The Idiot And Other Stories Fyodor Dostoyevsky,2020-09-28 Towards the end of November during a thaw at nine o clock one morning a train on the Warsaw and Petersburg railway was approaching the latter city at full speed The morning was so damp and misty that it was only with great difficulty that the day succeeded in breaking and it was impossible to distinguish anything more than a few yards away from the carriage windows Some of the passengers by this particular train were returning from abroad but the third class carriages were the best filled chiefly with insignificant persons of various occupations and degrees picked up at the different stations nearer town All of them seemed weary and most of them had sleepy eyes and a shivering expression while their complexions generally appeared to have taken on the colour of the fog outside When day dawned two passengers in one of the third class carriages found themselves opposite each other Both were young fellows both were rather poorly dressed both had remarkable faces and both were evidently anxious to start a conversation If they had but known why at this particular moment they were both remarkable persons they would undoubtedly have wondered at the strange chance which had set them down opposite to one another in a third class carriage of the Warsaw Railway Company One of them was a young fellow of about twenty seven not tall with black curling hair and small grey fiery eyes His nose was broad and flat and he had high cheek bones his thin lips were constantly compressed into an impudent ironical it might almost be called a malicious smile but his forehead was high and well formed and atoned for a good deal of the ugliness of the lower part of his face A special feature of this physiognomy was its death like pallor which gave to the whole man an indescribably emaciated appearance in spite of his hard look and at the same time a sort of passionate and suffering expression which did not harmonize with his impudent sarcastic smile and keen self satisfied bearing He wore a large fur or rather astrachan overcoat which had kept him warm all night while his neighbour had been obliged to bear the full severity of a Russian November night entirely unprepared His wide sleeveless mantle with a large cape to it the sort of cloak one sees upon travellers during the winter months in Switzerland or North Italy was by no means adapted to the long cold journey through Russia from Eydkuhnen to St Petersburg The wearer of this cloak was a young fellow also of about twenty six or twenty seven years of age slightly above the middle height very fair with a thin pointed and very light coloured beard his eyes were large and blue and had an intent look about them yet that heavy expression which some people affirm to be a peculiarity as well as evidence of an epileptic subject His face was decidedly a pleasant one for all that refined but quite colourless except for the circumstance that at this moment it was blue with cold He held a bundle made up of an old faded silk handkerchief that apparently contained all his travelling wardrobe and wore thick shoes and gaiters his whole appearance being very un Russian

The Monkey King & Other Stories Griffin Ondaatje, 1995 Retelling of traditional tales from the East Through Buddhist Hindu and Muslim tales this collection celebrates the centuries old tradition of storytelling Richly imaginative and inspiring stories that speak of animal kings and flying elephants monks thieves and gods

The Pot of Gold, and Other Stories Mary Eleanor Wilkins Freeman, 2019-11-20 In The Pot of Gold and Other Stories Mary Eleanor Wilkins Freeman intricately weaves tales that capture the essence of late 19th century New England life The collection showcases her deft narrative style marked by vivid descriptions an acute psychological insight and a keen ear for dialect Freeman s stories delve into the lives of women navigating their individual desires amidst societal constraints often exposing the tensions between personal aspirations and community expectations The themes of ambition longing and the quest for fulfillment resonate throughout the collection reflecting the period s cultural dialogue on gender and identity Mary Eleanor Wilkins Freeman was a pioneering American author who grew up in a rural Connecticut setting that profoundly influenced her literary voice Her deep understanding of the struggles faced by women during this era is informed by her own experiences as a writer teacher and caretaker Freeman's dedication to portraying the inner lives of her characters and their complex relationships with family and friends stemmed from her commitment to illuminating the often overlooked narratives of women's lives and the harsh realities they faced The Pot of Gold and Other Stories is highly recommended for readers interested in classic American literature that explores gender and societal norms Freeman's evocative storytelling and relatable characters make this collection an essential read for those seeking insight into the female experience in a tumultuous period of American history The Laughing Lion Adelaide Pearson, 1921 Best Work of
