The Performance Of Power Theatrical Discourse And Politics:

The Performance of Power Sue-Ellen Case, Janelle G. Reinelt, 1991-05 Recently in the field of theatre studies there has been an increasing amount of debate and dissonance regarding the borders of its territory its methodologies subject matter and scholarly perspectives The nature of this debate could be termed political and in fact concerns the performance of power the struggle over power relations embedded in texts methodologies and the academy itself This striking new collection of nineteen divergent essays represents this performance of power and the way in which the recent convergence of new critical theories with historical studies has politicized the study of the theatre Neither play text performance nor scholarship and teaching can safely reside any longer in the free politically neutral self signifying realm of the aesthetic Politicizing theatrical discourse means that both the hermeneutics and the histories of theatre reveal the role of ideology and power dynamics New strategies and concepts and a vital new phase of awareness appear in these illuminating essays A variety of historical periods from the Renaissance through the Victorian and up to the most contemporary work of the Wooster group illustrate the ways in which contemporary strategies do not require contemporary texts and performances but can combine with historical methods and subjects to produce new theatrical discourse Performance: Media and technology Philip Auslander, 2003

This collection reflects not only the multidisciplinary nature of current thinking about performance but also the complex and contested nature of the concept itself Rowdy Carousals J. Chris Westgate, 2024-07-01 Rowdy Carousals makes important interventions in nineteenth century theatre history with regard to the Bowery Boy a raucous white urban character most famously exemplified by Mose from A Glance at New York in 1848 Theatrical representations of the Bowery Boy emphasized the privileges of whiteness against nonwhite workers including enslaved and free African Americans during the Antebellum Period an articulation of white superiority that continued through the early twentieth century with Jewish Italian and Chinese immigrants The book's examination of working class whiteness on stage in the theatre and in print culture invites theatre historians and critics to check the impulse to downplay or ignore questions about race and ethnicity in discussion of the Bowery Boy J Chris Westgate further explores links between the Bowery Boy's rowdiness in the nineteenth century and the resurgence of white supremacy in the early twenty first century Women Direct Shakespeare in America Nancy Taylor, 2005 This book offers a series of eight case studies of the connection between feminist performance theory and practice considering how women directors of Shakespeare in America have recently interpreted and staged female subjectivity and gender particularly as exhibited in sex relations The work focuses on eight women and choices they made in specific productions Jayme Koszyn's and Lisa Wolpe's Romeo and Juliet Tina Packer's and Ellen O'Brien's Measure for Measure Abigail Adam's and Melia Bensussen's Twelfth Night Barbara Gaines's and JoAnne Akalaitis's Cymbeline Nancy Taylor interviewed all of the directors and the first section of the book includes a brief biography of each institutional opportunities and limitations and the director's views about Shakespeare's depiction of women in general as well as future engaging stage pieces Strange Duets Kim Marra, 2009-05 Autocratic male impresarios increasingly dominated the American stage between 1865 and 1914 Many rose from poor immigrant roots and built their own careers by making huge stars out of undiscovered Anglo identified actresses Reflecting the antics of self made industrial empire builders and independent challenging New Women these theatrical potentates and their proteges gained a level of wealth and celebrity comparable to that of Hollywood stars today In her engaging and provocative Strange Duets Kim Marra spotlights three passionate impresario actress relationships of exceptional duration that encapsulated the social tensions of the day and strongly influenced the theatre of the twentieth century Augustin Daly and Ada Rehan Charles Frohman and Maude Adams and David Belasco and Mrs Leslie Carter reigned over legitimate Broadway theatre the venue of greatest social cachet for the monied classes Unlike impresarios and actresses in vaudeville and burlesque they produced full length spoken drama that involved special rigors of training and rehearsal to sustain a character's emotional truth as well as a high level of physical athleticism and endurance Their efforts compelled fascination at a time when most people believed women's emotions were seated primarily in the reproductive organs and thus were fundamentally embodied and sexual in nature While the impresario ostensibly exercised full control over his leading lady showing fashionable audiences that the exciting but unruly New Woman could be both tamed and enjoyed she acquired a power of her own that could bring him to his knees Kim Marra combines methods of cultural gender and sexuality studies with theatre history to explore the vexed mutual dependency between these status seeking Svengalis and their alternately willing and resistant leading ladies She illuminates how their on and off stage performances highly charged in this Darwinian era with racial as well as gender sexual and class dynamics tapped into the contradictory fantasies and aspirations of their audiences Played out against a backdrop of enormous cultural and institutional transformation the volatile romance of Daly and Rehan closeted homosexuality of Frohman and Adams and carnal expiations of Belasco and Carter produced strange duets indeed Collusions of Fact and Fiction Ilka Saal, 2021-12-15 Collusions of Fact and Fiction traces a generational shift in late twentieth century African American cultural engagements with the history and legacies of transatlantic slavery With a focus on works by playwright Suzan-Lori Parks and visual artist Kara Walker the book explores how in comparison to the first wave of neo slave narratives of the 1970s and 1980s artists of the 1990s and early 2000s tend to approach the past from the vantage point of a liberal entanglement of fact and fiction as well as a highly playful often humorous and sometimes irreverent signifying on entrenched motifs iconographies and historiographies Saal argues that the attempt to reconstruct or recuperate the experience of African Americans under slavery is no longer at stake in the works of artists growing up in the post Civil Rights era Instead they lay bare the discursive dimension of our contemporary understanding of the past and address the continued impact of its various verbal and visual signs upon contemporary identities In this manner Parks and Walker stake out new possibilities for engaging the past and inhabiting the present and future Shakespeare Studies Today E.

