The Absence Of Myth:

The Absence of Myth Georges Bataille, 2024-11-19 For Bataille the absence of myth had itself become the myth of the modern age In a world that had lost the secret of its cohesion Bataille saw surrealism as both a symptom and the beginning of an attempt to address this loss His writings on this theme are the result of profound reflection in the wake of World War Two The Absence of Myth is the most incisive study yet made of surrealism insisting on its importance as a cultural and social phenomenon with far reaching consequences Clarifying Bataille's links with the surrealist movement and throwing revealing light on his complex and greatly misunderstood relationship with Andre Breton The Absence of Myth shows Bataille to be a much more radical figure than his postmodernist devotees would have us believe a man who continually tried to extend Marxist social theory a pessimistic thinker but one as far removed from nihilism as can be Introduced and translated by Michael Richardson

The Absence of Myth Sophia Heller, 2012-02-01 In this provocative work Sophia Heller challenges the assumption that we cannot be without myth that myth is necessary to vital soulful living Indeed Heller argues we have been living in a world without myth for a long time The Absence of Myth examines the loss of a religious mode of being in the world and demonstrates how theorists who insist on the presence of myth deny its historical end Absence of myth may seem obvious evidenced by our lack of cult and ritual and by our de animated natural world as well as in the emergence of conceptual thought and psychological awareness which could only arise with the dissolution of a prereflective mythic mode of being in the world But what appears to be straightforward becomes complicated when myth is intentionally conflated with thought and reflection usually in the attempt to cultivate a mythic consciousness that aims to restore meaning to life and assuage the spiritual malaise of contemporary culture Myth cannot rest in peace It must be continually unearthed redefined and recontextualized such that modern and postmodern notions of myth are made to substitute for something that has never been experienced only imagined

Notebooks for an Ethics Jean-Paul Sartre, 1992-10 In the famous conclusion to Being and Nothingness Jean Paul Sartre announced that he would devote his next philosophical work to moral problems Although he worked on this project in the late 1940s Sartre never completed it to his satisfaction and it remained unpublished until after his death in 1980 Presented here for the first time in English Notebooks for an Ethics is Sartre s attempt to articulate a moral philosophy In the Notebooks he addresses any number of themes and topics relevant to an effort to formulate a concrete and revolutionary socialist ethics among them the differences between force and violence the relationship of means and ends and the relationship of oppression and alienation Most important he tries to show that there can be an authentic mutual recognition among free individuals where no one steals another s freedom While remaining committed to the basic principles of Being and Nothingness Sartre here seeks to locate the foundation for action in history and society The Notebooks thus form an important bridge between the early existentialist Sartre and the later Marxist social thinker of the Critique of Dialectical Reason Sartre grapples anew with such central issues as authenticity and the relation of alienation and freedom to moral values In dealing with fundamental modes of relating to the Other among them violence entreaty demand appeal refusal and revolt he highlights the notions of conversion and creation as they figure in the necessary transition from individualism to historical consciousness The

Notebooks themselves are complemented here by two appendixes one on the good and subjectivity the other on the problem of blacks in the United States as a case study of oppression

Postwar Figures of L'ephemere James Petterson, 2000-09 The question of the relationship between aesthetics and history is reconsidered in this study of these postwar poets Petterson argues that postwar French poetry is a critical poetry encompassing a vast poetic tradition from poets such as Baudelaire and Rimbaud to Francis Ponge and Paul Celan The author also shows how the critical writings of Hegel Heidegger and Ricoeur among others suggest that what he calls postwar poetry's will to meaning and its attempt to develop a post Romantic poetics necessarily questions poetry's ties to philosophical historical and political narratives

Eroticizing Aesthetics Tim Themi, 2021-06-03 Bringing together Bataille with Lacan and Nietzsche Tim Themi examines the role of aesthetics implicit in each and how this invokes an erotic process celebrating the real of what is usually excluded from articulation Bataille came to deem eroticism as the standpoint from which to grasp humanity as a whole based on his understanding of our transition to humanity being founded on a series of taboos placed on inner animality An erotic outlet for the latter was historically the aesthetic dimensions of our religions but Bataille's view of how this was gradually diminished has much in keeping with Nietzsche's critique of Christian Platonic dualism and Lacan's of the desexualised Good of Western metaphysics Building from these often surprising proximities Themi closely examines Bataille's many interventions into the history of aesthetics from his confrontations with Breton's surrealism to his own novels and encounter with the animal cave paintings of Lascaux radically re illuminating the corollary phenomena of Dionysos in Nietzsche's philosophy and the jouissance enjoyment of transgression in the psychoanalysis of Lacan A new ethical criterion for aesthetic works and creations on this basis becomes possible

Community, Myth and

Recognition in Twentieth-Century French Literature and Thought Nikolaj Lübecker, 2011-10-20 Taking as its point of departure the notion of community in mid twentieth century French literature and thought this ambitious study seeks to uncover the ways in which Breton Bataille Sartre and Barthes used literature and art to engage with the question of reconceptualizing society In exploring the relevance these writings hold for contemporary debates about community Lubecker argues for the continuing social importance of literary studies Throughout the book he suggests that literature and art are privileged fields for confronting some of the anti social desires situated at the periphery of human rationality The authors studied put to work the concepts of Thanatos sado masochism and self sacrifice they also write more poetically about man s attraction to Silence the Night and the Neutral Many sociological discourses on the question of community tend to marginalize the drives inherent within these concepts Lubecker argues it is essential to take these drives into account when theorising the question of community otherwise they may return in the atavistic form of myths Moreover if handled with care and attention they can prove to be a resource
