Impact Assessment.