Pechter,2011-06-06 The Romantics invented Shakespeare studies and in losing contact with our origins we have not been able to develop an adequate alternative foundation on which to build our work This book asserts that among Shakespeareans at present the level of conviction required to sustain a healthy critical practice is problematically if not dangerously low and the qualities which the Romantics valued in an engagement with Shakespeare are either ignored these days or fundamentally misunderstood London's West End Actresses and the Origins of Celebrity Charity, 1880-1920 Catherine

Emma K. Cole,2020 Ancient tragedy has played a well documented role in contemporary theatre since the mid twentieth century In addition to the often commented upon watershed productions however is a significant but overlooked history involving classical tragedy in experimental and avant garde theatre Postdramatic Tragedies focuses upon such experimental reinventions and analyses receptions of Greek and Roman tragedy that come under the banner of postdramatic theatre a style of performance in which the traditional components of drama such as character and narrative are subordinate to the immediate affective power of more abstract elements such as image and sound The chapters are arranged into three parts each of which explores classical reception within a specific strand of postdramatic theatre text based theatre devised theatre and theatre that transcends the usual boundaries of time and space such as durational and immersive theatre Each offers a semiotic and phenomenological analysis of a particular case study covering both widely known and less studied productions from 1995 to 2015 Together they reveal that postdramatic theatre is related to the classics at its conceptual core and that the study of postdramatic tragedies reveals a great deal about both the evolution of theatre in recent decades and the status of ancient drama in modernity The Routledge Anthology of Renaissance Drama Simon Barker,Hilary Hinds,2003-09-02

Contemporary Feminist Theatres Lizbeth Goodman, 2003-09-02 A much needed analysis of the development of feminist theatre in different cultures and on several continents in the past quarter century Maids and Mistresses, Cousins and Queens Susan Frye, Karen Robertson, 1999 This new collection of sixteen essays considers evidence for the varied forms of women's alliances in early modern England It shows how women prohibited from direct participation in the institutional structures that shaped the lives of men constructed informal connections with other females for purposes of survival advancement and creativity The essays presented here consider a variety of communities formed among groups as diverse as serving women vagrants aristocrats and authors in order to study the historical traces of women s connections Alliance as understood by the essayists in this volume does not preclude competition or antagonism since the bonds among women were frequently determined by an opposition to other women As shown here the theorizing of women s connections and the recovery of the historical evidence for these connections can only add to our understanding of women s activities in early modern English society Maids and Mistresses Cousins and Queens is divided into four sections The first two Alliances in the City and Alliances in the Household examine the circumstances of women s communities in two primary sites for women of this place and time The second two Materializing Communities and Emerging Alliances fully study the aspirations that guided and transformed the courses of women s lives All of these interdisciplinary essays deftly combining literary and historical methods and materials are informed by feminism queer theory and studies of class and race in the early modern period
