Companion to Ibsen James McFarlane, 1994-02-25 In the history of modern theatre Ibsen is one of the dominating figures. The sixteen chapters of this 1994 Companion explore his life and work providing an invaluable reference work for students. In chronological terms they range from an account of Ibsen's earliest pieces through the years of rich experimentation to the mature Ibsenist plays that made him famous towards the end of the nineteenth century. Among the thematic topics are discussions of Ibsen's comedy, realism, lyric poetry and feminism. Substantial chapters account for Ibsen's influence on the international stage and his challenge to theatre and film directors and playwrights today. Essential reference materials include a full chronology, list of works and essays on twentieth century criticism and further reading. Kenneth Burke and the Conversation after Philosophy Timothy W. Crusius, 1999-03-30 Throughout much of his long life 1897-1993 Kenneth Burke was recognized as a leading American intellectual, perhaps the most significant critic writing in English since Coleridge. From about 1950 on rhetoricians in both English and speech began to see him as a major contributor to the New Rhetoric. But despite Burke's own claims to be writing philosophy and some notice from reviewers and critics that his work was philosophically significant, Timothy W. Crusius is the first to assess his work as philosophy. Crusius traces Burke's commitment and contributions to philosophy prior to 1945 from Counter Statement 1931 through The Philosophy of Literary Form 1941. While Burke might have been a late modernist thinker, Crusius shows that Burke actually starts from a position closely akin to such postmodern figures as Michel Foucault and Richard Rorty. Crusius then examines Burke's work from A Grammar of Motives 1945 up to his last published essays, drawing most heavily on A Rhetoric of Motives. The Rhetoric of Religion and uncollected essays from the 1970s. This part concerns Burke's contributions to human activities always closely associated with rhetoric: hermeneutics, dialectic and praxis. Burke's highly developed notion of our species as the symbol using animal, argues Crusius, draws together the various strands of his later philosophy: his concern with interpretation with dialectic and dialogue with a praxis devoted to awareness and control of the self-deceiving and potentially self-destructive motives inherent in language itself. Watching M*A*S*H, Watching America James H. Wittebols, 2025 The Cinema of Mike Leigh Garry Watson, 2004 A keen observer of British manners and mores, Mike Leigh has been hailed as a celebrator of ordinary people. Comparing and contrasting all his films from Bleak, Moments and High Hopes through Naked, the Oscar-nominated Secrets and Lies and Topsy Turvy to All or Nothing, Garry Watson considers this claim, examining both their influence and their effect. Through careful textual detail and wider social and literary comparison with the works of Charles Dickens and T. S. Eliot, he argues ultimately for the artistic and cultural significance of Leigh's work as one of Britain's most respected film-makers. CliffsNotes on Moliere's Tartuffe, The Misanthrope & The Bourgeois Gentleman Denis M. Calandra, James L. Roberts, 2015-07-21 This CliffsNotes guide includes everything you've come to expect from the trusted experts at CliffsNotes, including analysis of the most widely read literary works.
